Democratic National Committee Meets to Settle Delegate Contests

SEAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—First runs of the democratic convention were first today when the national committee met to draw up the temporary roll of delegates. Three contests had been called to the committee's attention but only one of them, that involving efforts to seat Senator Reel of Missouri to the delegation from that state, promised more than routine. Only one contest, that from Georgia, has been officially filed with the committee.

Light on Reed Case
The Georgia contest results were expected by party leaders to be settled in favor of delegates friendly to the candidacy of Attorney General Palmer for the nomination, the decision carrying with it confirmation of Clark Howell as national committeeman for that state. There appeared to be no question as to the result in what was described as a "clean case" where statutory provisions in the state and party rule dictated the course of the committee. The Reed case may prove more difficult to deal with. An effort to

REVOLUTIONARY PLOT UNCOVERED

Object the Avowed Purpose of Fomenting Revolt Against Government

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Evidence of the formation of a united communist party by the consolidation of the communist labor party and communist party, with the avowed purpose of fomenting a revolution against the existing government, was received today at the department of justice. Steps are being taken to guard against the spread of the propaganda. A communist publication in the hands of the department announces the formation of the new party at a secret convention attended by delegates from the old organizations.

"The program of the party," the publication says, "declares that the final struggle between the workers and capitalists, between exploited and exploiters, will take the form of civil war and that is the function of the communist party to systematically familiarize the working class with the necessity of armed insurrection as the only means through which the capitalist system can be overthrown."

HAILSTONES 18 INCHES 'ROUND WRECK HOUSES

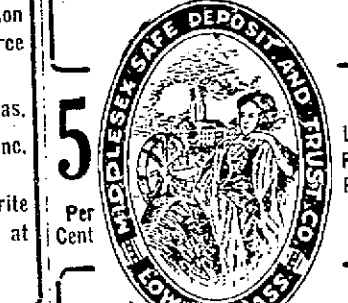

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 25.—Hailstones as large as apples crashed through roofs at Hillsdale, 12 miles from here last night and reduced two farm buildings near there to kindling wood, according to telephone reports early today.

Some of the hailstones were said to have been 18 inches in circumference. Motorists caught in the storm crawled beneath their machines, as the tops afforded no protection, the reports said.

MUNICIPAL BAND CONCERTS

Four band concerts under municipal auspices will be given Sunday, July 4. Mayor Thompson announced today. The Lowell Cadet band will give a concert at the Chalmers street hospital from 6 to 8 p. m.; there will be another concert at the Highland club at the same time, and concerts will be given at the South common from 3 to 5 and 8 to 10 p. m.

PULL

5 Per Cent

Pull is useful in a boat race struggle but is not dependable in the struggle of life. Just plain WORK is what pulled Father and Mother over the top of Success and is what made them what they were. No Pull, just steady and honest Push. Dad turned the wheel's wheel over to Mamma and she managed the rest and managed to get a position into the Bank. That was the kind of Pull that pulled them over and pushed you where it is easy to Push on. They took care of the money and the money took care of them. They never had the opportunities offered today—Their Bank SAVINGS account never earned FIVE PER CENT YEARLY RATE—the rate of interest last paid by the MIDDLE-SEX TRUST CO. Some have some sleep on their money. Some have no money when they wake up. The question is never how much you could have saved, but HOW MUCH ARE YOU SAVING. It is all in one word, that word is

Officer, With Bullet in Arm, With Two Others Routs Yeggs After Battle

TOLEDO, O., June 25.—Five gunmen wounded Webster Stough, 65, a night watchman and bombardier the Fulton county jail at Wauseon, early today in an unsuccessful attempt to liberate Edward O'Neill, alias Malady, awaiting trial for alleged participating in a $21,000 bank robbery at Delta, Ohio, a month ago.

Stough, with a bullet in his arm, Sheriff J. B. McMillan and Deputy Walter Stevens, exchanged 25 shots with the invaders who had forced a kitchen window in the jail. Shots from the gunmen's saved-guns rattled the prison windows. The quartet escaped towards Toledo in a touring car. O'Neill was the only prisoner in the building.

Important Notice to Tax Payers

As the City must pay the State $200 for every poll tax committed to the Collector, it is necessary that the tax be paid without delay.

AFTER JULY 15, EXTRA COSTS MUST BE ADDED

I therefore urge upon poll tax payers the necessity of prompt payment of their bills, not only to save extra costs, but also as a patriotic duty and a mark of appreciation of the sacrifices made for us by our boys in blue and khaki. If you are entitled to exemption of this tax, by law, or if there is an error in assessment, please see the Board of Assessors at once.

Chief Executive Claims Street Railway Broke Faith With City

In Issuing Its South Lowell and Wigginsville Car Service Ultimatum

Storm of Protest at City Hall

The statement of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., through its manager of the Lowell district, Thomas Lees, that it would not operate cars in South Lowell and Wigginsville after July 1, as presented to the home rule committee at its meeting yesterday afternoon, has roused a storm of protest at city hall and Mayor Perry D. Thompson this morning charged the railway company with breaking its faith with the city if it proceeds to carry out such an action.

"You may assure the residents of South Lowell and Wigginsville that they will have some kind of service after July 1 even if I have to put busses out there and operate them myself," said the mayor this morning when the statement of Manager Lees was brought to his attention. "It's about time the street railway company began to show a little co-operation in this Lawrence street bridge matter. The city has done everything that the company has asked relative to the bridge. Last fall Commissioner Murphy spent $2400 to repair the structure at the request of the company. Later their engineer said that the bridge should be reconstructed and in January gave us until July 1 to start the work. We are now

Home of Workers Who Refused to Join in Waterbury Strike Blown Up By Bomb

ACTION WILL HALT R. R. STRIKE

R. R. Union Heads Confident Move for Early Wage Award Will End Trouble

Striking Yardmen Return to Work at Washington—Freight Moves

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Representatives of the railroad unions expressed belief today that the promise of early action by the railway wage board on wage demands would tend to squelch further strike disturbances. With the return to work at midnight of nearly all striking yardmen at the Potomac yard here, railroad officials announced that they would be able to handle freight without delay. The walk-out, they said, had caused congestion at the gateway and the re-routing of cars through other points.

At the same time, the Interstate Commerce commission is watching the strike in the eastern railway centers, being particularly concerned as to the effect of the walkouts in its recent efforts to relieve freight congestion and to move coal to eastern points.

CIRCUS TRAINS DELAYED

By Breaking of Draw Bars on Way to Lowell—Parade Curtailed

A long jump of nearly 75 miles from Fall River to Lowell and two broken draw bars on the cars in one of the train sections, were given as reasons why Ringling Brothers & Barnum & Bailey's circus was late in reaching this city this morning. For several hours a large crowd waited in the streets for the arrival of the parade, while at the show grounds everything was in a state of turmoil and confusion.

The different sections of the train left Fall River last night very nearly on schedule time. They were routed to run by way of Taunton, Mansfield and Framingham to Lowell. On this route are at least three important junction points at which much switching is done and at which the freight jam has complicated the problem of handling trains.

The earlier section of the train carrying the menagerie, the mess train and part of the other equipment of the show were all held up for varying lengths of time at these points, and arrived in Lowell several hours late.

When about half way to Lowell a draw bar on one of the cars broke and there was a long wait until repairs could be made. Scarcely had the train started again when another draw bar went out of commission and there was another long period of delay.

It was the last section of the train that carried all of the performers, their parade clothes, band players and their instruments, and the elephants and camels and their trappings.

This train reached Lowell about 11:30 a. m. about three hours late. There was a great scurrying about on

WAR VETERANS' PAY HELD UP

As Result of Action on Part of Civil Service Commission

Others Illegally Employed Include Vice President of Laborers' Union

Two employees of the street department of this city, both veterans of the world war, were unable to draw their weekly pay envelope today for services performed last week as a result of action on the part of the civil service commission in ordering their wages stopped.

The two men are Anthony Burns and John O'Keefe. Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy was notified several weeks ago to discharge some four employees owing to the fact that they had not been properly certified by the civil service commission. Among the four were Burns and O'Keefe. These men had been seriously injured in the war and Commissioner Murphy stated at the time that he would not discharge them.

Accordingly, the commission followed its usual course of procedure of having their pay stopped. City Auditor J. Joseph Hennessy was notified not to approve the warrant for the payment of their wages and City Treasurer Fred H. Rourke, not to pay the money. As a result, the two men drew no money from the city coffers today, the regular pay day for city employees.

Commissioner Murphy says that the men will not suffer for money as he intends to see the case through. If the men are discharged they will be entitled to whatever back pay is due them and they will then be placed at the bottom of the list of men eligible for street department work.

Mr. Murphy received notice this morning that nine other street or sewer department men were illegally employed and among them is Daniel Moynihan, vice president of the Municipal Employees' union. The illegality in each instance is brought about by Commissioner Murphy's action in putting the men to work when they were not properly certified.

FIRST HONORS FOR YALE

Freshman and Junior Crews Defeat Harvard in Races This Morning

REGATTA COURSE, New London, Conn., June 25.—Yale captured first honors in the annual regatta with Harvard over the historic Thames river course this morning by winning the two mile freshman race by one length. Yale also took the second race, the Junior varsity eight-oared crew defeating Harvard by 1 1/2 lengths.

The Freshman race was started at 10:35 o'clock. Both crews caught the water clean at a high stroke. Harvard jumped quickly in the lead and gradually forged ahead of the Yale youngsters. After three-quarters of a mile the Yale shell gained and was on nearly even terms approaching the mile flag.

The Eli crew came from behind and caught the Crimson shell soon after the mile mark. In the last half mile Yale hit up a terrific stroke and passed Harvard. The official time was Yale 10:13 2/5; Harvard 10:06.

The Junior varsity eight crews were in the stake boats at 11:30 for the second race of the day over the same course rowed by the first year crews. The crews got away at 11:31. Harvard caught the water first and soon shot into the lead.

Approaching the mile flag Harvard was leading by about half a length.

7 PERSONS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Bomb, Hurlled Through Window Under Sleeping Room, Wrecks House

Five Men, Woman and Infant Thrown From Beds But Escape Injury

WATERBURY, Conn., June 25.—Five workers who had persistently refused to join the local strike and a woman and a small baby narrowly escaped death at 2:30 this morning when a bomb was hurled through a cellar window under one of the sleeping rooms in the dwelling at 23 1/2 Railroad Hill street, blowing out the windows in the house and demolishing one side of the structure.

Third Bomb Explosion

This was the third bomb explosion during the labor trouble and the effects were more startling than those which preceded it. No physical harm was done to anyone. The missile was hurled through a rear cellar window of the house in which live Albani Bibas, his wife and 13-months-old daughter and four of his fellow employees as boarders. All five men refused to stop work in the Benedict Burnham branch of the American Brass Co., and while, according to Bibas, they knew they had the ill-will of acquaintances who are strikers, they had not been directly threatened.

The bomb exploded with terrific force and noise. It rocked every house in the neighborhood. Its force tore out the side of the 2 1/2 story wooden structure, ripped up the floors, tore out the windows and demolished a corner of the roof. Over the cellar window was the chamber of Bibas and on the second floor the four boarders were asleep. Although everything in the room was topsy-turvy and the sleepers were almost thrown to the floor, not one had a bruise. The men returned to work at the usual hour.

MANY PERMITS FOR SALE OF FIREWORKS

It will be a noisy Fourth of July in Lowell this year or, more accurately, July 5, judging from the number of permits that have been issued to date for the sale of fireworks by the local fire department. Up to noon today 150 permits had been granted, or 12 more than the total number issued last year. The record for any one year is 165. The permits entitle the holders to sell fireworks from June 10 to July 10 of the year in which they are issued.

The following excerpts from the state laws and regulations governing fireworks and firecrackers, as issued this year by the division of fire prevention of the department of public safety, are of timely interest:

Section 7. Every person desiring to use a building for the manufacture of fireworks or firecrackers must make application to the city or town marshal or board of aldermen or officials having similar duties and powers, or if in a town, to the board of selectmen, for a license therefor, and to the state fire marshal for a permit.

Section 8. No person shall store, sell or transport fireworks or firecrackers.

New York state has supplied more than one-third of all vice presidents of the United States.

ALLAN RYAN TO CARRY EXPULSION TO COURTS

NEW YORK, June 25.—Expelled Wednesday from the New York stock exchange, Allan A. Ryan, principal figure in the alleged Stutz motor corner last March, last night announced he would carry his case to the courts and "stand or fall on the case as the public has it."

There was a flurry of excitement at the opening of the exchange yesterday when the governing committee, which Wednesday ended its investigation into the alleged corner, announced from the floor a verdict of expulsion for "conduct inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade."

At first Mr. Ryan was silent. Then he issued a brief statement announcing in French that "we shall see what we shall see."

Later he prepared a long newspaper advertisement containing this significant paragraph:

"For such of the injustice worked upon me as is remediable in the courts, I intend in due season to seek appropriate redress. But the blot upon the dignity of the great institution of the New York stock exchange, beginning with their first activity in the Stutz matter has grown to such proportions that it is now indelible."

This statement was interpreted on the street as a confirmation of reports that Mr. Ryan, who has denounced the exchange investigation as a "star chamber proceeding," would bring $10,000,000 suits against the exchange and some of its officers.

FOR CONVENTION OF LABOR PARTY

CHICAGO, Ill., June 25.—The program of the convention of the labor party of the United States, to be held in Chicago, July 11 to 13, is announced by Secretary Frank J. Espar.

The first day, Sunday, will be given over to hearing addresses from various organizations. These include the Friends of Freedom for India, the Proportional Representation League, and the American Friends of Irish Freedom. Governor Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota is scheduled to speak in behalf of the Non-Partisan League. It is regarded by Secretary Espar as very probable that the labor party of Canada will be represented by fraternal delegates.

The Non-Partisan League will be represented by fraternal delegates but will not participate otherwise in the convention. Max S. Hayes of Cleveland, chairman of the national labor party, will preside.

Nominations for president and vice president are scheduled for Tuesday if the convention is then ready to act. Platform is also to be adopted then.

The kilowatt hour is urged, rather than gold, as an absolute standard of value.

HOSPITAL DOCTORS PROTEST RULING

Physicians comprising the staffs of the three local hospitals held a meeting of protest in the Aldermanic chamber at city hall early last evening against the recent ruling of the industrial accident board whereby all accident cases coming under the supervision of the board shall be treated free by the doctors at the various hospitals. The new rule was effective June 1.

It was voted to send a letter of protest against this ruling to the accident board and to ask for a hearing on the matter. It was claimed that, though the rule was effective June 1, the local physicians received no notification until last week. They further allege that the rule was drafted by a committee not representative of hospital staffs throughout the state and that at present hospital physicians, in this city at least, are called upon to give much of their hospital service in a spirit of charity. The action of the local physicians is reflective of action being taken all over the state, it was said.

TO APPEAL DECISION ON COMMUNISTS

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The department of labor will appeal from the recent decision of Federal Judge Anderson of Boston, holding the Communist party to be a lawful organization and releasing 17 of its members held for deportation, Assistant Secretary Post announced yesterday after a conference with Secretary Wilson.

Pending final determination of the question by the courts the labor department, Mr. Post said, would consider Judge Anderson's decision as binding only in that particular jurisdiction and would proceed with all deportation cases outside that district.

"There are now under orders of deportation in that district 60 aliens, principally Russians, of whom only 17 are actually covered by the decision," said Mr. Post. "The balance will be paroled where their cases involve nothing more than membership in the Communist party. Where other personal activities have operated to bring aliens within other classes of the act no parol will be granted, it being the understanding of the department that Judge Anderson's decision covers membership only."

CARPET BAGGING SYSTEM REVIVED

BUCHAREST, June 25.—That the carpet bagging system known to the south after the Civil war has been applied by the Rumanians in their new provinces of Bessarabia, Bukovina and Transylvania, is the burden of complaints that the minority population of these provinces are sending to the allied governments. It is charged that these provinces have been loaded up with dishonest civilian officials, who work in connection with the armies of occupation to bulldoze and terrorize the local inhabitants. It is even charged that the wealthier landowners are being arrested in the hope that they will desert their lands and sell their homes far under the real value.

According to Dr. Nicholas Lupu, recently minister of the interior, the army of occupation in these provinces should long since have been removed. "After four years of war, soldiers respect the rights of nobody," he said.

In Bessarabia, where the army is kept as a protection against the Bolsheviks, the charges of mal-administration have been many. It is stated that here the army has also prevented the just operation of the law providing for the division of the land.

The gravest charges come from Transylvania and the Hungarian frontier, where the nationality bitterness has long been deep. On these members of the Hungarian nobility who have persisted in remaining on their estates are quartered a half dozen soldiers or policemen, who practically hold them prisoners. While they are able to operate their estates, they are not permitted to receive visitors or mail except by permission of these soldiers. Many instances are cited where the head of the house has been arrested and so harassed that he had to leave his home in the possession of his wife and daughter, much after the manner of the Russian and Polish landholders during the early stages of Bolshevism.

There are many cases cited where thoroughbred horses have been stolen and later entered into the races in the different cities of Rumania.

There have been numerous reports that the Transylvanians hope to find a way out of their difficulties by converting themselves into a small republic, if later circumstances permit, or else of again joining themselves to the Hungarians.

It is charged that the land is being taken from the rightful owners and divided up among the Rumanian carpet baggers, who in turn sell it to the Rumanian peasants of the country.

GERMAN JAILS FILLED

Wave of Criminality Shows
No Sign of Abating—
Many Robberies

BERLIN, June 23.—The wave of criminality in Germany shows no sign of abating. Jails are filled to capacity with the thieves, from those guilty of grand larceny down to the sneak thieves of the big city streets. Very often new arrivals have to be temporarily released from custody owing to lack of room in the penitentiaries. Here are some of the principal thefts and robberies reported in the last few days:

Burglars broke into the Berlin stock exchange and forced a safe open from which they took 2500 marks and five typewriters.

At Krossen, the mausoleum of Field Marshal Von Moltke was broken open and the silver wreaths and crosses stolen from the sarcophagus. The field marshal's sword was found broken.

A band of armed robbers forced their way into the burgomaster's house at Pappen near Naumburg, appropriated 50,000 marks belonging to the village treasury and left the burgomaster tied to a chair.

At Fallersleben near Brunswick the author of a theft from a sealed freight car was traced and several carloads of stolen goods were discovered hidden. The thief was a candidate for a town councilorship.

At Spandau, a mortuary chapel was stripped of its loaded window panes. Another mortuary chapel at Staaken was stripped of its zinc roof.

THE REHABILITATION OF CIVILIANS

An informative article on the "Rehabilitation of Civilians Handicapped," appears in the current issue of the Catholic Charities Review from the pen of May E. P. Lowmyer of Lowell, assistant director of the vocational training division of the Massachusetts Industrial Accident Board. The writer reviews at length the legislative steps already taken for the training and instruction of persons whose capacity to earn a living has in any way been destroyed or impaired through industrial accident and how rehabilitation work for service men has helped to crystallize public opinion in favor of a more widespread consideration of the work. The theory underlying the work, she says, is that "somewhere in the industrial sphere there is some useful work that some individual can do, even though laboring under the pressure of a physical handicap." She then continues in part as follows:

From the nature of the work the physical handicap first attracts attention. Other obvious factors to enter into the consideration of any individual case are age, education and nationality. The average age of all those referred to the Massachusetts Vocational Training division was about 41 years. Nearly one-half or 42 per cent. were non-English speaking and the great majority were lacking in educational background. About 47 per cent. were either illiterate or had not been beyond the sixth grade, which is the minimum limit in the state for the granting of work certificates. 22 per cent. had finished grammar school and only 8 per cent. had had any high school work. A few more had been to trade, commercial or evening schools.

The problem, therefore, is largely one of replacing in industry handicapped men who have had little educational development, many of them unfamiliar with our language, who have passed the formative period of life, have assumed family obligations, have no surplus funds, have acquired a definite status in industry and who find themselves unable to give highest efficiency in their previous occupations. It presents angles quite different from those presented by children still in school or by the ex-service men most of whom are between the ages of 20 and 30 years, have had more educational advantages, have fewer responsibilities, no definite industrial slant and who are still plastic.

Other considerations that have their effect are the inclinations and interests of the man, his financial status, his attitude toward replacement in industry, that of the labor unions and of the prospective employer, the family and community resources, the hours and nature of the work and the physical condition and layout of the plant in relation to the man.

The degree to which these pertinent forces can be co-ordinated determines the particular occupation for which the man can be fitted and in which he can be placed to function with normal efficiency. Generalities will not suffice. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that each case must be considered individually. No general law can be laid down for grouping the handicapped and dealing with each group as a class.

"Co-operation is the keynote of success," therefore the attitude of the handicapped person himself is of prime importance. It is more than likely, especially if the injury is one of long standing, that the man's muscles are flabby from disuse, his mental powers are sluggish, he has developed habits of idleness, has a strong conviction in which he is encouraged by pitying relatives and friends, that he is unable to do anything useful and is quite averse to accepting suggestions. Much can be done toward overcoming this pessimistic spirit if approach is made tactfully with sympathetic understanding, common sense and faith in human nature.

Because the man is slow to exhibit a co-operative spirit or enthusiastic desire to make good should not interfere with efforts in his behalf. Many failures on the part of the handicapped have been due to lack of understanding of their problems and the acceptance of the idea that they had outlived their usefulness, which resulted in a general prejudice against them and their relegation to the human scrap heap.

The necessary psychological adjustment should be begun early in the history of the handicap, at the bedside, if possible, and the man encouraged to cultivate an optimistic and persevering attitude and to aid in every way in his own rehabilitation. Efficiency, through effort, should be stressed throughout the activities of the case and the individual made to feel that effort on his part is necessarily the corner stone upon which success may be built.

From the early stages the benefits of mechanical, physio and occupational therapy should be applied looking forward to the best possible functional recovery for occupational adjustment. Naturally this should be done under the direction of a competent medical man familiar with the physical requirements demanded by industry and who should eventually examine the man with a view to making an appraisal of functions.

With such a background, the vocational officer in co-operation with the medical advisor, should then confer with the man and carefully assist him in choosing a suitable occupation. It may be that he can be fitted into the selected work without further testing or training and can be placed directly on the job.

On the other hand, the circumstances, may require that before the correct occupation can be selected and placement made, additional, continued study of the individual's mental, physical and vocational possibilities should be made.

EXPECT GOOD CROPS
IN NORTH DAKOTA

MINOT, N. D., June 23.—For the first time in five years, according to reports received here by bankers. Heavy rains of the past few weeks have given good impetus to growing grains and crops are in excellent condition, the reports say.

Corn acreage in the northwestern part of the state, bankers estimate, has been increased 35 to 40 percent over past seasons while a large percentage of flax also has been sown.

The labor situation in North Dakota farms has improved greatly and in the opinion of United States employment officials here there will be no lack of labor in the harvest fields. Many inquiries have been received from persons in the east who wish to work on North Dakota farms during the harvest. The usual number of college students are expected to be in the fields; many inquiries have already been received from them. Wages, being paid by the farmers now are unusually high.

Canada's wheat surplus this year is estimated at 150,000,000 bushels.

AN EXILE FOR 7 YEARS

Terrazas' Son to Return to
coup Family Fortune

EL PASO, Tex., June 23.—After an exile of seven years, Alberto Terrazas, son of Gen. Luis Terrazas, once one of Chihuahua's wealthiest men, is preparing to return to Mexico and attempt to recoup the Terrazas ranches in an effort to recoup the family fortune.

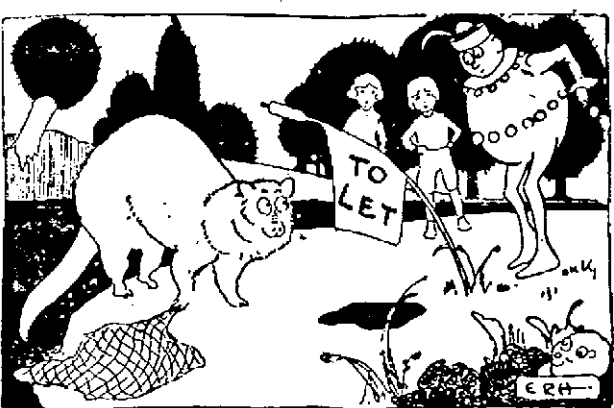

At a conference here Senor Terrazas was assured by an official of the new regime that the family would be given every protection by the de facto government if they desired to gain possession of extensive lands from which they were driven by revolutionists in 1913. It is said that the Terrazas lands in Chihuahua cover millions of acres, and thousands of cattle were confiscated or stolen from them during the early days of the revolution.

ADVENTURES
by Olive Roberts Barton.

Marty Mink Returns
Well sir! Phil Frog had just finished telling Mr. Tingaling about Marty Mink's bad luck, the twins, too, and how Marty had got so greedy he had dived into the fish-net and got behind him, which proved to be the very fish-net Phil Frog had told them about.

"BY THE GREAT HORN SPOON!" EXCLAIMED MARTY, "WHAT'S ALL THIS?"

caught, when there was a scraping sound way off along the bank, and who should come into view but Marty Mink himself, dragging something along came Marty, and the thing

When Marty got near enough, he saw the "To Let" sign on his front door. "By the Great Horn Spoon!" exclaimed he, "what's all this? Who says my house is for rent, and where's my family? Mr. Tingaling, I suppose you've put them out because I owe you three months' rent, and then put up this sign. Did you?"

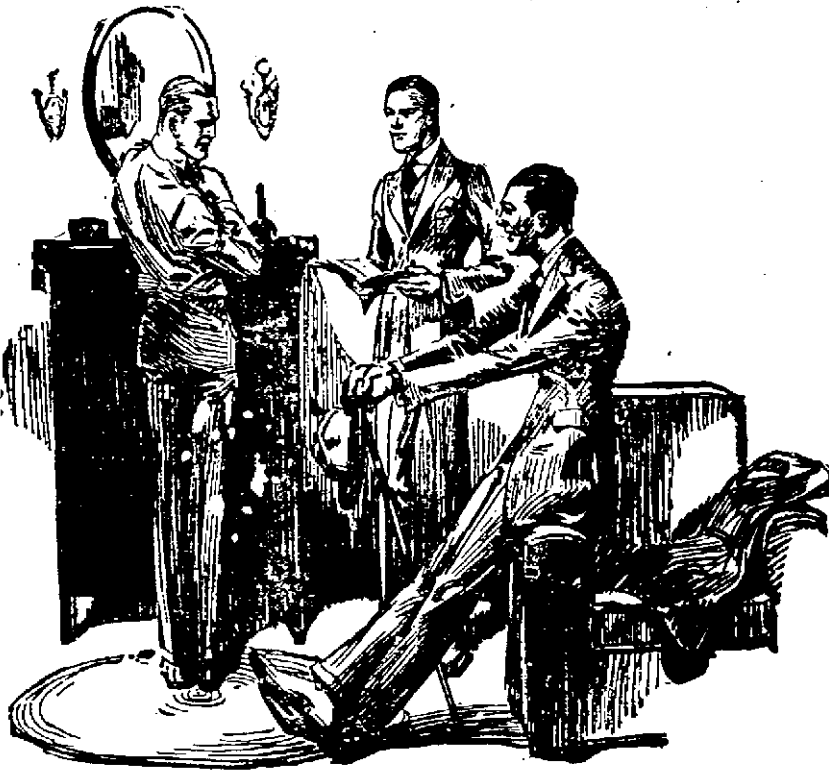

Of course Tingaling said he didn't and that, in fact, he and his friends had just arrived and that Philip Frog was responsible for it, but Marty didn't believe him.

"The very ideal!" he scolded. "Don't you know that I make my living by fishing and that the ice only melted a few weeks ago, so I could set out my nets?"

It was Tingaling's turn to be surprised. "But your coat," he exclaimed. "Everyone says you're rich because you wear such an expensive coat." "Him!" exclaimed Marty in contempt. "Much good that does me when it won't come off! I can't sell it unless I sell myself along with it and I'd rather be poor."

Well, Tingaling was sorry for Marty, so he told the twins to help him to hunt up his family, while he went to tie a belt onto Phil Frog for nabbing into other people's business. And taking down the "To Let" sign off Marty's front door, the fairy landlord told his tenant to send him a check for his rent whenever he was good and ready.

GERMANY STILL DREAMS OF WAR AND POWER

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager N.E.A.

COLOGNE, June 25.—Although their war fleet lies at the bottom of the ocean, their air fleet has been dispersed and their once mighty army no longer exists, Germans still dream of "next wars."

I bought a pamphlet, on sale here and at Coblenz. It was by Otto Auentrich and it bore the pleasing title: "The three coming wars."

The author is no plucker. He visions nothing less than three world wars. In the beginning he contemptuously says France realizes she could not stand alone against an armed Germany. Therefore she insists upon terms that will keep Germany in the mire.

Turning his attention to England, he says she has brought down her nearest great rival, Germany, but is now confronted by two other great rivals—Japan and America.

England has lost in the war; her influence in the east; the safety of India; her overwhelming sea power by the growth of Japanese and American fleets; her mercantile might by the growth of the trade of the same two countries, and her financial independence by her debt to America.

He figures that England, with the aid of her allies, will tackle Japan first. With Japan using China and Russia, it will be a titanic contest in which Japan will finally meet the fate Germany had. Then England will turn upon America and a new world war will be fought in which America will win because she has within herself all the human and material resources. Out of this war Germany will win complete freedom from the onerous burdens of the peace treaty. The end of the

A Short Visit With a Lasting Memory

"I never know what to make for dessert when the maid's away," said Mrs. Martin as she glanced at the clock, and put aside her sewing.

"Let me get it for you," said Mrs. Blair who was visiting her for a few days. "I'd love to do it."

Dinner time came, and Mrs. Blair, who had insisted on making the dessert with utmost secrecy, left the table and returned with a rich, brown chocolate blanc mange.

"Tastes even better than it looks," said Mrs. Martin, delightedly. "How did you make it?"

"Why, it's Pudding," replied Mrs. Blair mysteriously. "wonderful Pudding."

"I insist upon knowing all about it. Where did you get it, and what is it?" laughed her friend.

"Till tell you. I slipped out and got it at your grocer's," said Mrs. Blair. "Jack Jones cornstarch pudding and if there was one thing I couldn't make, it was cornstarch pudding or blanc mange. Then I heard of Pudding."

"Is it hard to make or expensive?" interrupted Mrs. Martin.

"Oh, no, indeed. All you have to do is to add milk, either fresh or condensed, and sugar, and boil for three minutes. Then when it's cool you have a firm, rich mound of delicious creamy dessert. A 15c box of Pudding will serve 15 people, or a 10c box seven people."

"The only thing is," objected Mrs. Martin, "the children are not so fond of chocolate, and I guess it's really too rich for them, anyhow."

"Oh, no," exclaimed Mrs. Blair. "It isn't too rich. Why, it's so pure and wholesome you can let them have as much as they want—and it comes in any number of flavors—rose, vanilla, orange, lemon—and you can make all sorts of things with Pudding—Creamy cake and pie fillings, and smooth ice cream."

"That being the case," smiled Mr. Martin, who had listened to their conversation with interest, "I vote for Pudding. It certainly is good."

war will find America mistress of the seas and Germany once more equipped with a great army.

There will be no clash between America and Germany because the American fleet will have no German fleet to fight and the German army could not possibly get at an American army.

The third world war will be the yellow race against the white, and Germany will be the rock against which the yellow races will dash in vain. The author bids Germans avoid Bolshevism, says hard work, good order and patience are the things Germany needs most.

CAR SERVICE CURTAILED

Wigginville and So. Lowell

Beyond Bridge

After repeated warnings, dating back well over a year, the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. will discontinue service over the Lawrence street bridge spanning the Concord river on July 1 and thus will cut off a large part of the South Lowell and Wigginville districts from car service.

The reason for this action is the belief that the bridge in question is unsafe for car traffic. The city authorities are just beginning to take action toward the reconstruction of the bridge, but should the work start at once, it would be well into the fall before it would be completed.

Facing a deficit of $75,000 for the first five months of 1920, the company does not feel that it can afford to pay out the extra expense that would result from having temporary service while the bridge is being reconstructed.

Through a letter from Manager Thomas Lees of the Lowell district, the street railway home rule committee yesterday afternoon became aware of the situation. The committee felt that it could do nothing except to place the communication on file.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 4:30 with Mr. Sullivan presiding in the absence of Chairman O'Rourke.

Secretary Curtin read a letter from Manager Lees, stating that he would be unable to be present.

In his letter Manager Lees made mention of the fact that the company is on record as having notified the city officials that it would not assume the responsibility of operating cars over the Lawrence street bridge after July 1.

The city is preparing to build a new concrete bridge and is now advertising for bids. The city engineer advised Mr. Lees that the work will probably take four or five months. To furnish service to South Lowell and Wigginville during this period would cost the company $10 a day for wages alone. In view of a deficit of about $75,000 during the first five months of 1920, the company did not feel that it could bear this expense.

Mr. Curtin said that Supt. Leavitt had told him that the cost of maintaining service in South Lowell while the bridge was being constructed would be very great.

A delegation from the South Lowell Improvement association was to have appeared before the committee to discuss the matter, but it failed to put in an appearance.

It was suggested that jitneys be used in that section where the company would cease to operate during the period of construction.

It was voted to have Mr. Lees' communication placed on file.

A letter from H. F. Rich, assistant general manager of the company, to Manager Lees stated that it would not be feasible to increase the service on the Concord street line at the present time as suggested by the committee.

Mr. Richard moved that for the next two months the committee meet only on the second Thursday of each month, instead of twice a month as has been the custom up to the present time. It was so voted.

Adjourned at 4:45 until the second Thursday of July.

ADJUDGES DR. KEOWN OF LYNN INSANE

SAY-EM, June 25.—Dr. James A. Keown, president of the Lynn Biological society, has been adjudged insane by Superintendent John B. MacDonald of Danvers Insane asylum, according to a statement made by S. Howard Donnell, district attorney of Essex county.

This decision from the head of the hospital adds another move in one of the most interesting commitment cases in the court annals of Essex county, and several more decisions will have to be rendered before Dr. Keown can be permanently committed to the hospital for the insane.

Next Monday in the federal court at Boston, a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, filed a short time after the Lynn doctor-lawyer had been sent to the institution for observation, will be heard. Dr. Keown will be brought from Danvers to support his claims.

A hearing to decide final commitment of Dr. Keown, scheduled to be held in the Essex county superior court, was postponed indefinitely this afternoon on account of the proximity of the federal court case.

Outlines Proposed Program of American Zionists in Palestine

LONDON, June 25.—Public ownership of land, a co-operative commonwealth, and equal rights for all, were advocated here yesterday as the three leading principles in the social program American Zionists desire incorporated in the project for a Jewish Homeland in Palestine, by Jacob de Haas, executive secretary of the Zionist Organization of America.

Mr. deHaas arrived in London yesterday with United States Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis, honorary president of the Zionist Organization of America; Judge Julian W. Mack, president; Nathan Straus, Mrs. Mary Fels, Professor Felix Frankfurter, Capt. Abraham Tulin, David Rosenbloom and Louis Lipsky, organization secretary. These are the advance guard of the 32 delegates of American Zionists to the World Zionist conference, convening in London July 4.

American Zionists will make a united effort to have the Pittsburgh program, which they adopted in 1915 as the guiding social principles for the Jewish Homeland, approved by the world conference, in the program it will formulate for the policy to be carried out in Palestine. Mr. deHaas in the statement he gave out on the eve of what is considered the most significant Jewish world conference ever held, stressed the progressive tenets of the Pittsburgh program, declaring:

"The Zionists are not going to be satisfied with a Palestine or land of Israel, which will be a mere duplicate of the numerous small states of Europe or South America. They believe that the 2,000 years of suffering and martyrdom of the wandering Jew has given to our race a wealth of experience which, added to the ancient heritage of the Jew, can be made fruitful in the creation of a model settlement in the land of our forefathers."

"The Pittsburgh platform may be summarized as follows: (1) Public Ownership of Land; (2) The Co-operative Commonwealth; (3) Equal Rights. The first is expressed in the phrase that the land of Palestine shall be owned or controlled for the benefit of the people of Palestine as a whole. The Zionists of America have resolved that the benefits which come through increasing land values will not go into the pockets of land speculators, but will always remain 'community values' which will go into the public treasury. "The second principle indicates that the Zionists of America are resolved to encourage co-operative enterprise to the largest extent possible, so that a co-operative commonwealth may be gradually evolved, without, however, crushing individual initiative. There is no simple formula by which the co-operative commonwealth can be achieved—it must be a development through struggle and experimentation. In any event, we have set the goal: "The third principle is one with which all Americans are familiar—at least in theory, though we may fall short in actual practice. Whereas, we confine our program of 'equal rights' to the narrow field of politics, the Zionists of America would apply it to all of Palestine life—to politics and economics, to law and industry, to man and woman, to every sect and every creed."

"DEAD MAN'S CLUB" FOR EX-SOLDIERS

AKRON, O., June 25.—A dead man's club, composed exclusively of ex-service men now living but listed officially as killed in action overseas, is the latest kind of fraternal organization suggested by William Wirt of this city.

Wirt is having a hard time trying to convince the government that he isn't dead and buried in France. His name now is being chiselled from the

How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-Face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Wirt estimates there are nearly 2000 ex-service men now living, whom the war department records show were killed and buried overseas. He also declared that court records show about 700 men declared officially dead who are still alive. He suggests they organize a "Dead Man's Club" and adopt the slogan, "We may be dead but we won't lie down."

BEAUTIFUL LAWN THAT IS NOT A LAWN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 25.—A lawn that is not a lawn, but looks like a lawn and is said by its owner to be better than a lawn—a waterless, mow-erless, weedless, gopherless lawn.—In short, a cement "lawn," painted grass-green, has made its appearance in front of a Los Angeles bungalow.

Mrs. A. C. Woodward, inventor and owner, says it saves time, money and worry. She never has to water it; she never has to cut it; it is always dry enough to sit on—and it needs painting only once a year.

She has circular holes cut through the lawn and in them and along the edges she has flowers planted.

"I invented the cement lawn," she said, "because of trouble I had in getting a man to take care of my old grass lawn. It cost only $65.

"You don't know what a blessing it is," she continued. "Do you know, I believe there would be much less unhappiness in married life if the husband would use a cement instead of a grass lawn and so avoid having to come home after work and run an old lawn-mower over the front yard every night."

WOMEN ARE URGED TO WEAR OLD CLOTHES TO THE CONVENTION

clubs, is urged by Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, president of the federation.

"War-time thrift must prevail if we are to help right conditions. There is no need for a denim or gingham dress rage which would simply make it harder for the women who really need such things. Make over what you have. Come to the convention with a story of thrift that will thrill other women into doing likewise," said Mrs. Cowles' appeal.

No senator holding office was ever elected to the presidency.

RED PILLS

Will give Strength and Health to Suffering Women

For years my life had been made very miserable by my excessive weakness, palpitations, heart trouble and nervousness. I was in reality a very sick woman, could not digest my food properly and besides could never enjoy a good night's rest. I took different kinds of medicine which did not seem to do me any good at all. Then I tried the RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women and was soon delighted with the results obtained, as they made me strong, purified my blood and restored my good health. —Mrs. Edward Burel, 479 Moody Street, Lowell, Mass.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women make blood, and offer great relief to women who are anaemic. They tone up the general system, strengthen the constitution, rouse the appetite and in fact restore good health to women who are suffering.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are invaluable to every woman, as they not only relieve, but also prevent, the periodical pains, headaches and backaches, nervousness, fainting spells, etc., to which young girls, young women and women are exposed.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are prepared especially for women's particular ailments, and a woman may take them at all times, as they will not in any way disturb her in her daily occupations.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes, $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price.—Franco American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston.

From week to week I was getting so listless and tired, that I had no appetite and my sleep was disturbed by the different pains and ailments which were bothering me. RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, which I took regularly for several months, gave me very gratifying results. I gained several pounds in flesh, got stronger and in fact soon enjoyed the best of health. Mrs. Hormidas Papineau, 63 Sylvain St., Central Falls, R.I.

"THE ARMS ARE INDISPENSABLE TO CHARM."

THE ARMS AND THE MAN

Feminine Charm Than the Face.

BY CLARA MOORES

NEW YORK, June 25.—Most American women give too much attention to their faces and too little to the rest of their bodies. They pull and pat and powder every pore of their faces until sometimes I wonder there are any features left. Too much facial massage, with overdoses of cold creams and skin foods, is more harmful than none at all. With the present craze for cosmetics, you see the average woman's face

"She has arms that would lure a Caesar to her heart."
So said the French artist Boudouin of Miss Clara Moores, the young stage beauty who is playing the leading role in Col. Henry Savage's Cape Cod comedy success, "Shavings."

In this summer of short sleeves, when the arms are exposed as much as the face, women are interested in lovely arms. Miss Moores is probably the greatest living authority on the care of the arms and has written three articles on arms, telling how she keeps hers so attractive. (The first article by Clara Moores appears today.)

through a veil of cold cream, face enamel, rouge and powder.

From Cleopatra's day to our own the arm has been a more subtle factor in feminine favor than the face has ever been. Where is the man who has not yielded to the pressure of a woman's arms about his neck? The arms are indispensable to charm and this year when short sleeves are imperative the wise woman will take half the time she usually devotes to beautifying the face and spend it in beautifying her arms.

Cleansing Process

If nature has blessed you with arms that are neither too thin nor too plump, be grateful and let them alone. This is a cleansing process. The best in this is a cleansing cream. A good cleansing cream should be applied at night from shoulder to finger tips, rubbed in well and the arm washed in hot water and pure soap. Then all traces of soap should be washed off and finished with a cold arm plunge. In the morning no cold cream need be used—simply water. After the bath the arms can be lightly powdered with talcum or refined fluffier earth.

cultivable land, more than 82 per cent. is given over to the growing of cereals, the largest per cent. of any country in the world except Russia, Serbia and the South African Union. Wheat is the largest crop. More than half the annual yield is exported. When it is understood that 85 per cent. of Rumania's population is supported by agriculture and that the present crops promise to be the greatest in history, the reason for the country's prosperity and well-being become apparent.

QUAKES EVERY DAY

PAPEETE, Tahiti, June 25.—Earthquakes which have shaken the islands of Tahiti, Moorea and Mehetia without more than a week or two intervals since the autumn of 1918, still continue and have increased in frequency and strength. Of late there have been on an average of two or three a day, usually in the early hours before dawn.

A recent unconfirmed report affirms that the island of Tubuai, about 400 miles to the south of Tahiti, is also shaking. This, it is held, would tend to confirm the theory that the source of the disturbance is a sub-marine outbreak somewhere to the south and west, in that part of the Pacific where surface indications would never be seen.

Surplus war materials and stocks of the American army have been sold for $28,223,236.

HEAVY DAMAGE
BY GRASSHOPPERS

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 25.—Acres upon acres in some West Texas counties are being eaten bare by a new plague of grasshoppers that flocked down in May from the middle west like clouds, according to reports reaching Fort Worth.

The invasion has become so serious that concerted action to meet it is being taken by agricultural agents. Fields of wheat, they said, have been devastated in many parts of the Panhandle. Cattle ranges, according to official reports to headquarters of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association at Fort Worth, have been denuded. At the offices of the Texas Farmers' union here, it was stated that the plague may result in total destruction of plant life in some localities.

Remedies are being sent by state authorities into the infested districts and are being distributed by county agents. One of these is to scatter poisoned bran in the path of the grasshoppers, preferably early in the morning or late in the afternoon. The effect of the poison is cumulative, since the grasshoppers feed upon the dead ones and die quickly.

OPEN SEASON ON RUFFED GROUSE

One Month of Partridge Shooting Announced by State Authorities.

Wild Duck Season Opens Sept. 16—Pheasant Season Same as Partridge

Hare and Rabbit Season Limited—Deer Season First Week in December

The sportsmen of Lowell and vicinity will welcome the glad tidings found in a recent announcement of the division of fisheries and game of the state department of conservation to the effect that from October 25th to November 25th next they will be allowed to hunt ruffed grouse or partridge.

ridge was the first in the history of Massachusetts and while the division officials believed that the close season should be continued another year to allow the large number of birds now in our covers to further increase it was finally decided to have an open season after considering the reports of the large numbers that survived the severe winter with the assistance of the Boy Scouts, members of the local Fish and Game association, and other interested persons who gave of their time and efforts to feed them during the severe weather and also because of the fact that they bred in large numbers this spring.

Nothing short of a catastrophe can prevent goodly numbers of this "king of all game birds" from being ready and waiting next fall to match their wits against the wily hunters when the battle starts. The bag limit on partridge is three in one day or 15 in one season.

Although the first open season of real interest to local gunners will be the wild duck season which will open on September 16th, the upland bird season not starting until October 25th, yet many look forward with eager anticipation for the official announcement from the fish and game officials so as to plan their vacations at a time when they can hit the trail of carefree recreation.

The Pheasant Season

The open season on pheasants will be the same as for partridge that is, from October 25th to November 25th, inclusive, with a bag limit of two in one day or six in one season with a further restriction of reporting each killing in writing to the division of fisheries and game at the state house within 24 hours under penalty for failure to do so. The division of fisheries and game is making a special effort this year to produce large numbers of these highly desirable game birds at their game farms and northern Middlesex county will undoubtedly receive a large number for stocking the pheasant preserve. As a game bird the pheasant is considered second only to the partridge but if there is an ardent pheasant hunter around it would not do to emphasize second too strongly for one is apt to start a strenuous argument to the contrary.

Last year Middlesex lead all the counties of the state in the number of pheasants reported killed, there being $55 reported killed in this county while the entire state produced only 2500, over one-third being killed hereabouts.

The woodcock season will be from October 20th to November 20th and these being a migratory bird it is difficult to surmise the number that are likely to be available during the open season as the weather is an important factor in the time of their flight.

Middlesex county is closed to quail shooting until 1921.

The squirrel season will be the same as for upland game with a limit of five in one day or 15 in one season.

The hare and rabbit season this year has been limited from October 20th to January 31st with a bag limit of five rabbits and two Canada hares, or two snow shoe rabbits.

In one day. This is a new departure from previous years when the month of February was open season on rabbits but then the rabbit hunter cannot kick as he still has a longer season for his sport than any other hunter with the possible exception of the fox hunter. The use or possession of ferrets is strictly prohibited.

The first week in December will be open season on deer, only one being allowed to a hunter in a season and they cannot be hunted with dogs or rifles. A written report of each deer killed must be made to the division of fisheries and game at the state house within 24 hours. Thirteen were killed in Middlesex county last year.

Four-Bearing Animals

Although Lowell and vicinity is not ordinarily thought of as producing many furs yet there are many who net a good livelihood from hunting these animals since the enormous demand for their shining pelts has sent the prices skyward in keeping with the times, as well as the many that hunt them for sport.

For the first time in the history of this commonwealth we have a closed season provided for these animals. After August 10th it will be unlawful to hunt, pursue, take or kill or have in possession, muskrats, minks, otters, skunks or raccoons, except during the open season which will be from October 1st to March 1st, both inclusive, with the exception that raccoons can be hunted during October and muskrats can be hunted during April.

As a matter of fact this movement was started last year when a law was passed placing a close season on raccoons. Only 25 raccoons can be taken by a hunter or trapper in one season.

The placing of a close season on four-bearing animals is but another epoch in the necessary conservation of our wild life. The first fish and game law was written in the code of Plymouth colony in 1521 which provided that all fishing and hunting should be free to all inhabitants of the colony but even at that early day they saw the necessity of limiting certain forms of hunting and fishing for their benefit in the covenant that the general court could make regulations in this connection.

With steady increase in the population of Massachusetts from that little band of Pilgrims to the splendid commonwealth of today and with the forward trend of civilization into hill and dale, forest and stream, it was as inevitable as the waning of the moon that restraints should be placed on hunting and fishing if a portion of the natural supply of wild creatures was to be preserved for posterity, so consequently each succeeding general court has placed additional restrictions on hunting privileges until today we find a law on our statute books protecting the last remaining useful wild creatures who formerly had to shift for themselves during the 12 months of the year, namely the four-bearing animals who roam the woods and dwell in the banks of our streams.

Fox Is Unprotected

The fox alone of our valuable wild life now remains unprotected by law but everyone who ever took a hand in bagging one knows that nature has provided him with a cunningness that is not easily outwitted.

This year, traps must bear the name of the owner and must not be set on the improved or posted land of another without his written consent and also must not be set in a roadway or pathway. Traps must not have more than a six-inch spread of jaws without teeth and must be visited once in 24 hours. Traps illegally set can be confiscated by wardens of the state department of conservation and the owners prosecuted. Traps must not be set within 10 feet of a muskrat house and the muskrat houses must not be disturbed or destroyed.

Hunting Licenses

Persons should not forget that a hunting or fishing license is necessary before they can lawfully hunt, pursue, take or kill any bird or quadruped or take a gun into the woods or fish in stocked waters. These can be obtained at the office of Stephen Flynn, city clerk, city hall.

Boys under 15 cannot have a license to hunt and licenses are issued only at the discretion of the city clerk to boys between 15 and 18.

Unnaturalized foreign born residents who do not own real estate in this state which is taxed for at least $500 are not eligible for a hunting license and cannot have firearms in possession.

Game Laws Ready Soon

Authentic and detailed copies of the fish and game laws of 1920, will be available after July 15th either at the city clerk's office or by applying to the division of fisheries and game, state house, Boston, and well in advance of the opening dates persons who are contemplating hunting this fall should secure a copy and make a careful study of them as there are heavy penalties for violations of the fish and game laws together with the automatic loss of your hunting and fishing license for one year and few violators escape the eagle eye of the state wardens who are patrolling the state at all times of the year and who enforce the law impartially on those who will not play the game squarely according to the rules laid down.

Persons should not strive to bag the last bird in the covers as the real sportsman gets his pleasure in match-

Cocconut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing. As this can't possibly injure the hair, simply wash your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will give an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and will leave the hair and scalp thoroughly clean. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it soft and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

ing his wits against the wild creatures, even if he gets but one bird and he is sure of getting more of the health and happiness that lurks in the woods and hills than the fellow who goes out with the sole idea of getting his limit on every species.

Then again we should realize the economic value of the birds to our agricultural interests and keep in mind that if our birds should by chance be exterminated our food supply and forests would be seriously endangered.

Lowell is fortunate in having a fish and game association representing all walks of life, men of the live wire type who are deeply interested in the conservation of our natural resources and there is no better way of showing your appreciation of the sport provided to you today or your desire to maintain it together with a high standard of sportsmanship than by inscribing your name on its roster.

GREAT AUDITORIUM

Description of 'Mammoth' Structure Where Democratic Convention Will be Held

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—When the democratic national convention meets here June 25 it will have available for the first time accommodations in the Exposition Memorial Auditorium, a building sufficient to house under one roof not only the convention proper, but committee meetings and headquarters for candidates as well.

These are largely to be utilized, according to J. Bruce Kremer, of Buffalo, N. Y., vice chairman of the national committee, thus avoiding the inconvenience and delay usually attendant upon holding minor conferences away from the convention hall.

In addition to the main auditorium, the maximum capacity of which Mr. Kremer estimated at 12,500 persons, the building contains two auxiliary halls, one that will seat 800 persons and the other 750. There are 15 rooms that may be used for smaller meetings.

A fence around the entire building, with entrance gates for ticket-holding operators, delegates, officials and news writers, will be used by police and convention authorities to prevent crowds from rushing doorkeepers to obtain admittance. This has occurred several times during national party conventions.

The auditorium for three weeks past has been a scene of noisy activity. Platform, 50 by 10 feet and 15 feet high, on the south side of the big hall just in front of the great organ and opposite the main entrance. Several feet lower and extending along the greater part of that side of the auditorium is the press section with seats for 516 working news writers. Back of the speakers' platform is sound-proof rooms are telephone booths and fully equipped accommodations for press associations and newspaper men.

The central portion of the main floor is reserved for the 1922 delegates and a like number of alternates. Around this space a solid railing has been erected to keep back spectators that are admitted to this floor. To all these newcomers a platform one foot high has been built over the entire space they will occupy. The balcony, sweeping around three sides of the auditorium, will seat 4450 persons.

Covering the dome is a canopy weighing 16 tons that forms a false ceiling. This and draperies on the walls and in the corners are designed to improve the acoustics.

The auditorium will be equipped with all modern electrical devices, including sound-carrying wires and a telephone system that will enable the chairman to transmit orders from the platform to the sergeant-at-arms and other officials and these in turn to speak to their deputies in any part of the great hall.

A complete hospital under the direction of the Red Cross and a large restaurant and lunch room have been installed.

Despite the fact that the $2,000,000 four-story granite and concrete structure was erected only five years ago, the interior has been entirely renovated and repainted. Flags are to be used in the decorations, which with a secret decorative effect to be presented opening day, are described as "typical Californian."

Weather records running back to 1871 indicate cool "top coat" weather for the convention period. Overcoats and hats of spectators and participants may be checked free of charge in permanent stations scattered throughout the building.

The auditorium stands in the open city center that offers much space for parking automobiles. One corner touches Market street, the city's principal thoroughfare, which has two surface street car lines running in each direction, and it is 11 blocks from the Palace hotel where national committee headquarters are located.

The San Francisco committee that pledged $125,000 to bring the convention here is headed by Charles W. Fay, postmaster; George L. Mara, of Bridgeport, Conn., representing Homer S. Cummings, of Stamford, Conn., chairman of the democratic national committee, has been here for nearly six months overseeing arrangements for the convention.

Cummings is to be temporary chairman of the convention. He will be presented by Kremer, vice chairman of the national committee.

E. G. Hoffman of Fort Wayne, Ind., secretary of the committee will act in a similar capacity for the convention, being assisted by W. R. Hollister, of Jefferson City, Mo., executive secretary of the committee. Col. John L. Martin of St. Louis is honorary sergeant-at-arms and J. J. Hughes, of Oklahoma City, Okla., is active sergeant-at-arms.

Wilbur W. Marsh, of Waterloo, Iowa, is treasurer of the national committee and W. D. Jamison of Washington, D. C., is director of finance.

The press section will be in charge of James D. Preston, superintendent of the United States senate press gallery, assisted by William B. Donaldson, superintendent of the house of representatives press gallery.

HARVARD AND TECH JOIN

Movement to Dispel or Allay Undergraduate Bogy of Final Examinations

CAMBRIDGE, June 25.—The faculties of Harvard university and Massachusetts Institute of Technology have taken action to dispel or to allay the undergraduate bogy of final examinations.

The tests which the students of the institute have undergone this month may be the last of the kind at "Tech." A committee of faculty members, alumni and undergraduates have been appointed to investigate methods of testing the college man's knowledge and proficiency in studies other than by the customary examination. This step followed unsuccessful attempts to have the students accept the honor system.

At Harvard there has been no consideration of the proposal to do away with examinations, but there has been action to ease the mental strain which they put on the students. The soothing charms attributed to music, and its power to stimulate sluggish minds to active thought, have been called upon as first aid to undergraduates beset with troublesome tests.

Under the direction of Prof. A. T. Davison, university choirmaster, musical recitals of ten minutes each have been given daily in Appleton chapel during the examination season. They have been held in the morning, just before the first of the day's examinations was to begin. The programs consisted of light classical selections, and proved popular alike among men who had sat up all night with their books and hollow-eyed and nervous, sought rest and calm; and among others who, after a night of sleep, sought from the music a mental stimulus for the tests which lay ahead.

Ten per cent. of the farm employees of Kansas, who joined the army, have returned to the farms.

CIVIL WAR HAS BEEN QUELLED

Troops Restore Order, at Least Temporarily, in Londonderry—Death List 21

Snipers Busy—Searchlight From Warship Used to Locate Men

LONDONDERRY, June 24.—Civil war has been quelled, at least temporarily in this city, by the activities of British troops rushed here from Belfast. Last night and today the troops drove the warring elements out of the streets. At midnight machine gun fire was heard in various parts of the town, but later only isolated shots were heard. The total deaths since the trouble started last Friday now stand at 21, two persons having died today. They were Patrick Shillit and a youth named Peter Campbell.

Fighting between the warring factions since midnight was confined to sniping, the rival elements evidently fearing to attempt massed activities in view of the increased military forces. The soldiers, in trying to ferret out snipers, took over St. Columbkille's college. The trees in the campus had sheltered a number of snipers.

Snipers Busy
LONDON, June 25.—Snipers were busy in Londonderry during the past night, according to a Central News despatch from that city. Troops on guard there fired on disorderly elements several times and also dispersed looters. At about midnight the firing became so intense that the searchlight on the destroyer anchored in the harbor was turned on the city in an endeavor to locate the men engaged in the fighting. A former soldier named Austin was killed while crossing a street.

Outrages Against Sinn Feiners
BANTRY, County Cork, Ireland, June 25.—An apparently concerted series of outrages against Sinn Feiners here last night resulted in one death and the burning of several homes and shops. Cornelius Crowley, 26 years old, was shot dead in bed by a group of masked men who later set fire to the shop and dwelling of a local merchant. Both Crowley and the merchant in question were reputed to be prominent in Sinn Fein circles. Three other houses were broken into and threats of shooting were made against the occupants. One of these houses was destroyed and the two others were damaged by fire. An attempt was made to burn stores on the quay, where the employees are all Sinn Feiners. The residence of the recently elected chairman of the guardians of the Sinn Fein also was destroyed by fire.

Population Statistics—Leominster, Attleboro, and Methuen Show Gains

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Fall River, Mass., has a population of 120,485, the census bureau announced today.

This is a ten year gain of 1199 or 1.6 per cent. Other figures announced were: Leominster, Mass., 15,745; increase, 2165, or 12.3 per cent. Attleboro, Mass., 19,731, increase 3,515, 22.7 per cent. Methuen, Mass., 15,180; increase 3741 or 32.7 per cent. Cumberland, R. I., 10,077; decrease 50, or 0.3 per cent. Danvers, Pa., 13,121; increase 1957 or 7.9 per cent. Vincennes, Ind., 17,210; increase, 2515 or 15.5 per cent. Reading, Pa., 107,781, increase 11,713 or 12.3 per cent. Grand Rapids, Mich., 137,634, increase 25,063 or 22.3 per cent.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. John J. Poole and Miss Frances V. Roberts were married Wednesday at St. Peter's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. D. J. Jefferson. The bride wore a blue suit with white picture hat and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Jennie Kelly, who was attired in a blue suit with hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. James Conley. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a white sapphire ring, while the groom's favor to the best man was a pair of gold cuff links. At the close of the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride, 243 Thornhill street, where a reception was held in the evening.

Godin-Raymond
The marriage of Mr. Louis Godin and Mrs. Elmina Raymond took place June 21 at Notre Dame de Lourdes church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Leon Langhe, O.M.I., pastor. The couple will make their home in this city.

Would Ignore Prohibition

place the senator on the floor of the convention although the Missouri state convention rejected him as a delegate-at-large, was expected, and because of his attitude toward the administration during senate battles over the peace treaty it was said to be possible that strong resistance would be met before the committee. The third reason Oregon was not regarded as a serious case and might not, it was said, materialize at all. In fact, national committee officials did not know before they assembled to examine credentials what appearance was to be made in any of the contests. Overnight developments showed two matters that have been in a nebulous state to be approaching more definite shape.

Room For McAdoo

These were the mysterious and persistent rumors for nomination of William G. McAdoo, even against his flat declaration that he was not a candidate and the conflict as to a prohibition enforcement plank in the platform. McAdoo advocates were said early today to be shaping their plans to withhold his name from the balloting throughout the early stages. They have learned that the former secretary of the treasury still has a strong following, but feel that in view of his attitude, it would not be expedient to present his name until the deadlock between the leading candidates, Palmer and Cox, should develop. In that event there appeared to be little doubt that McAdoo would be put forward to break the blockade with the assurance of considerable strength at the start. His friends are said to have put their heads together to formulate plans of this nature and map out strategy of the subsequent campaign to obtain for him two-thirds majority on which democratic nominations must rest.

Would Ignore Prohibition
On the prohibition enforcement question heretofore the most prominent subject of discussion in convention circles, there developed the story of a movement to ignore the question entirely in the platform. Suggestions of this nature came to Chairman Cummings of the national committee from camps representing various shades of opinion ranging from those dry to almost completely wet. These feelers toward a harmony program were not clear enough today among workers for various presidential candidates. The first of the large delegations will arrive within the next two days and preparations for missionary work among the members were in progress. Various combinations for the ticket were being talked over with a view to arranging to secure for this or that aspirant votes to be brought to his standard through a pre-arranged agreement as to the vice presidency. Some of these tentative tickets appeared, however, to have more strength than the speculation of campaigning managers.

Gerard for Irish Freedom

James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany and mentioned as a candidate for the presidential nomination, arrived here last night. Mr. Gerard said he favored a declaration in the platform to the effect that before the United States becomes a member of the League of Nations, it requests other members to release any nation under their domination that is capable of self government. Mr. Gerard said it would not be necessary to name such nations but it would have the effect of giving freedom to Ireland.

DEMANDS OF TURKEY

Refuses to Give Up Smyrna District, Adrianople or Eastern Thrace

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The Turkish peace delegation in Paris has been instructed from Constantinople that the Turkish government will uncompromisingly refuse to sign any peace treaty which deprives Turkey of the Smyrna district, Adrianople, or Eastern Thrace. In the main, it is indicated the government agrees to the other territorial limitations fixed by the entente.

The Mayor is Indignant

calling for bids which will be opened next Monday afternoon, the city engineer has done all the necessary preliminary work such as surveying, drawing plans, etc., and we are about to award the contract. The desires of the railway company have been met in every respect by the city. The company is to have all the work done without a cent of expense. Their tracks will be re-laid and the road put in better condition than it has been in the past.

"Not only in this matter but in various other requests which the company has made in the past few years the city has co-operated to the fullest extent. We have driven the jitneys from the city at the request of the company. Its own officials have openly stated that no other city in its system has given more co-operation than Lowell. And now when it comes to a matter of a few dollars' extra expense, we find that there isn't a bit of co-operation coming from the other side."

"I did not have the slightest intimation that the company intended to stop its South Lowell and Wigginville service after July 1 until I read of it."

today. I did not know that the statement had been made that no cars would be run over the Lawrence street bridge after July 1, but never in the world did I dream that the high-handed step of discontinuing service in a large residential district would be taken."

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, under whose direction the bridge is to be re-constructed does not feel much better about the matter than the mayor. He, too, says that the city has followed out the railway company's wishes in every respect. He will write to the public service commission immediately asking that the company be required to give some kind of service during the reconstruction work on the bridge.

City Engineer Stephen Kearney says that Manager Lees spoke to him a few days ago relative to having temporary tracks across the bridge while it was being rebuilt and that a conference was to have been held on the matter at a later date. At that time there was no intimation that the company intended to discontinue service, Mr. Kearney said.

There is no reason, in the opinion of the city engineer, why cars cannot be run across the bridge. It is not unsafe for the light type of car that is customarily used on the lines in question.

George F. Wells, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, who was recently appointed a member of the home rule committee, held a conference with the mayor and Messrs. Murphy and Kearney this morning and assured them that the chamber of commerce would assist in any way possible to provide service for the South Lowell and Wigginville people.

FIVE DAYS A WEEK

The Lawrence Mfg. Co., which a few weeks ago discharged several hundred of its employees, is now operating on a five-day-a-week schedule. The operations are paid off on Friday and the plant closes Friday evenings. This is due, it is said, to the scarcity of orders and this schedule will be maintained until further notice.

DISTRIBUTION OF VICTORY MEDALS

In regard to the distribution of victory medals, Sergt. A. C. MacLeod of the local army recruiting station stated today that all details are in charge of an officer and corps of field clerks at the army base, South Boston, and that all service or ex-service men must make application for the medals there.

The blanks to be filled out are being distributed at that base and men may secure them either in person or by written application to the Boston recruiting office, 3 Tremont row.

These applications must be filled out with a typewriter, and together with the discharge papers must be sworn to before a civil officer and returned to the recruiting office to be forwarded to the supply depot at Philadelphia.

The medals and clasps and the papers forwarded will then be sent directly to the applicant from Philadelphia.

The distribution of victory medals for navy men will not be made through the local office, but through Boston headquarters. Whether men will have to make application through Chief Crepan of the Lowell recruiting office is not yet known. Further instructions are expected from the bureau of navigation soon.

MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSES REVOKED

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 25.—Joseph Saleski and Frank N. Hardy of Lowell have been notified that their licenses to operate motor vehicles in this state have been revoked by the registrar of motor vehicles, as a result of their convictions in the Lowell court, June 17, on charges of operating motor vehicles in such a manner that the lives and safety of the public might be endangered.

Saleski has had a chauffeur's license, while Hardy has had an operator's license.

Should take either one or the other precautionary measure above set forth to protect itself.

"The above advice covers the situation where the county commissioners have made no entry and done no construction work.

"In an opinion rendered to your department on January 6, 1920, it was set forth that it had been the practice in the past that when it was desired to relocate a state highway the relocation was made in the first instance by the county commissioners and then taken over as a state highway; this procedure having been employed in order to place the land and grade damages upon the county, city or town primarily benefited. The commonwealth will be doubly protected if the actual entry and some construction work is done in the first instance by the county, city or town and then have the commonwealth take over the relocation and secure a stipulation or indemnification from the county, city or town, as the case may be."

SUCCEEDS IN FORMING GERMAN CABINET

COPENHAGEN, June 25.—Konstantin Fehrenbach, German chancellor, succeeded in forming a cabinet of representatives of the centrist, democratic and German peoples party, last night, according to a Berlin dispatch to the National Tidende. Those accepting portfolios in the new government include, Carl Heinze, minister of justice and vice chancellor, Finance, Dr. Wirth; Interior, Herr Koch; defense, Herr Gessler; transport, General Groener; commerce Herr Scholl; postmaster general, Johann Giesberts; labor, Herr Von Braun.

Heinze, Wirth, Koch, Gessler and Giesberts were members of the Fehrenbach cabinet formed on June 21 and which resigned immediately after its formation when the majority socialists refused to support it.

EXPERT CABINET

Poland's New Government Non-Political

WARSAW, June 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Poland's new government, the ministers of which were announced today, is known as an official expert cabinet and is headed by Ludwik Gzowski, former minister of finance and a member of one of Poland's best known and wealthiest families. Announcement is made that the cabinet is non-political in character and will be directed by resolutions accepted by the diet.

General Joseph Lesniowski, continues as minister of war and five other members of various departments relating to interior affairs continue as chiefs. The socialists, who for months have insisted upon peace and upon being recognized in a new government, have already announced their lack of confidence in the new cabinet, while the national workingmen's party is also opposing the ministry. The cabinet crisis lasted 15 days, several leaders, including former Premier

Court Rules Boy "Not Toughest Kid in Hell's Kitchen"

NEW YORK, June 25.—A Supreme court jury decided yesterday that William McCue was not "the toughest kid in Hell's Kitchen," and awarded him $3500 damages against the Russell Sage foundation and publishers of a book entitled "Boyhood and Lawlessness," in which his picture appeared over this caption.

In asking $20,000 damages, the boy's complaint set forth that in 1914 a photographer appeared in the Hell's Kitchen district where he lived and took his picture on the ground that he wanted "Boy Scout pictures."

McCue, who is now of age, said he was an altarboy in St. Ambrose's church at the time and has never been arrested or charged with delinquency in any form.

DISTINGUISHED JURISTS

Elihu Root Among 12 Noted Men to Plan Court of International Justice

THE HAGUE, June 25.—The twelve distinguished international jurists, among them Elihu Root, of the United States, invited by the executive council of the League of Nations to plan the organization of the new permanent court of international justice, constitute an impressive array of the world's most competent authorities on questions of international legislation. Those who accepted the invitation gathered here in mid June to undertake the task. Those invited were:

Baron Descamps, Belgian minister of state, professor of international law at Louvain university; member of the permanent court of arbitration of the Hague; and secretary-general, formerly president, of the institute of international law and writer on international questions.

M. Drago, formerly foreign minister of the Argentine republic. While holding that office he sent to the Argentine minister in Washington instructions known as the Drago doctrine (1902). He was formerly judge in Argentina; one of the arbitrators nominated by agreement between Great Britain and the United States in the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration. The Hague (1910); one of the Argentine delegates to the second peace conference at The Hague and member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague.

Professor Fadda, professor of Roman law at Naples university.

M. Fromageot, legal adviser to the French foreign minister; member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague, and delegate to the second Hague peace conference.

M. Gram, formerly a judge on the mixed tribunals in Egypt; former member of the supreme court of Norway; minister of state at Stockholm before the severance of the union between Norway and Sweden; member of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague and member of the institute of international law.

Doctor Loder, member of the Cour de Cassation of the Netherlands.

Lord Phillimore, English privy councillor; a lord justice of appeal (1913-1916); president of the international law association (1905-1908); author of publications on ecclesiastical and international law and "Three Centuries of Treaties of Peace and Their Teaching" (1917); president of committee of inquiry appointed by the British government on the subject of the League of Nations.

Elihu Root, former secretary of state, United States; president of the American Society of International Law; member of the permanent court of arbitration of the Hague, senior counsel for the United States in the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration at The Hague (1910); member of the Alaskan boundary tribunal and head of special United States mission to Russia (1917).

M. Vesnitch, ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes at Paris.

Satsuo Akiduki, formerly Japanese ambassador to Vienna, and one of the legal advisers of Japanese peace delegation in Paris.

Rafael Altamira, professor of law in Madrid university; senator.

MEXICO'S RAILWAY SYSTEM WRECKED

MEXICO CITY, June 25.—Twisted rails, decayed cross-ties and worn-out rolling stock—products of a decade of revolution—millitate against the efficiency of Mexico's railroads. No greater problem of reconstruction faces the country than the rehabilitation of her railway lines.

The average speed of a Mexican passenger train is 30 miles an hour. From Juarez to Mexico, a distance of 1233 miles, one has to travel 45 hours, running time, exclusive of lengthy stops at Chihuahua City and Torreon. The shorter trip to Mexico City from Nuevo Laredo, opposite Laredo, Tex., requires ten hours less.

LOCAL ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION LAW

The Lowell police department is giving its full co-operation to federal officers in their enforcement of the prohibition law in this city, despite allegations to the contrary. Supt. Welch maintained today in a statement made to the press that the department is not attempting to carry out the regulations of the Volstead act.

Supt. Welch says that there is no law compelling police departments of various cities and towns to enforce federal regulations, such is the duty of federal officers. Nevertheless, the members of the local department have given great assistance to the federal officers merely in a spirit of co-operation and courtesy.

"Our officers," said the superintendent, "have been very successful in their individual work and in company with the federal officers, but they have done so simply through courtesy."

The superintendent in this connection quotes the decision given recently by Attorney General Armstrong of Baltimore, Maryland.

"Since the recent decision of the supreme court the Volstead act is now effective and may be enforced in the several states, but the duty of the enforcement rests exclusively with the officials in the act itself and the policemen and all other state officials are under no compulsion to render aid thereon."

BUBONIC PLAGUE IN LA PAMPA JAIL

The annual examination for persons desiring to obtain third grade cer-tificates, entitling the bearer to teach in the elementary schools of this city, will be held tomorrow at the high school in Kirk street under the di-rection of the school department. The examination will begin at 9 o'clock. Supt. Hugh J. Molloy has received more than 50 applications from young women wishing to take the examina-tion.

ELIOT UNION CHURCH SCHOOL PICNIC

About 200 people took part in the Eliot Union church school picnic at the residence of Herbert Horne at Cor-bett's pond in Windham yesterday. Two large trucks left the church at 9 o'clock in the morning and thoroughly enjoyed the ride to the pond. Swim-ming and boating were indulged in by the boys all day and in the afternoon a baseball game was played between the married and single men. At noon everyone sat down to a basket lunch and lemonade was served by a com-mittee under the direction of Mrs. A. D. Horgan, Edwin Shaw, superintendent of the Sabbath school, was in general charge, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Olney, and Rev. William B. Tutill, new pas-tor of the church, who found it his first opportunity to take part in an informal gathering of the members of his parish. The church was reached on the return trip about 7 o'clock in the evening.

AMERICAN SHOT DEAD

of Austro-South Slav Plebiscite Region

KLAGENFURT, Austria, June 25.—Along the center of the beautiful valley in which this old capital of Carinthia lies, runs the demarcation line separating zone A and zone B of the Austro-South Slav plebiscite region. Its population of some 125,000 are still waiting to know to what government they shall belong, whether they are to be part of Austria or subjects of the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes.

The treaty of St. Germain provides that within three months of the final ratification of peace the ballot shall be held and it is believed here that the plebiscite will take place in August.

Meanwhile, Jugo-Slav troops, who moved north last May, hold the south side of the demarcation line between the two zones as tightly as a wartime frontier. They stand guard with rifle shot Klagenfurt and in only exceptional cases can the line be passed by the inhabitants of the valley.

Several persons have been killed by Serb guards. One was the naturalized American citizen, Ernest Jaklitsch, of Jackson, Kans., shot dead, the Austrians claim, without challenge while passing the frontier. The Jugo-Slav authorities say he was a notorious smuggler.

Fifteen-year-old Betty Fide, shot by a South Slav guard while crossing the little stream that indicates the frontier, was buried with great ceremony by the city of Klagenfurt.

Citizens of the villages and towns along the zone have petitioned the Vienna government to seek relief through the avenue from the alleged oppression of the Jugo-Slav soldiery and authorities. The following is an extract from a letter addressed to the correspondent of The Associated Press, reciting the killings mentioned and certain other specific attacks on citizens:

"From the vicinity of Lavamund and Ruden are recently reported numerous cases of violation of girls and women by Serb soldiers. The peaceful population of voting district A is constantly exposed to all kinds of vexations. Crimes of every description are committed daily and those who live near the frontier are risking their lives every hour."

It is difficult even by the personal investigation just concluded to establish the truth of the charges freely made by the Austrian authorities, but that the inhabitants of the zones are having a rough time of it is easily apparent. The Jugo-Slav occupation of the whole zone A on the south, with the rigidly closed frontier works great hardship.

Passing east and west through the fertile basin of Klagenfurt, and bisecting laterally Lake Wörther on whose eastern tip the city lies, it cuts farms in two, often separating farm houses from its fields, leaving others with their woodland on the other side, and as the Jugo-Slav authorities grant permits to pass only in certain cases, much hardship has resulted.

Farmers with stock on the other side have been compelled to kill or sacrifice, and in several instances the correspondent was shown piled firewood across the line, sometimes but a few hundred yards from the house, which the owner was not permitted to bring home.

No food can cross to the north. It is all diverted to Laibach and other Slav cities. Thus while milk from cows that pasture within sight of Klagenfurt goes to Laibach, the American relief is feeding the city's children with milk shipped from America. They have just been requested to try and feed an additional thousand.

The Jugo-Slav authorities in this region deny that permits are refused to land owners or others who have legitimate business to cross the line. They admit the complete embargo on food, but claim they exclude only political agitators and propagandists. They meet the Austrian charges with counter-charges of the same character and point to the fact that through the intervention of the entente mission here, composed of British, French and Italians, all but about 1200 of the refugees who fled north when the Jugo-Slav troops moved in have been permitted to return to their homes. Also they allege that among them are hundreds of agitators and electioneers well supplied with money, who are abusing their privilege in proselyting the population against the impending vote. Then, too, they charge that the Austrian officials refuse passage to persons of Slav sympathy. They do not, however, accuse the Austrian guards of killing.

Austrian figures place the population of zone A, the southern region, at 23,000 Germans and 50,000 Slovenes and zone B at 49,000 Germans and 5000 Slovenes. The Jugo-Slavs do not admit this, claiming that the Austrians list as German everyone who speaks the tongue, while the population is largely bilingual.

Neutral observers point out that if the southern zone votes Jugo-Slav, Klagenfurt will be forced to do likewise for economic reasons. Should it remain Austrian with a political frontier drawn across the edge of the city, cutting it off from the agricultural and village population that means its life, it would perish.

One of the Jugo-Slav arguments, however, is that their boundary must be thrown north of the Krasnawerke mountains for military reasons. They say that this great natural fort would protect the regions to the south, must be the back line to their front in event of a war with German countries.

chasers during the war will be inaugurated on the Gulf of Mexico, where "Hurricane-chasers," small crafts of the sub-chaser type, will patrol during storm periods and transmit by wireless to the weather bureau stations particulars of storms and hurricanes encountered, according to A. H. Scott, local observer, who recently returned from a conference at Washington with the chief of the weather bureau, C. M. Marvin.

Instead of fleeing from the storm, Mr. Scott said, the little vessels will risk destruction by either riding before them or hovering on the outskirts in order that they may obtain the fullest information in the land stations of the weather bureau.

At present, Mr. Scott declared, warnings of approaching storms are wireless landward to weather bureau stations by passing liners and freighters, but often these reports are incomplete because vessels sending them are making all haste to get away from the storm area.

With the chasers patrolling the gulf storm areas, he said, more accurate and full information of hurricanes headed northward will be available. The new service is expected to reduce losses of coastwise shipping and lowland property considerably, by giving warnings of approaching menaces from the sea.

BRIDAL SUPERSTITIONS
IN FOLK-LORE

Many superstitions have been woven around the bride.

A bride should never mark her linen with the initials of her fiancé, folk-lore says, or she will never have occasion to use it.

Satin Gown Brings Luck

A young woman should never let her future husband see her in anything of her wedding trousseau until the day set for the ceremony, as it portends bad luck. Nor should she make her own wedding dress, if she desires good luck to attend her. It is said to be unlucky to begin making the wedding dress before the wedding day is set. A wedding dress of velvet signifies poverty, while one of satin brings good luck. If a wedding dress is held in the hand for five minutes and a wish made, it will come true.

Groom's Tie Significant

If the bridegroom's tie is askew, his heart is in another place and with another girl. A raveling on his suit shows that another woman clings to him with her heart.

Folk-lore says that if the first flower a bride sees on her wedding day is white she will lead a happy life, if red, she will know sorrows and care.

To Forget Bouquet

If the bride leaves her bouquet in the church and turns back to get it, it signifies an unhappy wedded life. To wear flowers in the hair without a veil will cause the bride to regret her wedding day.

To find a flower from the bride's bouquet signifies an early marriage. Whoever puts on a bridal veil or wreath for play, will never marry.

123rd BIRTHDAY

Cherokee Bill Veteran of War of 1812 Celebrates

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., June 25.—Cherokee Bill, veteran of the plains and soldier in the war of 1812, has just celebrated his 123rd birthday at the county home here.

Cherokee Bill is the only name he knows. In the early days of the country he fought with bow and arrow with the aborigines and even used that primitive weapon, he says, when he fought the British in 1812, enlisting in the army when he was 15 years old. He was born June 6, 1797, and was twice listed in the United States census as the oldest native of America.

The aged Indian recently made a cap for himself out of the down of cattails and wears this proudly when he hobbles along the streets occasionally with the aid of a cane he has owned since the Civil war. He is getting feeble, though he still has a good appetite.

BOLSHEVICK FORCES

HONOLULU, T. H., June 25.—Siberian Russians, arriving at Alexandrovsk, Saghalien, say that Chinese and Korean, in considerable numbers, have joined the Bolshevik forces at Nikolaevsk, against which Japanese troops now are operating, according to a Tokyo cable to the Nippon Jiji, Japanese language paper here. The dispatch added that the Chinese and Koreans fought with the Bolsheviks against the Japanese in the two-day battle that raged there several weeks ago and that Chinese warships supplied the Bolshevik forces with ammunition.

EXPECT 15,000 AT KLOBY-LAWLOR BOUT

LAWRENCE, June 25.—Everything is in readiness for the Tommy Kloby-Corcoran-Jack Lawlor fight which will be staged tomorrow afternoon at Cuddy Brothers' Arena and more than 15,000 fans are expected to witness the mill. The bout has aroused more interest than any other arranged in this section in many years and practically every city and town in the east will be represented. There will be a very strong preliminary program starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Both Kloby and Lawlor are in excellent shape and each has shown confidence of winning. Lawlor has a great reputation as a pugilist and there are many fans who look him to beat the Y.P. champion.

In the preliminary program, Young Mitchell will meet Barney Burke of this city in a six rounder. Mike Cattle of this city will meet Harry Mitchell.

MATHEWS vs. SO. ENDS

"MATS" AND SO. ENDS CLASH TOMORROW

Everything is in readiness for the clash between the South Ends and the Mathews at Spalding park tomorrow afternoon and, judging by the interest which is being displayed by local fans, the attendance will be a record-breaker. Both teams have large followings, who are constantly arguing the relative merits of their favorites, and this game is the culmination of the dispute. Last Saturday's victory over the Kutchis of Columbus, who have to their credit a win over the boys from the South common, has given the Mathews cohorts unbounded confidence, while the South End roots are convinced that the team which has so often justified their allegiance in the past is still worthy of their support.

Both teams have exceptionally strong lineups. The South Ends have always been remarkably strong in the field and while not a heavy hitting aggregation, they are always waiting for the psychological moment to bring disaster to the opposing pitcher. The Mathews, on the other hand, are organized as heavy hitters, and at the same time are well able to hold up their end of the defense. Both teams are well supplied with slab artists, with Derry, Bridgeford and McCarthy on the South End roster and Wheeler, Hubert and Quinn in Mathews uniforms. In the receiving department, the South Ends will choose between Linton and Freeman, while the Mathews will rely on W. White.

The C.Y.M.L. will clash with the fast American Legion baseball team Saturday on the South common and a good game is expected. Green, who has been twirling a ball all season, will work for the Lyceum boys while Hamilton will do the receiving. All C.Y.M.L. players are asked to report on the South common at 2 o'clock. The C.Y.M.L. are without a game for Saturday, July 3, and any fast teams desiring action can see Manager Daly any night at Liberty square between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock.

The Lawrence A.A. will play the Dixwell Saturday at Shedd park and the attendees Sunday on the North common. The Lawrence A.A. would like to play the T.R. & T's or Bellevues on July 3. Games can be arranged by calling 5766 any evening between 6 and 7.

Will you kindly allow me a few lines in your valuable paper to answer the article in Wednesday's papers regarding the Mathews-K. of C. and South Ends going to settle the question of the city championship. We decisively defeated the Mathews, 8 to 3, Memorial day and also the T.R. & T's, a feat the K. of C's could not accomplish. The Bellevues were beaten by us, 3 to 1, and later we fell to their power in an overtime game. But has any other team in the city won a championship thrown in. Thanking you for your space, I remain,

JAMES GANNON.

Chelmsford Saturday afternoon to play the strong West Chelmsford A.A.

The Edison grammar school baseball team journeyed to Graniteville Wednesday and played a twilight game with the team of that town. It was one of the fastest games seen there in many a day. The Edisons won by a score of 4 to 2.

The first and second teams of Saunders' market in the Mercantile league clashed yesterday with the former getting a 12 to 8 verdict. Foudy and Downing were in the points for the winners and Joyce and Morvill performed for the second team. The Saunders team will play the Hobson & Saunders team on the South common next Thursday evening at 2:30. Manager Deshauteurs of the Saunders' market aggregation would like to arrange a game with the Lowell police team for some Sunday afternoon.

The Gillespie Mfr. Co. nine will meet the Gas Light West Ends tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 on the Princeton street grounds. Williams and Bird will be the batter for the Gillespie outfit. Harry Moran will umpire.

VANITIE WINS

Score Now 7 to 4 in Favor of Resolute

NEWPORT, R. I., June 25.—The sloop Vanitie defeated the Resolute yesterday in the fifth race in the elimination series for the honor of defeating the America's cup against the Shamrock IV, leading at the finish by 12 seconds, corrected time, and by one minute, 20 seconds, elapsed time.

The race was over a 24-mile windward and leeward course in a steady, not south-southwest breeze. The first leg was to windward for 10 miles and the return was to leeward over 14 miles. The Vanitie has now won four and the Resolute seven of the races in the elimination series.

The race was close from start to finish, although Vanitie, which got a lead at the start, maintained her lead throughout. On the windward stretch, after two lengthy heats, one inshore and one offshore, Vanitie came about 40 minutes after the start and showed her superior position by crossing the Resolute's bow to windward. Both yachts at the time were on different tacks, in rounding the offshore mark Vanitie led Resolute by one minute, 20 seconds.

Both passed up straight southerly runs on the return and, setting their balloons, tacked to leeward the whole distance to the finish. When within one mile of the finish line both lifted their mainsails and, in standing on the finish line, were practically on a reach with the wind over the quarters.

NEW BASEBALL RULE GOES INTO EFFECT

CHICAGO, June 25.—A change in the baseball rules governing balls hit out of the playing field, will go into effect today. It was announced last night by American league headquarters. The rule in question is covered by paragraph 15 of the rule book and at present provides that a ball shall be judged fair or foul according to where it passes over the boundary line of the usual playing field.

The new wording will be the same as in 1919, which says that when a "batted ball passes outside ground or into the stands the umpire shall judge it fair or foul according to where it disappears from the umpire's view."

The latter interpretation of the rule would have robbed "Babe" Ruth of at least two home runs this year, baseball officials said, because there are two instances on record where he hit balls into the stands which landed in foul territory but were called fair because they passed over the fence fair and curved into foul ground.

SALMON CAUGHT IN MERRIMACK RIVER

A salmon weighing seven pounds was taken from the Merrimack river above Manchester, falls about two weeks ago. The fish's fisherman was Leonard Cummings, 15, son of F. S. Cummings of 125 Fifth avenue.

It was the first salmon to be taken above the falls since the olden days and inasmuch as it was taken at the mouth of a brook it is believed that the salmon came down from one of the nearby ponds that were stocked a few years ago. The writer has it from those who participated in the feast that the salmon made excellent eating.

There has been an occasional salmon taken at or near the foot of the falls within the last few years and it was also stated that a salmon was caught near Tangle Island some few weeks ago, but nothing authentic could be learned as to the latter report.

The fact remains, however, that young Cummings got a salmon in the Merrimack river and this is an interesting fact, especially for those who have stubbornly maintained that a salmon would not and could not live in the Merrimack river because of its pollution.

In English prisons neither male nor female convicts may see a mirror during their imprisonment.

CIRRUS WINS AQUEDUCT RACE

NEW YORK, June 25.—At the Aqueduct race track yesterday Samuel C. Hildreth's four-year-old bay colt, Cirrus, by Tracery-Morningside, won the 32nd running of the historic Brooklyn handicap. The distance, one and one-eighth miles, was covered in 1:50, just three-fifths of a second slower than the record made by Barrow in this event three years ago. Boniface, owned by Commander J. K. L. Ross of Canada, was second and the winner's stable companion, Mad Hatter, finished third. The handicap had a value of $550 to the winner, $1000 to Boniface and $500 to Mad Hatter.

BUSINESS COLLEGE HAS GRADUATION

A class of 44 students was graduated from Wood's Business College at the annual commencement exercises held last evening in Association hall. The speaker of the evening was Hon. George Pearl Webster of Boston and Mayor Perry D. Thompson presented the diplomas. The class gift, a large painting of Theodore Roosevelt, was presented to the school by George Morley, class president, and accepted by Elliot F. Wood, president of the college. Miss Kathleen Marie Finnegan, vice president of the class, made the address of welcome. Principal Wood presented cups to the following for excellence in typewriting and business letter arrangement: Miss Clara Helen Porter and Miss Esther Elinor Killoy of the day school and Miss Ellen Agnes Murphy and Miss Alice Hildegarda Moran of the evening pupils.

The officers of the 1920 class were: President, George Morley; vice president, Miss Kathleen Marie Finnegan; secretary, Simon Joseph Dean; treasurer, Miss Esther Elinor Killoy.

The graduates were: Margaret Genevieve Brophy, Mary Catherine Clark, Helen Gertrude Clifford, Cecilia Louise Connors, Ellen Cornelia Creedon, Veronica Gertrude Curran, Simon Joseph Dean, Anna Teresa Dolan, Elizabeth Lillian Farley, Kathleen Marie Finnegan, Alice Hayes Fitzgerald, Anna Theresa Finnegan, Margaret Alice Harrington, Grace Lillian Hird, Marion Laura Hudson, Edna Laura Ingalls, Mary Agnes Inglis, Joseph Lawrence Keefe, Esther Elinor Killoy, Lillian Gertrude Locke, Elsie May Lovejoy, Mary Helen Manning, Julia Anna McCarley, Nora Agnes McDermott, Anna Eileen McMahon, Margaret Rita McPartland, Claire Catherine Molloy, Alice Hildegarda Moran, George Morley, Ellen Agnes Murphy, Anna Ruth Myers, Esther Linea Ohlson, Mary Eleanor O'Malley, Ruth Page, Clara Helen Porter, Anna Veronica Reilly, Francis Xavier Sexton, Helen Elizabeth Shea, Mary Josephine Sheehan, Walter John Smith, Velma Sweet, Harold Augustine Yancour.

LAST WARNING TO AUTO LAW BREAKERS

In order to acquaint drivers of motor vehicles with the glaring headlight law so that there will be no excuse for violations, Supt. Redmond Welch has given out the following, saying that violators in the future will not meet with recommendations for leniency made by him:

"Whenever there is not sufficient light within the limits of the highway location to make all vehicles, persons or substantial objects clearly visible within said limits for a distance of at least 150 feet, two white lights which motor vehicles are required to display when in motion, must throw sufficient light ahead to show any person, vehicle or substantial object upon the roadway straight ahead of the motor vehicle for a distance of 150 feet. Any light thrown directly ahead or sideways shall be so arranged that no dazzling rays from it or from any reflector shall be at any time more than three and one-half feet above the ground on a level road at a distance of 50 feet or more ahead of said vehicle, and said lights shall be sufficient to enable the operator of the motor car to see any person, vehicle or substantial object upon the roadway or side thereof for 10 feet on each side of said motor vehicle and 150 feet ahead of said motor vehicle. This regulation took effect on and after January 1 in the year 1916."

This law provides penalties from $5 to $20 but Judge Enright has issued a warning from the bench that the maximum would be imposed in the future.

TO EXTERMINATE RATS

Surgeon General Urges Campaigns—One Rat for Every Person in U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Calling attention to the discovery of bubonic plague in several American and Mexican Gulf ports and renewing his warning regarding the introduction of the plague from Mediterranean ports which are known to be infected, Surgeon General Cummings today urged, communities throughout the country and especially along the coast to inaugurate rat extermination campaigns. According to estimates of the public health service there is at least one rat for every person in the United States. The annual upkeep per rodent is computed as $1.59 in Great Britain, $1.20 in Denmark, and $1 in France. The depredations of rats in the United States will very probably exceed the estimate for Great Britain. One-half a cent a day is considered conservative, but even on this computation it costs the United States $180,000,000 a year to support its rat population.

COLLEGE EXTENSION WORK EXPLAINED

Before the Knights of Columbus last night Mr. D. A. Dooley, field secretary of the College Extension department of the state department of education, gave a very illuminating talk on the opportunities for training along certain educational lines, afforded by the extension courses. He outlined the scope of the work, the plan under which it is conducted in different cities with the co-operation of the school authorities.

Where a group of 20 persons enrol for a certain course and find a suitable place for conducting the class, the department will send an instructor from Boston or find one locally to do the work. There are in all, over 100 courses and as Mr. Dooley described them, they offer splendid opportunities for young men who have any ambition to prepare for better positions than they now hold.

This work does not duplicate any of the classes conducted in the evening schools, either grammar or high. Before September the department will make its appeal for the formation of classes and it wishes to interest as many young people as possible in the work.

Mr. Dooley felt that Lowell is a good field for the extension work. Judging from the large number of young men who go to Boston to take up courses of the same character as given by the department. He instanced the great success of the course in accounting conducted at the Textile school last season, showing the eagerness of the young men for opportunities to study. There was little evidence of this disposition at the meeting last night if one were to judge by the size of the attendance.

IPSWICH MILLS CLOSE Yesterday afternoon notices were posted in the plant of the Ipswich Mills in Warren street announcing an immediate shut down for two or three weeks, the reason given being "business conditions." The storing facilities of the mills, it is understood, are sorely taxed with manufactured goods for which there is no immediate market. The plant employs between 700 and 800 hands.

HELD LAWN PARTY

With ideal weather prevailing the members of Team E in the recent drive for funds for the erection of a new rectory in St. Louis parish, conducted a lawn party on the grounds adjoining the church last evening. There was a large attendance and great enjoyment was provided for all present. Sales tables of all descriptions had been placed at various points on the grounds and during the evening a thriving business was conducted. Music was given by an orchestra and entertainment numbers were given under the direction of Alberic W. Blanchard, captain of the team. The affair was a success in every way.

ANNUAL LAWN PARTY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Rarely has the annual lawn party of St. Margaret's parish, in the 10 years in which such affairs have been held equalled in social and financial success last evening's party held at the Casino in Thorndike street. Practically the entire parish membership attended the affair and in addition there were hundreds from other sections of the city, eager for an opportunity to taste of the splendid entertainment features always characteristic of St. Margaret's affairs.

Rev. Charles J. Galligan, the pastor, and Rev. Stephen G. Murray were present to welcome visitors and their general supervision of the party added materially to its success. A midway entertainment, general dancing and a series of exceptionally beautiful and well executed folk dances by the children of the parish under the direction of Miss Catherine Whelan Cooney were features that proved delightfully enjoyable to the large number present. The Sunday school boys and girls reflected the expert training given them by Miss Cooney as well as their own natural ability.

ANNUAL MILITARY MASS

The O.M.I. Cadets completed plans at a meeting last evening for their annual military mass to be held next Sunday at the Immaculate Conception church at 5 o'clock. From present indications this year's affair will be more impressive and elaborate than ever. The cadets will appear in three divisions, one wearing uniforms and the third cadet full dress. A special musical program will be carried out and the altar will be beautifully decorated. Members and former members of the organization who served in the world war will be guests of honor at a breakfast to be held immediately after the mass in the cadet armory.

The Yankee Doughboys On the Rhine Are Having Jolly Good Time

Good treatment, good eats and plenty of athletic doings in a "wet" country make the Yankees on duty along the Rhine perfectly contented. Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen (right) is a close friend of Marshal Foch (left). Picture was taken while Foch was a guest at Allen's headquarters. Inset: Crack Seventh Machine Gun Battalion just lives in an ex-German fortress.

"Bring the Boys Home" would be anything but a popular slogan right now with "the boys," who are holding down the American zone of occupation on the Rhine, writes Correspondent

BY MILTON BRONNER

COBLENZ, June 24.—If any politician gets up in congress and, with tears in his voice, talks about bringing back our homelost boys on the Rhine, he's talking tommy-rot.

We've got the best contented, best fed and best amused little army that Uncle Sam ever sent anywhere. And from officer to buck private you can get backing for that statement.

But here is the best proof ever: the direct punishment that officers can hand out to those guilty of minor offenses is to threaten to send them back to America.

Rhine duty Yanks know that hundreds of boys in every regiment in the U.S.A. are anxious for duty over here. And the reasons are:

This is a most beautiful post, compared with quarters at home. The men are given liberal pass allowances and travel frequently up and down the Rhine country. The money of private goes farther over here, and, compared with the small pay the French puts in the U.S.A., the British Tommy gets, our Yank is a millionaire. The country is not dry and one can get good wine and fair beer.

Also, there is plenty of athletic entertainment, while the Y.M.C.A. and Salvation Army look after the men's wants and the American Library association furnishes plenty of literature.

The big boss of the American zone of occupation, who has had to be soldier, organizer and diplomat, is Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen. He's a good fighter from Kentucky and is six feet tall, has twinkling blue eyes and a big nose.

Allen has been in Uncle Sam's service for 25 years, since graduating from West Point, and has seen fighting in all quarters of the globe. He took command of the 5th Division in the world war, and later of the 8th Corps, the 5th Corps and the 7th Corps.

When the United States decided to keep an army at anchor on the Rhine, General Allen was given command. He whipped into shape thousands of recently enlisted men and they have become top-notch Yankee regulars. He has played his part like a skilled diplomat.

Any American in Europe who longs for the sound of many American voices and the sight of real American faces only needs to visit this Yankeeland. Quaint gabled buildings, the German

YOU SHOULD HEAR THE DOUGHBOYS SING

Old Glory's "Glad" everywhere; the food's fine over here; And Rhine wine flows within the law—and so does lager beer; The world is really lovely, yea, and everything is fine; So why should we sing "Back Home Blues" we Yankees on the Rhine?

names and the chatter of the civilian crowds tell you you are in Germany, but everything else is American to American eyes and ears.

At the depot you'll run into Yankee doughboys. Along the narrow streets you'll pass American officers. You may have to dodge a motor torrie loaded down with more doughboys. You will see them speeding by on motorcycles or cantering along on horses.

American Jazz Music

American jazz music will greet you in cafes that cater to our men. In windows are American crackers, cigars and toothpastes. And, above all, the good old Stars and Stripes float proudly over buildings in all sections of town.

Even the city hall floats the United States flag to indicate that it is the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Allen and staff, from whence are issued orders that govern 15,000 Yanks and all the Germans in the American zone of occupation.

Old Glory waves over buildings that used to be German barracks but now house Yanks. Down the river it floats from the masthead of a schooner from which the Imperial German crown has not yet been removed. This ship is now Allen's official boat.

Across the Rhine from Coblenz is a hill crowned by the most famous fortress in Germany. From its flagstaff floats the American flag, telling all people that the Yanks are guarding the Rhine.

And this is a real hero outfit that runs the flag up the staff in the morning and pulls it down at night—the famous Seventh Machine Gun Battalion.

It was this outfit which was attached to the first American army in the early days of the big war. The 7th actually fought in the streets of Chateau-Thierry and helped win the victory incident to the saving of Paris.

At the entrance to the fortress flaps the banner which the 7th carried through all the big battles. In a big room, once a lumber pile, there is a real American kitchen outfitted by money the Yanks themselves put up.

Furnishings Are American

Upstairs, where German officers once bunked, everything is comfort and coziness. The furnishings are all American even to photographs of smiling American mothers and sweethearts.

In the various occupied regions of Germany there are now 55,000 Frenchmen, 20,000 Belgians, 14,000 British and 15,000 Americans. Our forces are divided into two brigades. One is under Col. F. W. Slayden, comprising the 8th Infantry, 7th Machine Gun Battalion, 2nd Battalion of the 6th Field Artillery, a provisional cavalry squadron, two companies of engineers, a field signal battalion and various auxiliary branches.

Gen. W. H. Sage commands the other, comprising the 5th and 50th Infantry, a provisional machine gun battalion, a signal corps company, a company of engineers and medical and motor transport companies.

Song Hits Make Big Fortune But Not For Those Who Write Them

MRS. THEKLA ANDREW AND JOHNNY BLACK

NEW YORK, June 25.—"Dardanella" is one of the most popular songs ever written in America.

Royalties on the piece are reported to have reached $250,000.

And Johnny Black, who composed it, got $100.

"Madelon" is the most popular song that has been written in France in a generation.

It has made hundreds of thousands of francs for the publishers.

The French poet who wrote it got nothing—not a centime—in royalties.

"Madelon" was written before the war. It was one of a thousand songs that were heard occasionally. Nobody paid any attention to it.

Then the armies were mobilized, the French poets took it up.

They demanded it to march to.

They sang it.

It was played by the bands over and over.

It spread all over France.

Literally all France sang it, whistled it, played it, marched to it.

Every returned Yank can whistle it.

Since the war the French chamber of deputies made it an official national song. A French newspaper has raised a fund for the poet who wrote it was glad to give his composition to the publisher just to see it printed.

When Johnny Black took "Dardanella" to the publishers, they told him it was unusual.

Johnny felt proud.

When the publisher offered him a check for $100, he accepted.

Then he became aware that everybody was singing it and playing it—that it was a hit!

Now he is suing for a share of the royalties.

These cases would seem to prove that song writing—by the "unknown" song writer, is an unprofitable business. But there are exceptions—like Mrs. Thekla Hollingsworth Andrew of Joplin, Mo.

Listening to a new song hit one day, she said: "I could write that kind of thing." And she did.

"Kiss Me, Dear," she called it.

She went to New York and offered it to a publisher.

The trifle he offered made her angry and she went back to Joplin, Mo., and had it published at her own expense.

Eight thousand—the entire first edition—were sold in no time in that one neighborhood and more thousands are being printed.

But—as has been said—Mrs. Andrew's case is exceptional. "The strangest case we ever heard of, in fact," say the dealers who are handling it.

THE CITY AND THE LENDING LIBRARIES

The numerous lending libraries that supply their patrons with books at the expense of a few pennies a day are meeting a need that is not supplied by the city library, according to a statement by Librarian Frederick A. Chase to a representative of The Sun today.

"The loan libraries," said Mr. Chase, "supply a class of literature that is ephemeral and for which there is a demand for only a comparatively short space of time in most instances. The city library aims to have available for readers a number of copies of the better class of books of this kind. In some cases as many as a dozen copies of a single book have been purchased and placed in the central library and at the receiving stations. It is the aim of the library to buy as far as possible books that have a permanent value and it has not the funds available to purchase a large number of books for which the demand is quite certain to be only of a transient nature."

Mr. Chase said that the question of adopting the open shelf method of handling books, that has been adopted in many places, had been considered by the library authorities, but that no active steps toward a change from the present system had been taken. He said that he thought it was a question whether such a system would work well in Lowell with its large foreign-born population and that he understood that the system had worked best in cities of smaller size. He thought that it would be an objection to giving the general public access to the library shelves that many books might be taken from their proper positions and that some books would be probably stolen. He pointed out that current works of fiction, for which there is the greatest demand, are already available on open shelves.

"Students who are in search of special information, are now given access to the book shelves by special permission," said Mr. Chase.

The librarian further stated that he is not entirely satisfied with the system of charging books, that is now in use in the library, and that he proposes to make an investigation to see if system that will be less troublesome to borrowers cannot be found. Under the present system each borrower must have a library card and make out a slip and sign it with name and address for each book wanted. In some places the use of library cards and the signing of slips has been entirely done away with.

Increased Borrowing Privileges

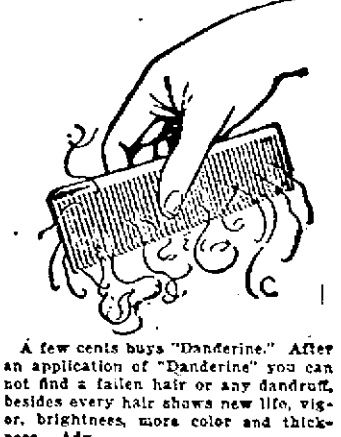

At the present time users of the library are permitted to take out one work of fiction and two of non-fiction at the same time. Regarding the possibility of increasing the number of books that may be borrowed in a bunch, Mr. Chase said that teachers and certain other reliable persons are now given the privilege of taking out any reasonable number of books that are not in the current literature class and keeping them any reasonable length of time. Mr. Chase called attention to the vacation privileges of the library that are just coming into use for the summer season. Borrowers are permitted to take as many as a dozen books for which there is not a constant demand and retain them until the close of the vacation season.

The librarian stated that while there had formerly been a considerable demand for books in the Polish language, this demand has largely fallen off of late. There is, however, a good demand for Greek books, the call being mainly for poetry and works of literature.

As to the possibility of foreign language books containing "red" propaganda getting into the library, Mr. Chase said that the books of this class are all selected from lists, issued by the New York public library, the Boston public library and the American librarians' association. He said that the local library authorities had no means of knowing what was in the books aside from the information contained in the lists mentioned. He doubted though if there was anything "red" in any of the books now in the library.

1,350,000 WERE KILLED

Germany's War Losses—

520,000 War Widows,

1,300,000 Orphans

GENEVA, June 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The recent statistics published in Germany on that country's war losses state that 1,350,000 men were killed. There are today 520,000 war widows, according to the statistics, 1,300,000 war orphans and 500,000 maimed or consumptive supported by charity.

TO PICK DEFENDER

All Members of Committee Watch Today's Race

NEWPORT, R. I., June 25.—All three members of the New York Yacht club committee, which will decide whether Resolute or Vanitie shall defend the American cup against Sir Thos. Lipton's Shamrock IV were here today to watch the work of the two candidates. It was the first time that the entire committee had been here to see them in action. The committee consists of C. Oliver Iselin, William Butler Dinet and ex-Commander E. D. Morgan.

Resolute had seven victories to her credit and Vanitie four when the yachts hoisted sail in Lipton's cove today and set out for the mark for the start of their twelfth contest. The wind was blowing from eight miles north by east with every prospect of good sailing conditions at noon, the time set for the start. A triangular race was planned for today.

Mr. Maurice A. Green of this city and Miss Sylvia A. Long of Somerville were married June 23 in Roxbury hall, Somerville. After an extended honeymoon trip the couple will make their home in this city.

Johnson—Lantini
The marriage of Mr. Herbert Johnson of Worcester and Miss Ellen Lantini of Paxton, Mass., took place yesterday at the parsonage of the Swedish Lutheran church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. T. E. Nordberg. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lantini.

Pandolf—Reynolds
Miss Catherine Reynolds of Cambridge, formerly of Lowell and Mr. Theodore A. Pandolf, were united in marriage at a nuptial mass at St. Peter's church, Cambridge, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Thomas R. Reynolds, a brother of the bride, officiated and Rev. Henry H. Dineen, O.M.I., of the Sacred Heart church, this city, a cousin of the bride, acted as master of ceremonies. The church was filled with relatives and friends of the couple, guests being in attendance from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and New York city. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Marion Burke, while Mr. William Pandolf, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Thomas H. and William P. Boland, James Reynolds and Philip J. Gratton. The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of duchess satin with court train and lace trimmings. She wore a tulle veil caught up with orange ribbons. She carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore pink satin with overdress of periwinkle crepe, trimmed with blue velvet. She carried pink tea roses. Following the ceremony a reception was held and dinner served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, Bellevue avenue. Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Pandolf left on an extended honeymoon. They will visit Albany and Lake George, New York, and other points of interest. On their return they will reside at 12 Elm street, Cambridge.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

HAS ANNUAL PICNIC

A. G. Jenkins is the champion blueberry picker of the Graftonville M. B. Sunday school. He won the title yesterday in a contest at the annual picnic of the school at Nabesque lake. A. L. Hiner, superintendent of the Sunday school, won second honors in the competition. The picnic contest was but one of many interesting events at the picnic. There was a basketball game between Centralville club and a team made up of members of the Board Table club of the First Baptist church. The board table team won by a score of 12 to 11. There were other sporting events and swimming in the lake.

The judges and members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the picnic were made up of Rev. Karl H. Meister, Charles Gannon, A. H. Jenkins, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Dora Gannon. The picnic was held under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Swann and Mrs. Gaila Warren.

WARSHIPS END BIG GUN PRACTICE

FORT MONROE, Va., June 25.—The battleship squadron of the Atlantic fleet has completed its big gun practice off the Virginia capes and the various units are today spending their home time. The battleships Pennsylvania, Arizona, Oklahoma, North Dakota, will probably reach New York late today. The Delaware is proceeding to Boston, while the Utah and Florida are going to Portland, Maine, to help celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the entrance of Maine into the union.

QUEBEC WOMAN VISITS HER MOTHER

Mrs. Henri Belisle, a former resident of this city and now of Amos, Quebec, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Ferdinand Frechette of 127 Ennells street, and other local relatives. Mrs. Belisle had not been in Lowell for 17 years and was amazed at the many changes that have taken place in this city during that time.

For several years Mrs. Belisle, her husband and her nine children made their home at St. Marc de Carriere, a small town near Quebec, but about three years ago they removed to Fisherville, in the province of Quebec, about 50 miles from the Ontario line. Now they are living at Amos, about 17 miles north of their former home.

Speaking about Fisherville, Mrs. Belisle said it is a very quiet place, for there is only one house there; the one occupied by them for over a year. This house also serves as a railroad station as there are two trains a day in that locality. "Our nearest neighbor," she said, "was six miles on one side, while on the other side we had to travel 11 miles before reaching a house. In front of our place was a forest 50 miles long."

Mrs. Belisle said during the time they lived in Fisherville they never bought a pound of meat, for the railroad men supplied them with moose meat. She said every week the train would kill two or three moose, which were very numerous in that district and the carcasses of the animals were always left at the railroad station. "While there," she said, "we kept a cow and hens and we cultivated a big tract of land. My husband was employed as a section hand on the railroad and I and the children looked after the railroad station, and that was about all we had to do was to look after it, for we did not sell two tickets a week. Once a month a priest came to our house and celebrated mass in the parlor, and on this occasion our six and eleven miles neighbors gathered at our home."

"We enjoyed life at Fisherville, but we had to make a change in order to give the children an opportunity to go to school, so we went to Amos, a village with a population of several hundred families, where there was a good school and a church."

When asked if she would like to come back to live in Lowell, Mrs. Belisle replied in the negative, saying life in the city is too expensive and she feels sure that her nine children could not get in Lowell all the comfort they are getting in the Canadian town.

Circus Trains Delayed

the arrival of the big wagon at the circus grounds to get wagons, horses and animals ready for the parade. A number of conferences were held by the circus officials and it was finally decided that it would be necessary to have the parade with one of its most interesting features—the animals—left out.

It was after two o'clock when the head of the parade started.

A performance was given this afternoon and this thousand-sided miracle of the amusement world entertained an audience limited only by the capacity of the tent. The performance in its entirety will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock. Three rings, five stages and the track are in constant action. The tent is 350 feet long and pulsates with performers, human and animal. It is the cross-eyed man's day, for one must indeed be Argus-eyed to enjoy all of the good things provided by the circus men of this year.

DEATHS

CAHILL—John J. Cahill, a resident of Lowell for over 60 years, died last evening at his home, 47 Bellevue street. Mr. Cahill was a brother of the late Sarah Cahill, who conducted a millinery business in this city for many years. Upon her death the business was taken over by Mr. Cahill and his wife, Mary (Short) Cahill, who had been associated with the late Miss Cahill. Deceased was well known in musical circles and was organist of the old St. Peter's and St. Michael's churches of some time. He was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Peter's church. He leaves two sisters-in-law, Miss Catherine T. Short and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Eawright.

LAROSE—William, aged 11 months and 20 days, infant son of William and Delma Larose, died last night at the home of his parents, 35 Austin street. Burial took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon in St. Joseph's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers Amodeo Archambault & Sons.

GILLEN—Bridget GilLEN, an esteemed member of St. Patrick's parish, died Thursday night at St. John's hospital. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Margaret Grimes. The body was taken to the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

MALONE—John J. Malone, an esteemed resident of North Chelmsford and a devout attendant of St. John's church, died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John H. Harrington.

PRIMO—The funeral of Mary Rapone took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, Mauro and Serafin Rapone, 46 Auburn street. At St. Anthony's church services were held, the prayers being read by Rev. Fr. Perry. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

HARDING—The funeral of Mary E. Harding took place this morning from her late home, 260 Voburn street, at 9 o'clock and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. John Docherty, O.M.I. The sanctuary choir under the direction of Mr. John Kelly sang the Gregorian mass. Mr. Kelly presided at the organ. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets. The bearers were Frederick W. Abele, James McManus, John McManus and John Breck. The funeral cortege proceeded by automobile to Malden, Mass., where interment will take place in Holy Cross cemetery. Undertaker Peter H. Savage was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

BECHARD—The funeral of Remi Bechard took place this morning from his home, 8 Head street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Louis church at 9 o'clock by Rev. J. B. Labossiere. The choir under the direction of Officer J. David rendered the Gregorian chant, Miss Ida Monroie presiding at the organ. The bearers were William Bechard, Aurel Nadeau, Hermeneide Marlin, Edgar Laplante, William Emond and Eustache Peltier. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

COYLE—Died June 24, John Coyle. Funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough sons, Solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge. Motor cortege.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Larceny of a tire valued at $19.72, the property of Joseph McGarrig, and attempt at larceny of a tire valued at $20 from the Fisk Rubber company, were the charges against Bernice Jones, who was arraigned in police court today. She was found guilty. On the direct larceny charge she was fined $20. The other complaint was placed on file.

Other Offenders

Maurice Belkin pleaded guilty to setting up a lottery and was fined $25. Belkin was arrested for visiting homes with the well known punch board which awarded fine prizes to the lucky persons. One of his schemes was to secure the aid of little girls to go to some of the houses. The occasion of his visit to Officer Murphy's house was the cause of his arrest.

John J. McAuliffe pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was ordered to pay a fine of $10 within one month.

George Johnson, who was found guilty of the larceny of a watch and chain from Arthur O'Keefe on Wednesday and ordered to the house of correction for three months from which sentence he appealed withdrew his appeal today. Judge Bright reduced the sentence to one month.

Turnhout, Belgium, has a school for lacemaking which is attended by 1500 children.

BOARD-OF SINKING FUND COMMISSIONERS

The board of sinking fund commissioners of this city including A. K. Chadwick, Frank P. McGilly and Chas. L. Knapp, in company with Mayor Perry D. Thompson will confer with Theodore N. Waddell, state director of accounts, at the latter's office in the state house next Tuesday afternoon to ascertain what steps the city can take to avoid appropriating some $75,000 or more to make up losses in the value of its sinking fund securities due to the low money market of the past year or so.

Early in the present year the city was confronted with the necessity of meeting such a deficit and at the suggestion of the sinking fund commissioners, the sum of $75,000 was included in the regular tax levy. It was hoped at that time that the money market would improve before it came time for the city to liquidate its sinking fund holdings, but instead of getting better, the situation has become worse.

Now, instead of needing $75,000 to meet its indebtedness caused by a depreciation in its sinking fund holdings, the city will need much more than that amount. The mayor is adverse to spending any money for this purpose if some financial stratagem can be conceived whereby the city can pledge its notes for whatever amount is needed by the sinking fund commissioners and make good the deficit when the sinking fund securities regain their values.

City Solicitor William D. Regan is of the opinion that a recently created board of state finance officials has the power to determine whether a city may issue its notes and bonds for such an emergency in the nature of a loan within the debt limit and to be paid within a year. This phase of the situation will be brought to Mr. Waddell's attention Tuesday, and it is hoped that a satisfactory adjustment of the situation will be realized.

Democratic National Committee Meets to Settle Delegate Contests

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—First guns of the democratic convention were fired today when the national committee met to draw up the temporary roll of delegates. Three contests had been called to the committee's attention but only one of them, that involving efforts to seat Senator Reed of Missouri with the delegation from that state, promised more than routine. Only one contest, that from Georgia, has been officially filed with the committee.

Fight on Reed Case

The Georgia contest results were expected by party leaders to be settled in favor of delegates friendly to the candidacy of Attorney General Palmer for the nomination, the decision carrying with it confirmation of Clark Howell as national committeeman for that state. There appeared to be no question as to the result in what was described as a "clear case" where statutory provisions in the state and party rule dictated the course of the committee. The Reed case may prove more difficult to deal with. An effort to

REVOLUTIONARY PLOT UNCOVERED

Object the Avowed Purpose of Fomenting Revolt Against Government

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Evidence of the formation of a united communist party by the consolidation of the communist labor party and communist party, with the avowed purpose of fomenting a revolution against the existing government, was received today at the department of justice. Steps are being taken to guard against the spread of the propaganda. A communist publication in the hands of the department announces the formation of the new party at a secret convention attended by delegates from the old organizations.

"The program of the party," the publication says, "declares that the final struggle between the workers and capitalists, between exploited and exploiters, will take the form of civil war and that is the function of the communist party to systematically familiarize the working class with the necessity of armed insurrection as the only means through which the capitalist system can be overthrown."

HAILSTONES 18 INCHES 'ROUND WRECK HOUSES

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 25.—Hailstones as large as apples crashed through roofs at Hillsdale, 12 miles from here last night and reduced two farm buildings near there to kindling wood, according to telephone reports early today.

Some of the hailstones were said to have been 18 inches in circumference. Motorists caught in the storm crawled beneath their machines, as the tops afforded no protection, the reports said.

PULL

Pull is useful in a boat race struggle but is not dependable in the struggle of life. Just plain WORK is what pulled Father and Mother what made them what they were. No Pull, just steady and honest work. Dad turned the week's wages over to Ma and she managed the rest and managed to get a position into the bank. That was the kind of Pull that pulled them over and pushed you where it is easy to push on. They took care of the money and the money took care of them. They never had the opportunities offered today—Their Bank Savings account earned FIVE PER CENT YEARLY RATE—the rate of interest last paid by the MIDDLESEX TRUST CO. Some save, some sleep on their money. Some have no money when they wake up. The question is never how much you could have saved, but HOW MUCH ARE YOU SAVING. It is all in one word, that word is

SHOT OFFICER, BOMBARD JAIL

Officer, With Bullet in Arm, With Two Others Routs Yeggs After Battle

TOLEDO, O., June 25.—Five gunmen wounded Webster Slough, 65, a night watchman and bombarded the Fulton county jail at Wauseon, early today in an unsuccessful attempt to liberate Edward O'Neill, alias Malady, awaiting trial for alleged participating in a $21,000 bank robbery at Delta, Ohio, a month ago.

Slough, with a bullet in his arm, Sheriff J. B. McMillan and Deputy Walter Stevens, exchanged 25 shots with the invaders who had forced a kitchen window in the jail. Shots from the gunmen's sawed-guns rattled the prison windows. The quintet escaped towards Toledo in a touring car. O'Neill was the only prisoner in the building.

Motorists in this country bought $324,907 worth of automobiles abroad last year.

HE NEVER TRIED

Important Notice to Tax Payers

As the City must pay the State $3.04 for every poll tax committed to the collector, it is necessary that the tax be paid without delay.

AFTER JULY 15, EXTRA COSTS MUST BE ADDED

I therefore urge upon poll tax payers the necessity of prompt payment of their bills, not only to save extra costs, but also as a patriotic duty and a mark of appreciation of the sacrifices made for us by our boys in blue and khaki. If you are entitled to exemption of this tax, by law, or if there is an error in assessment, please see the Board of Assessors at once.

Respectfully yours,
FRED H. ROURKE,
City Treasurer and Collector of Taxes.

Chief Executive Claims Street Railway Broke Faith With City

Company's Attitude Raises Storm of Protest at City Hall

The statement of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., through its manager of the Lowell district, Thomas Lees, that it would not operate cars in South Lowell and Wigginville after July 1, as presented to the home rule committee at its meeting yesterday afternoon, has roused a storm of protest at city hall and Mayor Perry D. Thompson this morning charged the railway company with breaking its faith with the city if it proceeds to carry out such an action.

"You may assure the residents of South Lowell and Wigginville that they will have some kind of service after July 1 even if I have to put busses out there and operate them myself," said the mayor this morning when the statement of Manager Lees was brought to his attention. "It's about time the street railway company began to show a little co-operation in this Lawrence street bridge matter. The city has done everything that the company has asked relative to the bridge. Last fall Commissioner Murphy spent $2400 to repair the structure at the request of the company. Later their engineer said that the bridge should be reconstructed and in January gave us until July 1 to start the work. We are now

ACTION WILL HALT R. R. STRIKE

R. R. Union Heads Confident Move for Early Wage Award Will End Trouble

Striking Yardmen Return to Work at Washington—Freight Moves

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Representatives of the railroad unions expressed belief today that the promise of early action by the railway wage board on wage demands would tend to quell further strike disturbances. With the return to work at midnight of nearly all striking yardmen at the Potomac yard here, railroad officials announced that they would be able to handle freight without delay. The walk-out, they said, had caused congestion at the gateway and the re-routing of cars through other points.

At the same time, the interstate commerce commission is watching the strike in the eastern railway centers, being particularly concerned as to the effect of the walkouts in its recent efforts to relieve freight congestion and to move coal to eastern points.

CIRCUS TRAINS DELAYED

By Breaking of Draw Bars on Way to Lowell—Parade Curtailed

A long jump of nearly 75 miles from Fall River to Lowell and two broken draw bars on the cars in one of the train sections were given as reasons why Ringling Brothers & Barnum & Bailey's circus was late in reaching this city this morning. For several hours a large crowd waited in the streets for the arrival of the parade, while at the show grounds everything was in a state of turmoil and confusion.

The different sections of the train left Fall River last night very nearly on schedule time. They were routed to run by way of Taunton, Mansfield and Framingham to Lowell. On this route are at least three important junction points at which much switching is done and at which the freight jam has complicated the problem of handling trains.

The earlier section of the train carrying the menagerie, the mess tents and part of the other equipment of the show were all held up for varying lengths of time at these points, and arrived in Lowell several hours late. It was the third section of the train that fared hardest though. When about half way to Lowell a draw bar on one of the cars broke and there was a long wait until repairs could be made. Scarcely had the train started again when another draw bar went out of commission and there was another long period of delay.

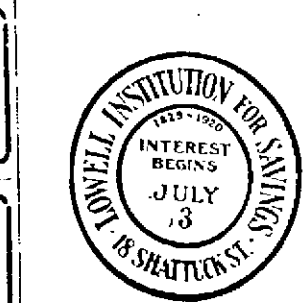

It was the last section of the train that carried all of the performers, their parade clothes, hand players and their instruments, and the elephants and camels and their trappings.

This train reached Lowell about 11.30 a. m., about three hours late. There was a great scurrying about on

WAR VETERANS' PAY HELD UP

Others Illegally Employed Include Vice President of Laborers' Union

Two employees of the street department of this city, both veterans of the world war, were unable to draw their weekly pay envelope today for services performed last week as a result of action on the part of the civil service commission in ordering their wages stopped. The two men are Anthony Burns and John O'Keefe. Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy was notified several weeks ago to discharge some four employees owing to the fact that they had not been properly certified by the civil service commission. Among the 40 were Burns and O'Keefe. These men had been seriously injured in the war and Commissioner Murphy stated at the time that he would not discharge them.

Accordingly, the commission followed its usual course of procedure of having their pay stopped. City Auditor J. Joseph Hennessy was notified not to approve the warrant for the payment of their wages and City Treasurer Fred H. Rourke not to pay the money. As a result, the two men drew no money from the city coffers today, the regular pay day for city employees.

Commissioner Murphy says that the men will not suffer for money as he intends to see the case through. If the men are discharged they will be entitled to whatever back pay is due them and they will then be placed at the bottom of the list of men eligible for street department work.

Mr. Murphy received notice this morning that nine other street or sewer department men were illegally employed and among them is Daniel Moynahan, vice president of the Municipal Employees' union. The illegality in each instance is brought about by Commissioner Murphy's action in putting the men to work when they were not properly certified.

CAR SERVICE PROBLEM

Street Railway's Decision Bad News for United States Cartridge Co.

If the street railway company carries out its threat to discontinue the South Lowell cars beyond the Lawrence street bridge the United States Cartridge company will transport its own help back and forth, but the company hopes it will not be driven to that extremity.

"It came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky," said one of the company officials today, "when we read that the street railway company threatened to discontinue its cars beyond the Lawrence street bridge."

"We have just completed plans for the removal of the New Jersey plant to South Lowell and that will mean two or three hundred additional hands. We will have to have transportation for our help even though we have to provide it ourselves."

7 PERSONS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Bomb, Hurlled Through Window Under Sleeping Rooms, Wrecks House

Five Men, Woman and Infant Thrown From Beds But Escape Injury

WATERBURY, Conn., June 25.—Five workers who had persistently refused to join the local strike and a woman and a small baby narrowly escaped death at 2.30 this morning when a bomb was hurled through a cellar window under one of the sleeping rooms in the dwelling at 23½ Railroad Hill street, blowing out the windows in the house and demolishing one side of the structure.

Third Bomb Explosion

This was the third bomb explosion during the labor trouble and the effects were more startling than those which preceded it. No physical harm was done to anyone. The missile was hurled through a rear cellar window of the house in which live Albani Bibas, his wife and 13-months-old daughter and four of his fellow employees as boarders. All five men refused to stop work in the Benedict Burnham branch of the American Brass Co., and while, according to Bibas, they knew they had the ill-will of acquaintances who are strikers, they had not been directly threatened.

The bomb exploded with terrific force and noise. It rocked every house in the neighborhood. The force tore out the side of the 2½-story wooden structure, ripped up the floors, tore out the windows and demolished a corner of the roof. Over the cellar window was the chamber of Bibas and on the second floor the four boarders were asleep. "Although everything in the room was topsy-turvy and the sleepers were almost thrown to the floor, not one had a bruise. The men returned to work at their usual hour."

MANY PERMITS FOR SALE OF FIREWORKS

It will be a noisy Fourth of July in Lowell this year or, more accurately, July 5, judging from the number of permits that have been issued to date for the sale of fireworks by the local fire department. Up to noon today 150 permits had been granted, or 12 more than the total number issued last year. The record for any one year is 168. The permits entitle the holders to sell fireworks from June 10 to July 18 of the year in which they are issued.

The following excerpts from the state laws and regulations governing fireworks and firecrackers, as issued this year by the division of fire prevention of the department of public safety, are of timely interest:

Section 7. Every person desiring to use a building for the manufacture of fireworks or firecrackers must make application in a city to the mayor and board of aldermen or officials having similar duties and powers, or if in a town, to the board of selectmen, for a license therefor, and to the state fire marshal for a permit.

ALLAN RYAN TO CARRY EXPULSION TO COURTS

NEW YORK, June 25.—Expelled Wednesday from the New York stock exchange, Allan Ryan, principal figure in the alleged Stutz motor corner last March, last night announced he would carry his case to the courts and "stand or fall on the case as the public has

There was a flurry of excitement at the opening of the exchange yesterday when the governing committee, which yesterday ended its investigation into the alleged corner, announced from the floor a verdict of expulsion for "conduct inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade."

At first Mr. Ryan was silent. Then he issued a brief statement announcing in French that "we shall see what we shall see."

Later he prepared a long newspaper advertisement containing this significant paragraph:

"For such of the injustice worked upon me as is remediable in the courts, I intend in due season to seek appropriate redress. But the blot upon the dignity of the great institution of the New York stock exchange, beginning with their first activity in the Stutz matter has grown to such proportions that it is now indelible."

This statement was interpreted on the street as a confirmation of reports that Mr. Ryan, who has denounced the exchange investigation as a "star chamber proceeding," would bring $10,000,000 suits against the exchange and some of its officers.

FOR CONVENTION OF LABOR PARTY

CHICAGO, Ill., June 25.—The program of the convention of the labor party of the United States, to be held at Chicago, July 11 to 13, is announced by Secretary Frank J. Esper.

The first day, Sunday, will be given over to hearing addresses from various organizations. These include the Friends of Freedom for India, the Proportional Representation League, and the American Friends of Irish Freedom. Governor Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota is scheduled to speak in behalf of the Non-Partisan League. It is regarded by Secretary Esper as very probable that the labor party of Canada will be represented by fraternal delegates.

The Non-Partisan League will be represented by fraternal delegates but will not participate otherwise in the convention. Max S. Hayes of Cleveland, chairman of the national labor party, will preside.

Nominations for president and vice president are scheduled for Tuesday if the convention is then ready to act. A platform is also to be adopted then.

The Kilwatt hour is urged, rather than gold, as an absolute standard of value.

HOSPITAL DOCTORS PROTEST RULING

Physicians comprising the staffs of the three local hospitals held a meeting of protest in the aldermanic chamber at city hall early last evening against the recent ruling of the industrial accident board whereby all accident cases coming under the supervision of the board shall be treated free by the doctors at the various hospitals. The new rule was effective June 1.

It was voted to send a letter of protest against this ruling to the accident board and to ask for a hearing on the matter. It was claimed that although the rule was effective June 1, the local physicians received no notification until last week. They further allege that the rule was drafted by a committee not representative of hospital staffs throughout the state and that at present hospital physicians, in this city, at least, are called upon to give much of their hospital service in a spirit of charity. The action of the local physicians is reflective of action being taken all over the state, it was said.

TO APPEAL DECISION ON COMMUNISTS

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The department of labor will appeal from the recent decision of Federal Judge Anderson at Boston, holding the Communist party to be a lawful organization and releasing 17 of its members held for deportation, Assistant Secretary Post announced yesterday after a conference with Secretary Wilson.

Pending final determination of the question by the courts the labor department, Mr. Post said, would consider Judge Anderson's decision as binding only in that particular jurisdiction and would proceed with all deportation cases outside that district.

"There are now under orders of deportation in that district 60 aliens, principally Russians, of whom only 17 are actually covered by the decision," said Mr. Post. "The balance will be paroled where their cases involve nothing more than membership in the Communist party. Where other personal activities have operated to bring aliens within other clauses of the act no paroles will be granted, it being the understanding of the department that Judge Anderson's decision covers membership only."

CARPET BAGGING SYSTEM REVIVED

BUCHAREST, June 25.—That the carpet bagging system known to the south after the Civil war has been applied by the Rumanians in their new provinces of Bessarabia, Bukovina and Transylvania, is the burden of complaints that the minority population of these provinces are sending to the allied governments. It is charged that these provinces have been loaded up with dishonest civilian officials, who work in connection with the armies of occupation to bulldoze and terrorize the local inhabitants. It is even charged that the wealthier landowners are being arrested in the hope that they will desert their lands and sell their homes far under the real value.

According to Dr. Nicholas Lupu, recently minister of the interior, the army of occupation in these provinces should long since have been removed. "After four years of war, soldiers respect the rights of nobody," he said. "In Bessarabia, where the army is kept as a protection against the Bolsheviks, the charges of mal-administration have been many. It is stated that here the army has also prevented the just operation of the law providing for the division of the land."

The gravest charges come from Transylvania and the Hungarian frontier, where the nationality bitterness has long been deep. On those members of the Hungarian nobility who have persisted in remaining on their estates are quartered a half dozen soldiers or policemen, who practically hold them prisoners. While they are not permitted to receive visitors or mail except by permission of these soldiers. Many instances are cited where the head of the house has been arrested and so harassed that he had to flee, leaving his home in the possession of his wife and daughter, much after the manner of the Russian and Polish landholders during the early stages of Bolshevism.

There are many cases cited where thoroughbred horses have been stolen and later entered into the races in the different cities of Rumania.

There have been numerous reports that the Transylvanians hope to find a way out of their difficulties by converting themselves into a small republic, if later circumstances permit, or else of again joining themselves to the Hungarians.

It is charged that the land is being taken from the rightful owners and divided up among the Rumanian carpet baggers, who in turn sell it to the Rumanian peasants of the country.

GERMAN JAILS FILLED

Wave of Criminality Shows No Sign of Abating—Many Robberies

BERLIN, June 25.—The wave of criminality in Germany shows no sign of abating. Jails are filled to capacity with the thieves, from those guilty of grand larceny down to the sneak thieves of the big city streets. Very often the arrivals have to be temporarily released from custody owing to lack of room in the penitentiaries. Here are some of the principal thefts and robberies reported in the last few days:

Burglars broke into the Berlin stock exchange and forced a safe open from which they took 3500 marks and five typewriters.

At Kreslau, the mausoleum of Field Marshal Von Moltke was broken open and the silver wreaths and crosses stolen from the sarcophagus. The field marshal's sword was found broken.

A band of armed robbers forced their way into the burgomaster's house at Egeren near Naueu, appropriated 50,000 marks belonging to the village treasury and left the burgomaster tied to a chair.

At Spandau, a mortuary chapel was stripped of its loaded window panes.

Another mortuary chapel at Slaaken was stripped of its zinc roof.

THE REHABILITATION OF CIVILIANS

An informative article on the "Rehabilitation of Civilians Handicapped," appears in the current issue of the Catholic Charities Review from the pen of May E. P. Lowmyer of Lowell, assistant director of the vocational training division of the Massachusetts Industrial accident board. The writer reviews at length the legislative steps already taken for the training and instruction of persons whose capacity to earn a living has in any way been destroyed or impaired through industrial accident and how rehabilitation work for service men has helped to crystallize public opinion in favor of a more widespread consideration of the work. The theory underlying the work, she says, is that "somewhere in the industrial sphere there is some useful work that some individual can do, even though laboring under the pressure of a physical handicap." She then continues in part as follows:

From the nature of the work the physical handicap first attracts attention. Other obvious factors to enter into the consideration of any individual case are age, education and nationality. The average age of all those referred to the Massachusetts Vocational Training division was about 41 years. Nearly one-half or 42 per cent. were non-English speaking and the great majority were lacking in educational background. About 47 per cent. were either illiterate or had not been beyond the sixth grade, which is the minimum limit in the state for the granting of work certificates, 22 per cent. had finished grammar school and only 8 per cent. had any high school work. A few more had been to trade, commercial or evening schools.

The problem, therefore, is largely one of replacing in industry handicapped men who have had little educational development, many of them unfamiliar with our language, who have passed the formative period of life, have assumed family obligations, have no surplus funds, have acquired a definite status in industry and who find themselves unable to give highest efficiency in their previous occupations. It presents angles quite different from those presented by children still in school or by the ex-service men most of whom are between the ages of 20 and 30 years, have had more educational advantages, have fewer responsibilities, no definite industrial plant and who are still plastic.

Other considerations that have their effect are the inclinations and interests of the man, his financial status, his attitude toward replacement in industry, that of the labor unions and of the prospective employer, the family and community resources, the hours and nature of the work and the physical condition and layout of the plant in relation to the man.

The degree to which these pertinent forces can be co-ordinated determines the particular occupation for which the man can be fitted and in which he can be placed to function with normal efficiency. Generalities will not suffice. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that each case must be considered individually. No general law can be laid down for grouping the handicapped and dealing with each group as a class.

Co-operation is the keynote of success; therefore the attitude of the handicapped person himself is of prime importance. It is more than likely, especially if the injury is one of long standing, that the man's muscles are flabby from disuse, his mental powers are sluggish, he has developed habits of idleness, has a strong conviction in which he is encouraged by pitying relatives and friends, that he is unable to do anything useful and is quite averse to accepting suggestions. Much can be done toward overcoming this pessimistic spirit if approach is made tactfully with sympathetic understanding, common sense and faith in human nature.

Because the man is slow to exhibit a co-operative spirit or enthusiastic desire to make good should not interfere with efforts in his behalf. Many failures on the part of the handicapped have been due to lack of understanding of their problems and the acceptance of the idea that they had outlived their usefulness, which resulted in a general prejudice against them and their relegation to the human scrap heap.

The necessary psychological adjustment should be begun early in the history of the handicap, at the bedside, if possible, and the man encouraged to cultivate an optimistic and persevering attitude and to aid in every way in his own rehabilitation. Efficiency, through effort, should be stressed throughout the activities of the care and the individual made to feel that effort on his part is necessarily the corner stone upon which success may be built.

From the early stages the benefits of mechanio, physio and occupational therapy should be applied looking forward to the best possible functional recovery for occupational adjustment. Naturally this should be done under the direction of a competent medical man familiar with the physical requirements demanded by industry and who should eventually examine the man with a view to making an appraisal of functions.

With such a background, the vocational officer in co-operation with the medical advisor, should then confer with the man and carefully assist him in choosing a suitable occupation. It may be that he can be fitted into the selected work without further testing

Terrazas' Son to Return to Mexico and Attempt Recoup Family Fortune

EL PASO, Tex., June 25.—After an exile of seven years, Alberto Terrazas, son of Gen. Luis Terrazas, once one of Chihuahua's wealthiest men, is preparing to return to Mexico and attempt to recoup the Terrazas ranches in an effort to recoup the family fortune.

At a conference here Senor Terrazas was assured by an official of the new regime that the family would be given every protection by the de facto government if they desired to gain possession of extensive lands from which they were driven by revolutionists in 1913. It is said that the Terrazas lands in Chihuahua cover millions of acres, and thousands of cattle were confiscated or stolen from them during the early days of the revolution.

400 PRIVATE STILL SEIZED

TOPEKA, June 25.—More than 400 private stills have been seized in this state by the federal agents in the past year, according to Dudley Doolittle, federal prohibition enforcement officer for Kansas.

Canada's wheat surplus this year is estimated at 150,000,000 bushels.

EXPECT GOOD CROPS IN NORTH DAKOTA

MINOT, N. D., June 25.—For the first time in five years, according to reports received here by bankers. Heavy rains of the past few weeks have given good impetus to growing grains and crops are in excellent condition, the reports say.

Corn acreage in the northwestern part of the state, bankers estimate, has been increased 35 to 40 percent over past seasons while a large percentage of flax also has been sown.

The labor situation in North Dakota farms has improved greatly and in the opinion of United States employment officials here there will be no lack of labor in the harvest fields. Many inquiries have been received from persons in the east who wish to work on North Dakota farms during the harvest. The usual number of college students are expected to be in the fields; many inquiries have already been received from them. Wages being paid by the farmers now are unusually high.

Canada's wheat surplus this year is estimated at 150,000,000 bushels.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

Marty Mink Metman Well did Phil Frog had just finished telling Mr. Tingaling about Marty Mink's bad luck, the twins, too, and how Marty had got so greedy he had dived into the fish-net and got most large and cumbersome behind him. When Phil Frog saw him coming, he gave one loud croak and dived into the water, meaning no doubt to equal his plans for the summer. With

TO LET

"BY THE GREAT HORN SPOON!" EXCLAIMED MARTY, "WHAT'S ALL THIS?"

Marty Mink home again who could tell where he might be by the Fourth of July? Along came Marty, and the thing behind him, which proved to be the very fish-net Phil Frog had told them about.

When Marty got near enough, he saw the "To Let" sign on his front door. "By the Great Horn Spoon!" exclaimed he, "what's all this? Who says my house is for rent, and where's my family? Mr. Tingaling, I suppose you've put them out because I owe you three months' rent, and then put up this sign. Did you?"

Of course Tingaling said he didn't and that, in fact, he and his friends had just arrived and that Philip Frog was responsible for it, but Marty didn't believe him.

"The very idea!" he scolded. "Don't you know that I make my living by fishing and that the ice only melted a few weeks ago, so I could set out my nets?"

It was Tingaling's turn to be surprised. "But your coat," he exclaimed. "Everyone says you're rich because you wear such an expensive coat."

"Hm!" exclaimed Marty in contempt. "Much good that does me when it won't come off! I can't tell it unless I sell myself along with it and I'd rather be poor."

Well, Tingaling was sorry for Marty, so he told the twins to help him to hunt up his family, while he went to tie a bell onto Phil Frog for nibbling into other people's business. And taking down the "To Let" sign off Marty's front door, the fairy landlord told his tenant to send him a check for his rent whenever he was good and ready.

GERMANY STILL DREAMS OF WAR AND POWER

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager N.E.A.

COLOGNE, June 25.—Although their war fleet lies at the bottom of the ocean, their air fleet has been dispersed and their once mighty army no longer exists, Germans still dream of "next wars."

I bought a pamphlet, on sale here and at Cologne. It was by Otto Auentrieth and it bore the pleasing title: "The three coming wars."

The author is no pikar. He visions nothing less than three world wars. In the beginning he contemptuously says France realizes she could not stand up alone against an armed Germany. Therefore she insists upon terms that will keep Germany in the mire.

Turning his attention to England, he says she has brought down her nearest great rival, Germany, but is now confronted by two other great rivals—Japan and America.

England has lost in the war; her influence in the east; the safety of India; her overwhelming sea power by the growth of Japanese and American fleets; her mercantile might by the growth of the trade of the same two countries, and her financial independence by her debt to America.

He figures that England, with the aid of her allies, will tackle Japan first. With Japan using China and Russia, it will be a titanic contest in which Japan will finally meet the fate Germany had. Then England will turn upon America and a new world war will be fought in which America will win because she has within herself all the human and material resources. Out of this war Germany will win complete freedom from the onerous burdens of the peace treaty. The end of the

"I never knew what to make for dessert when the maid's away," said Mrs. Martin as she glanced at the clock, and put aside her sewing.

"Let me get it for you," said Mrs. Blair who was visiting her for a few days. "I'd love to do it."

Dinner time came, and Mrs. Blair, who had insisted on making the dessert with utmost secrecy, left the table and returned with a rich, brown chocolate blanc mange.

"Tastes even better than it looks," said Mrs. Martin, delightedly. "How did you make it?"

"Why, it's Pudding," replied Mrs. Blair, mysteriously, "wonderful Pudding."

"I insist upon knowing all about it. Where did you get it, and what is it?" laughed her friend.

"I'll tell you. I slipped out and got it at your grocer's," said Mrs. Blair. "Back home I can't tell you, but it was one thing I couldn't make. It was cornstarch pudding or blanc mange. Then I heard of Pudding."

"Is it hard to make or expensive?" interrupted Mrs. Martin.

"Oh, no, indeed. All you have to do is to add milk, either fresh or condensed, and sugar, and boil for three minutes. Then when it's cool, you have a firm, rich mound of delicious creamy dessert. A 15c box of Pudding will serve 15 people, or a 10c box seven people."

"The only thing is," objected Mrs. Martin, "the children are not so fond of chocolate, and I guess it's really too rich for them, anyhow."

"Oh, no, not," exclaimed Mrs. Blair. "I don't know. Why, it's so pure and wholesome you can let them have as much as they want—and it comes in all number of flavors—rose, vanilla, orange, lemon—and you can make all sorts of things with Pudding—creamy cake and pie fillings, and smooth ice cream."

"That being the case," smiled Mr. Martin, who had listened to their conversation with interest. "I vote for Pudding. It certainly is good."

Pudding can be had at your grocer's. Order a box today!—Adv.

Wigginville and So. Lowell
Beyond Bridge

After repeated warnings, dating back well over a year, the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. will discontinue service over the Lawrence street bridge spanning the Concord river on July 1 and thus will cut off a large part of the South Lowell and Wigginville districts from car service.

The reason for this action is the belief that the bridge in question is unsafe for car traffic. The city authorities are just beginning to take action toward the reconstruction of the bridge, but should the work start at once, it would be well into the fall before it would be completed.

Facing a deficit of $75,000 for the first five months of 1920, the company does not feel that it can afford to pay out the extra expense that would result from having temporary service while the bridge is being reconstructed. Through a letter from Manager Thomas Lees of the Lowell district, the street railway home rule committee yesterday afternoon became aware of the situation. The committee felt that it could do nothing except to place the communication on file.

Meeting in Detail
The meeting was called at 4.20 with Mr. Sullivan presiding in the absence of Chairman O'Tourke.

Secretary Curtin read a letter from Manager Lees, stating that he would be unable to be present.

In his letter Manager Lees made mention of the fact that the company is on record as having notified the city officials that it would not assume the responsibility of operating cars over the Lawrence street bridge after July 1. The city is preparing to build a new concrete bridge and is now advertising for bids. The city engineer advised Mr. Lees that the work will probably take four or five months. To furnish service to South Lowell and Wigginville during this period would cost the company $40 a day for wages alone. In view of a deficit of about $75,000 during the first five months of

Hair Kept Beautifully Wavy, Indoors or Out!

If you will apply a little liquid summer before going up your hair it will have a prettier wave and curl than probably it has ever had. The waviness will look perfectly natural, and the hair will be sleek and glossy like plush. It will remain in curl the longest time, regardless of heat, wind or moisture, and you won't have to be continually fussing with loose strands or flying ends.

Liquid summer is, of course, entirely harmless. It leaves no sticky, greasy or streaky trace. It is also an excellent dressing for the hair, keeping it delightfully soft and silky. A few ounces from your druggist will last for weeks. It is best applied with a clean tooth brush, drawing this down the full length of the hair.—Adv.

1920, the company did not feel that it could bear this expense.

Mr. Curtin said that Supt. Leavitt had told him that the cost of maintaining service in South Lowell while the bridge was being constructed would be very great.

A delegation from the South Lowell Improvement association was to have appeared before the committee to discuss the matter, but it failed to put in an appearance.

It was suggested that jitneys be used at that section where the company would cease to operate during the period of construction.

It was voted to have Mr. Lees' communication placed on file.

A letter from H. F. Rich, assistant general manager of the company, to Manager Lees stated that it would not be feasible to increase the service on the Gorham street line at the present time as suggested by the committee.

Mr. Ricard moved that for the next two months the committee meet only on the second Thursday of each month instead of twice a month as has been the custom up to the present time. It was so voted.

Adjourned at 4.45 until the second Thursday of July.

The honey crop of the United States is estimated at 250,000,000 pounds, valued at $20,000,000.

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is non-toxic and four ounces is all you will need. No matter how much dandruff you have, this simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

ADJUDGES DR. KEOWN OF LYNN INSANE

SALEM, June 25.—Dr. James A. Keown, president of the Lynn Biological society, has been adjudged insane by Superintendent John B. MacDonald of Danvers Insane asylum, according to a statement made by S. Howard Donnell, district attorney of Essex county.

This decision from the head of the hospital adds another move in one of the most interesting commitment cases in the court annals of Essex county, and several more decisions will have to be rendered before Dr. Keown can be permanently committed to the hospital for the insane.

Next Monday in the federal court at Boston, a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, filed a short time after the Lynn doctor-lawyer had been sent to the institution for observation, will be heard. Dr. Keown will be brought from Danvers to support his claims.

A hearing to decide final commitment of Dr. Keown, scheduled to be held in the Essex county superior court, was postponed indefinitely this afternoon on account of the proximity of the federal court case.

TO INDICT MORE OIL STOCK PROMOTERS

NEW YORK, June 25.—A dozen or more of the fifty prisoners caught in a net spread by postoffice inspectors for operators suspected of using the mails to defraud through the sale of worthless oil stocks were expected to appear in federal court here today for arraignment on indictments returned yesterday. The indictments, five in number, charge four oil companies, 10 brokerage companies, and 30 individuals with having used the mails to circulate "literature" which resulted in the purchase of worthless stock by hundreds of customers. Federal authorities said the total of sales would run into the millions. Further indictments are promised.

Louis C. Van Riper, former secretary to Thomas W. Lawson was the only one of the indicted men who appeared in court yesterday. He appeared voluntarily and was held in $20,000 bail. The indictment against Van Riper named also the United Securities company, of New York and Boston, in which he is said to be heavily interested. The Ranger Co., and Curtis Parker and Co., New York, brokers. All are charged with promoting the sale of Ranger company stock which the indictment states represents no more interests than one dry well.

JACOB DE HAAS TALKS

Outlines Proposed Program of American Zionists in Palestine

LONDON, June 25.—Public ownership of land, a co-operative commonwealth, and equal rights for all, were advocated here yesterday as the three leading principles in the social program American Zionists desire incorporated in the project for a Jewish Homeland in Palestine, by Jacob de Haas, executive secretary of the Zionist Organization of America.

Mr. de Haas arrived in London yesterday with United States Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis, honorary president of the Zionist Organization of America; Judge Julian W. Mack, president; Nathan Straus, Mrs. Mary Felt, Professor Felix Frankfurter, Capt. Abraham Tulin, David Rosenbloom and Louis Lipsky, organization secretary. These are the advance guard of the 39 delegates of American Zionists to the World Zionist conference, convening in London July 4.

American Zionists will make a united effort to have the Pittsburgh program, which they adopted in 1918 as the guiding social principles for the Jewish Homeland, approved by the world conference, in the program it will formulate for the policy to be carried out in Palestine. Mr. de Haas in the statement he gave out on the eve of what is considered the most significant Jewish world conference ever held, stressed the progressive tenets of the Pittsburgh program, declaring:

"The Zionists are not going to be satisfied with a Palestine or land of Israel, which will be a mere duplicate of the numerous small states of Europe or South America. They believe that the 2,000 years of suffering and martyrdom of the wandering Jew has given to our race a wealth of experience which, added to the ancient heritage of the Jew, can be made fruitful in the creation of a model settlement in the land of our forefathers.

"The Pittsburgh platform may be summarized as follows: (1) Public Ownership of Land; (2) The Co-operative Commonwealth; (3) Equal Rights. The first is expressed in the phrase that the land of Palestine shall be owned or controlled for the benefit of the people of Palestine as a whole. The Zionists of America have resolved that the benefits which come through increasing land values will not go into the pockets of land speculators, but will always remain 'community values,' which will go into the public treasury. "The second principle indicates that the Zionists of America are resolved to encourage co-operative enterprise to the largest extent possible, so that a co-operative commonwealth may be gradually evolved, without, however, crushing individual initiative. There is no simple formula by which the co-operative commonwealth can be achieved—it must be a development through struggle and experimentation. In any event, we have set the goal! "The third principle is one with which all Americans are familiar—at least in theory, though we may fall short in actual practice. Whereas, we confine our program of 'equal rights' to the narrow field of politics, the Zionists of America would apply it to all of Palestine life—to politics and economics, to law and industry, to man and woman, to every sect and every creed."

"DEAD MAN'S CLUB" FOR EX-SOLDIERS

AKRON, O., June 25.—A dead man's club, composed exclusively of ex-service men now living but listed officially as killed in action overseas, is the latest kind of fraternal organization suggested by William Wirt of this city.

Wirt is having a hard time trying to convince the government that he isn't dead and buried in France. His name now is being chiselled from the

Wirt estimates there are nearly 2000 ex-service men now living, whom the war department records show were killed and buried overseas. He also declared that court records show about 900 men declared officially dead who are still alive. He suggests they organize a "Dead Man's Club" and adopt the slogan, "We may be dead but we won't lie down."

BEAUTIFUL LAWN

THAT IS NOT A LAWN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 25.—A lawn that is not a lawn, but looks like a lawn and is said by its owner to be better than a lawn—a waterless, mow-erless, weedless, gopherless lawn,—in short, a cement "lawn," painted grass-green, has made its appearance in front of a Los Angeles bungalow.

Mrs. A. C. Woodward, inventor and owner, says it saves time, money and worry. She never has to water it; she never has to cut it; it is always dry enough to sit on—and it needs painting only once a year.

She has circular holes cut through the lawn and in them and along the edges she has flowers planted.

"I invented the cement lawn," she said, "because of trouble I had in getting a man to take care of my old grass lawn. It cost only $65.

"You don't know what a blessing it is," she continued. "Do you know, I believe there would be much less unhappiness in married life if the husband would use a cement instead of a grass lawn and so avoid having to come home after work and run an old lawn-mower over the front yard every night."

WOMEN ARE URGED TO WEAR OLD CLOTHES TO THE CONVENTION

clubs, is urged by Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, president of the federation.

"War-time thrift must prevail if we are to help right conditions. There is no need for a denim or gingham dress rage which would simply make it harder for the women who really need such things. Make over what you have. Come to the convention with a story of thrift that will thrill other women into doing likewise," said Mrs. Cowles' appeal.

No senator holding office, was ever elected to the presidency.

RED PILLS

Will give Strength and Health to Suffering Women

For years my life had been made very miserable by my excessive weakness, palpitations, heart trouble and nervousness. I was in reality a very sick woman, could not digest my food properly and besides could never enjoy a good night's rest. I took different kinds of medicine which did not seem to do me any good at all. Then I tried the RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women and was soon delighted with the results obtained, as they made me strong, purified my blood and restored my good health. —Mrs. Edward Burel, 479 Moody Street, Lowell, Mass.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women make blood, and offer great relief to women who are anaemic. They tone up the general system, strengthen the constitution, rouse the appetite and in fact restore good health to women who are suffering.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are invaluable to every woman, as they not only relieve, but also prevent, the periodical pains, headaches and backaches, nervousness, fainting spells, etc., to which young girls, young women and women are exposed.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are prepared especially for women's particular ailments, and a woman may take them at all times, as they will not in any way disturb her in her daily occupations.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes, $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price.—Franco American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston.

From week to week I was getting so listless and tired, that I had no appetite and my sleep was disturbed by the different pains and ailments which were bothering me. RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, which I took regularly for several months, gave me very gratifying results. I gained several pounds in flesh, got stronger and in fact soon enjoyed the best of health.

The Tight Banking Crisis is Passing Away

CREDIT

To Everyone is Coming to Its Normal Condition

During the last three months, the general public has enjoyed more credit from merchants, especially from Lowell's Leading Credit House, Shadduck and Normandin, than the dealers themselves have from the banking institutions all over the country.

But, the crisis is fast passing away and things are coming to their normal conditions. We were fully prepared for this peculiar situation and everyone has had all the credit he wanted at all times.

DELEGATES INJURED

Platform at Baptist Convention Fail—Opposes U. S. Meddling in British Affairs

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—A temporary platform at the Broadway auditorium on which 100 delegates to the Northern Baptist convention were having their pictures taken, collapsed a few minutes after the close of this morning's session. Three persons were severely hurt and several others were cut and bruised. Most of the 3500 delegates had left the building and those who were inside when the platform fell continued to leave the exits without confusion.

The convention today by a unanimous vote condemned "propaganda, religious or political, which induces the government of the United States to meddle with the affairs of Great Britain." The preamble of the resolution declared "that we believe that it is in the interests of Protestantism and humanity that peaceful relations should be maintained between United States and Great Britain, the two great English speaking peoples of the world. The convention voted to hold its 1921 session at Winona Lake, Indiana.

The plans for enlarging the work of the missions and for the standardization of the requirements for ordination were adopted without change by the convention upon recommendation of the respective committees.

R. R. BOARD'S WAGE AWARD NEXT WEEK

CHICAGO, June 25.—The railroad labor board may hand down its decision fixing new wage schedules for all classes of railroad workers next week. No date can be set definitely, however, according to Judge R. M. Barton, chairman of the board, as reconsideration of the assembled decisions may delay the final award for a week or more.

Judge Barton denied reports that the board faced a deadlock because of the widely divergent opinions of the members representing the roads and men. Admitting that there was a natural difference of opinion as to what increases should be granted, the chairman said no unsurmountable difficulties had been encountered.

Double Victory for Yale

Junior varsity two-mile races well ahead of their Crimson rivals. The Yale adherents, as a result, were predicting a cleanup by a third victory in the four-mile varsity contest scheduled for late this afternoon.

Win After Bitter Struggle

The winning of the New Haven college crews while decisive in each instance was not achieved without a bitter struggle, for in both races the Harvard eight jumped into the lead at the start and fought gamely to maintain their advantage until the contents had progressed well toward the finish line. It was in the final stretches of the races that the power and rowing form of the Yale oarsmen began to count and once well to the fore with the finish flags in sight the Ell eight rowed rapidly to victory.

Weather and water conditions were extremely favorable for fast time and the shells swept down the Thames under the power of sturdy sweep swimmers and wind and tide an exceptional pace. These conditions were reflected in the times. Yale winning the freshmen in about 10 minutes 3 3/5 seconds, while the Cambridge crew trailed home in 10:06. In the junior varsity Yale's margin was close to a length and a half with official times announced as Yale 10:6 3/5 and Harvard 10:10.

Harvard on Jump

The waters of the Thames were flowing fast toward the ocean when the freshmen took their places at the starting flags at Bartlett's cove a few minutes before the scheduled time for time. At 1:56 Referee McKeljohn shouted the command to go and Harvard's yearlings caught the water first with a 44 stroke. Yale was a beat slower. In choppy water and under a cloudy sky the racing craft fairly leaped down the river. Both eights were rowing a 36 beat at the half mile with Harvard leading by a scant quarter length. At the mile the positions were relatively the same. In the final mile Harvard endeavored to increase its advantage, but Yale with plenty of reserve, quickly accepted the challenge and overtook Harvard without apparent effort.

The wind had died away somewhat before the Junior varsity eights got the starting signal at 1:37, with the sun breaking through the grey clouds. The start of the second race was similar to that of the opening event. Both strokes hit up a stroke well into the forties and for a few lengths the prow of the Harvard shell showed in front.

Blue Overcomes Crimson

Then the drive of the Yale blades began to count and slowly the Blue craft slid to the front, never to be headed. At the half mile flag the Ell shell was leading by a third of a length and at the end of the first mile had increased the distance to a scant half length.

Here Harvard made its bid for an even break in the forenoon races and by a sustained spurt forced the Crimson tipped bow almost to even terms with the speeding Ells. The Yale juniors scented the danger. With additional heave and beat, the Blue shell forged to the fore, and with their rivals fast firing under the strain of their previous efforts, the

One Month of Partridge Shooting Announced by State Authorities

Wild Duck Season Opens Sept. 16—Pheasant Season Same as Partridge

Hare and Rabbit Season Limited—Deer Season First Week in December

ridge was the first in the history of Massachusetts and while the division officials believed that the close season should be continued another year to allow the large number of birds now in our covers to further increase it was finally decided to have an open season after considering the reports of the large numbers that survived the severe winter with the assistance of the Boy Scouts, members of the local Fish and Game association, and other interested persons who gave of their time and efforts to feed them during the severe weather and also because of the fact that they bred in large numbers this spring.

Nothing short of a catastrophe can prevent goodly numbers of this "king of all game birds" from being ready and waiting next fall to match their wits against the wily huntsman when the battle starts. The bag limit on partridge is three in one day or 15 in one season.

Although the first open season of real interest to local gunners will be the wild duck season which will open on September 16th, the upland bird season not starting until October 20th, yet many look forward with eager anticipation for the official announcement from the fish and game officials so as to plan their vacations at a time when they can hit the trail of carefree recreation.

The Pheasant Season

The open season on pheasants will be the same as for partridge that is, from October 20th to November 20th, inclusive, with a bag limit of two in one day or six in one season with a carryover known as snow shoe rabbits.

Further restriction of reporting each killing in writing to the division of fisheries and game at the state house within 24 hours under penalty for failure to do so. The division of fisheries and game is making a special effort this year to produce large numbers of these highly desirable game birds at their game farms and northern Middlesex county will undoubtedly receive a large number for stocking the covers hereabout. As a game bird the pheasant is considered second only to the partridge but if there is an ardent pheasant hunter around it would not do to emphasize second too strongly for one is apt to start a strenuous argument to the contrary.

Last year Middlesex led all the counties of the state in the number of pheasants reported killed, there being 855 reported killed in this county while the entire state produced only 3506, over one-third being killed hereabout.

The woodcock season will be from October 20th to November 20th and these being a migratory bird it is difficult to surmise the number that are likely to be available during the open season as the weather is an important factor in the time of their flight.

Middlesex county is closed to quail shooting until 1922.

The squirrel season will be the same as for upland game with a limit of five in one day or 15 in one season.

The hare and rabbit season this year has been limited from October 20th to January 31st with a bag limit of five rabbits and two Canada hares, or one day or six in one season with a carryover known as snow shoe rabbits.

in one day. This is a new departure from previous years when the month of February was open season on rabbits but then the rabbit hunter cannot kick as he still has a longer season for his sport than any other hunter with the possible exception of the fox hunter. The use or possession of firearms is strictly prohibited.

The first week in December will be open season on deer, only one being allowed to a hunter in a season and they cannot be hunted with dogs or rifles. A written report of each deer killed must be made to the division of fisheries and game at the state house within 24 hours. Thirteen were killed in Middlesex county last year.

Fur-Bearing Animals

Although Lowell and vicinity is not ordinarily thought of as producing many furs yet there are many who not a good livelihood from hunting these animals since the enormous demand for their shining pelts has sent the prices skyward in keeping with the times, as well as the many that hunt them for sport.

For the first time in the history of this commonwealth we have a closed season provided for these animals. After August 10th it will be unlawful to hunt, pursue, take or kill or have in possession musk-rats, minks, otters, skunks or raccoons, except during the open season which will be from October 1st to March 1st, both inclusive, with the exception that raccoons can be hunted during October and muskrats can be hunted during April. As a matter of fact this movement was started last year when a law was passed placing a close season on raccoons. Only 25 raccoons can be taken by a hunter or trapper in one season.

The placing of a close season on fur-bearing animals is but another epoch in the necessary conservation of our wild life. The first fish and game law was written in the code of Plymouth colony in 1623 which provided that all fishing and hunting should be free to all inhabitants of the colony but even at that early day they saw the necessity of limiting certain forms of hunting and fishing for they provided in the covenant that the general court could make regulations in this connection.

With steady increase in the population of Massachusetts from that little band of Pilgrims to the splendid commonwealth of today and with the forward trend of civilization into hill and dale, forest and stream, it was as inevitable as the waning of the moon that restraints should be placed on hunting and fishing if a portion of the natural supply of wild creatures was to be preserved for posterity, so consequently each succeeding general court has placed additional restrictions on hunting privileges until today we find a law on our statute books protecting the last remaining useful wild creatures who formerly had to shift for themselves during the 12 months of the year, namely the fur-bearing animals who roam the woods and dwell in the banks of our streams.

ing his wits against the wild creatures, even if he gets but one bird and he is sure of getting more of the health and happiness that lurks in the woods and hills than the fellow who goes out with the sole idea of getting his limit on every species.

Then again we should realize the economic value of the birds to our agricultural interests and keep in mind that if our birds should by chance be exterminated our food supply and forests would be seriously endangered.

Lowell is fortunate in having a fish and game association representing all walks of life, men of the live wire type who are deeply interested in the conservation of our natural resources and there is no better way of showing your appreciation of the sport provided you today or your desire to maintain it together with a high standard sportsmanship than by inscribing your name on its roster.

Game Laws Ready Soon

Persons should not forget that a hunting or fishing license is necessary before they can lawfully hunt, pursue, take or kill any bird or quadruped or take a gun into the woods or fish in stocked waters. These can be obtained at the office of Stephen Flynn, city clerk, city hall.

Boys under 15 cannot have a license to hunt and licenses are issued only at the discretion of the city clerk to boys between 15 and 18.

Unnaturalized foreign born residents who do not own real estate in this state which is taxed for at least $500 are not eligible for a hunting license and cannot have firearms in possession.

Persons should not strive to bag the last bird in the covers as the real sportsman gets his pleasure in match-

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoon oil shampoos (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Use an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoon oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adx.

GREAT AUDITORIUM

Description of Mammoth Structure Where Democratic Convention Will be Held

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—When a democratic national convention meets here June 28 it will have available for the first time accommodations in the Exposition Memorial Auditorium building sufficient to house under one roof not only the convention proper, but committee meetings and headquarters for candidates as well.

These are largely to be utilized, according to J. Bruce Kremer, of Butte, Mont., vice chairman of the national committee, thus avoiding the inconvenience and delay usually attendant upon holding indoor conferences away from the convention hall.

In addition to the main auditorium, the maximum capacity of which Mr. Kremer estimated at 12,500 persons, the building contains two auxiliary halls, one that will seat 900 persons and the other 750. There are 19 rooms that may be used for smaller meetings.

A fence around the entire building, with entrance gates for ticket-holding spectators, delegates, officials and news writers, will be used by police and convention authorities to prevent crowds from rushing doorkeepers to obtain admittance. This has occurred several times during national party conventions.

The auditorium for three weeks past has been a scene of noisy activity. Platform, 30 by 10 feet and 10 feet high, on the south side of the big hall just in front of the great organ and opposite the main entrance, several feet lower and extending along the greater part of that side of the auditorium is the press section with seats for 516 working news writers. Back of the speakers' platform in sound-proof rooms are telephone booths and fully equipped accommodations for press associations and newspaper men.

The central portion of the main floor is reserved for the 102 delegates and a like number of alternates. Around this space a solid railing has been raised to keep back spectators that are admitted to this floor. To aid these onlookers a platform one foot high has been built over the entire space they will occupy. The balcony, sweeping around three sides of the auditorium, will seat 4416 persons.

Covering the dome is a canopy weighing 16 tons that forms a false ceiling. This and draperies on the walls and in the corners are designed to improve the acoustics.

The auditorium will be equipped with all modern electrical devices, including sound-carrying wires and a telephone system that will enable the chairman to transmit orders from the platform to the sergeant-at-arms and other officials and these in turn to speak to their deputies in any part of the great hall.

A complete hospital under the direction of the Red Cross and a large restaurant and lunch room have been installed.

Despite the fact that the $2,000,000 four-story granite and concrete structure was erected only five years ago, the interior has been entirely renovated and repainted. Flags are to be used in the decorations, which with a secret decorative effect to be presented on opening day, are described as "typically Californian."

Weather records running back to 1871 indicate cool "top seat" weather for the convention period. Overcoats and hats of spectators and participants may be checked free of charge in permanent stations scattered throughout the building.

The auditorium stands in the open civic center that offers much space for parking automobiles. One corner touches Market street, the city's principal thoroughfare, which has two surface street car lines running in each direction, and it is 11 blocks from the Palace hotel where national committee headquarters are located.

The San Francisco committee that pledged $125,000 to bring the convention here is headed by Charles W. Fay, postmaster; George P. Mara, of Bridgeport, Conn., representing Homer S. Cummings, of Stamford, Conn., chairman of the democratic national committee, has been here for nearly six months overseeing arrangements for the convention.

Cummings is to be temporary chairman of the convention. He will be presented by Kremer, vice chairman of the national committee.

E. G. Hoffman of Fort Wayne, Ind., secretary of the committee will act in a similar capacity for the convention, being assisted by W. R. Hollister, of Jefferson City, Mo., executive secretary of the committee. Col. John L. Martin of St. Louis is honorary sergeant-at-arms and J. J. Hughes, of Oklahoma City, Okla., is active sergeant-at-arms.

Wilbur W. Marsh, of Waterloo, Iowa, is treasurer of the national committee and W. D. Jamison of Washington, D. C., is director of finance.

The press section will be in charge of James D. Preston, superintendent of the United States senate press gallery, assisted by William B. Donaldson, superintendent of the house of representatives press gallery.

HARVARD AND TECH JOIN

Movement to Dispel or Allay Undergraduate Bogy of Final Examinations

CAMBRIDGE, June 25.—The faculties of Harvard university and Massachusetts Institute of Technology have taken action to dispel or to allay the undergraduate bogy of final examinations.

The tests which the students of the institute have undergone this month may be the last of the kind at "Tech." A committee of faculty members, alumni and undergraduates have been appointed to investigate methods of testing the college man's knowledge and proficiency in studies other than the customary examination. This step followed unsuccessful attempts to have the students accept the honor system.

At Harvard there has been no consideration of the proposal to do away with examinations, but there has been action to ease the mental strain which they put on the students. The soothing charms attributed to music, and its power to stimulate sluggish minds to active thought, have been called upon as first aid to undergraduates beset with troublesome tests.

Under the direction of Prof. A. T. Davidson, university choirmaster, musical recitals of ten minutes each have been given daily in Appleton chapel during the examination season. They have been held in the morning, just before the first of the day's examinations was to begin. The programs consisted of light classical selections, and proved popular alike among men who had sat up all night with their books and hollow-eyed and nervous, sought rest and calm; and among others who, after a night of sleep, sought from the music a mental stimulus for the tests which lay ahead.

Ten per cent. of the farm employees of Kansas, who joined the army, have returned to the farms.

Fortieth Anniversary of Lowell's Largest and Liveliest Store

Forty years ago this month, we bought out the stock and good will of Wheeler & Son, Clothiers, American House Block, and commenced to do business in a small store in this block. A wonderful success followed and store after store was added as the increasing business demanded it, until today we have the finest clothing store, the best display front, the most modern, up-to-date clothing store in New England. Today we feel we should join with the Lowell citizens and celebrate our success with a

CIVIL WAR HAS BEEN QUELLED

Troops Restore Order, at Least Temporarily, in Londonderry—Death List 21

Snipers Busy—Searchlight
From Warship Used to Locate Men

LONDONDERRY, June 25.—Civil war has been quelled, at least temporarily in this city, by the activities of British troops rushed here from Belfast. Last night and today the troops drove the warring elements out of the streets. At midnight machine gun fire was heard in various parts of the town, but later only isolated shots were heard. The total deaths since the trouble started last Friday now stand at 21, two persons having died today. They were Patrick Mallitt and a youth named Peter Campbell.

Fighting between the warring factions since midnight was confined to sniping, the rival elements evidently fearing to attempt massed activities in view of the increased military forces. The soldiers, in trying to ferret out snipers, took over St. Columbkille's college. The trees in the campus had sheltered a number of snipers.

Snipers Busy
LONDON, June 25.—Snipers were busy in Londonderry during the past night, according to a Central News despatch from that city. Troops on guard there fired on disorderly elements several times and also dispersed looters.

At about midnight the firing became so intense that the searchlight on the destroyer anchored in the harbor was turned on the city in an endeavor to locate the men engaged in the fighting. A former soldier named Austin was killed while crossing a street.

Outrages Against Sinn Féiners
BANTRY, County Cork, Ireland, June 25.—An apparently concerted series of outrages against Sinn Féiners here last night resulted in one death and the burning of several homes and shops. Cornelius Crowley, 28 years old, was shot dead in bed by a group of masked men who later set fire to the shop and dwelling of a local merchant. Both Crowley and the merchant in question were reputed to be prominent in Sinn Féin circles.

Three other houses were broken into and threats of shooting were made against the occupants. One of these houses was destroyed and the two others were damaged by fire. An attempt was made to burn stores on the quay, where the employees are all Sinn Féiners. The residence of the recently elected chairman of the guardians of the Sinn Féin also was destroyed by fire.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. John J. Poole and Miss Frances V. Roberts were married Wednesday at St. Peter's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. D. J. Heffernan. The bride wore a blue suit with white picture hat and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Jennie Kelly, who was attired in a blue suit with hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. James Conley. The bride's gift to the bride was a white sapphire ring, while the groom's favor to the best man was a pair of gold cuff links. At the close of the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride, 263 Thorncliffe street, where a reception was held in the evening.

Godin—Raymond
The marriage of Mr. Louis Godin and Mrs. Elmina Raymond took place June 21 at Notre Dame de Lourdes' church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., pastor. The couple will make their home in this city.

Would Ignore Prohibition

place, the senator on the floor of the convention although the Missouri state convention rejected him as a delegate-at-large, was expected, and because of his attitude toward the administration during senate battles over the peace treaty it was said to be possible that strong resistance would be met before the committee. The third contest from Oregon was not regarded as a serious case and might not, it was said, materialize at all. In fact national committee officials did not know before they assembled to examine credentials what appearance was to be made in any of the contests. Overnight developments showed two matters that have been in a nebulous state to be approaching more definite shape.

Boom For McAdoe
These were the mysterious and persistent boom for nomination of William G. McAdoe, even against his flat declaration that he was not a candidate and the conflict as to a prohibition enforcement plank in the platform. McAdoe advocates were said early today to be shaping their plans to withhold his name from the balloting throughout the early stages. They have learned that the former secretary of the treasury still has a strong following, but feel that, in view of his attitude, it would not be expedient to present his name until the deadlock between the leading candidates, Palmer and Cox, should develop. In that event there appeared to be little doubt that McAdoe would be put forward to break the blockade with the assurance of considerable strength at the start. His friends are said to have put their heads together to formulate plans of this nature and map out strategy of the subsequent campaign to obtain for him two-thirds majority on which democratic nominations must rest.

Would Ignore Prohibition
On the prohibition enforcement question heretofore the most prominent subject of discussion in convention circles, there developed the story of a movement to ignore the question entirely in the platform. Suggestions of this nature came to Chairman Cummings of the national committee from camps representing various shades of opinion ranging from bone dry to almost completely wet. These feelers toward a harmony program were not clear enough today among workers for various presidential candidates. The first of the large delegations will arrive within the next two days and preparations for missionary work among the members were in progress. Various combinations for the ticket were being talked over with a view to arranging to secure for this or that aspirant votes to be brought to his standard through a pre-arranged agreement as to the vice presidency. None of these tentative tickets appeared, however, to have more strength than the speculation of campaigning managers.

Gerard for Irish Freedom
James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany and mentioned as a candidate for the presidential nomination, arrived here last night. Mr. Gerard said he favored a declaration in the platform to the effect that before the United States becomes a member of the League of Nations, it requests other members to release any nation under their domination that is capable of self government. Mr. Gerard said it would not be necessary to name such nations but it would have the effect of giving freedom to Ireland.

Mr. Gerard favored immediate peace and the ratification of the peace treaty with such reservations as would not nullify its object. He expressed the opinion that the sentiment of the country was in favor of prohibition and he favored leaving the question out of the platform.

Refuses to Give Up Smyrna
Eastern Thrace

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The Turkish peace delegation in Paris has been instructed from Constantinople that the Turkish government will uncompromisingly refuse to sign any peace treaty which deprives Turkey of the Smyrna district, Adrianople, or Eastern Thrace. In this main, it is indicated the government agrees to the other territorial limitations fixed by the entente.

The Mayor is Indignant

calling for bids which will be opened next Monday afternoon, the city engineer has done all the necessary preliminary work such as surveying, drawing plans, etc., and we are about to award the contract. The desires of the railway company have been met in every respect by the city. The company is to have all the work done without a cent of expense. Their tracks will be re-laid and the road put in better condition than it has been in the past.

"Not only in this matter but in various other requests which the company has made in the past few years the city has co-operated to the fullest extent. We have driven the jitneys from the city at the request of the company. Its own officials have openly stated that no other city in its system has given more co-operation than Lowell. And now when it comes to a matter of a few dollars' extra expense, we find that there isn't a bit of co-operation coming from the other side."

"I did not have the slightest intimation that the company intended to stop its South Lowell and Wiggsville service after July 1 until I read of it today. I did not know that the statement had been made that 'no cars would be run over the Lawrence street bridge after July 1, but never in the world did I dream that the high-handed step of discontinuing service in a large residential district would be taken."

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, under whose direction the bridge is to be re-constructed does not feel much better about the matter than the mayor. He, too, says that the city has followed out the railway company's wishes in every respect. He will write to the public service commission immediately asking that the company be required to give some kind of service during the reconstruction work on the bridge.

City Engineer Stephen Kearney says that Manager Lee spoke to him a few days ago relative to having temporary tracks across the bridge while it was being rebuilt and that a conference was to have been held on the matter at a later date. At that time there was no intimation that the company intended to discontinue service, Mr. Kearney said.

There is no reason, in the opinion of the city engineer, why cars cannot be run across the bridge. It is not unsafe for the light type of car that is customarily used on the lines in question.

George F. Wells, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, who was recently appointed a member of the home rule committee, held a conference with the mayor and Messrs. Murphy and Kearney this morning and assured them that the chamber of commerce would assist in any way possible to provide service for the South Lowell and Wiggsville people.

FIVE DAYS A WEEK

The Lawrence Mfg. Co., which a few weeks ago discharged several hundred of its employees, is now operating on a five-day-a-week schedule. The operatives are paid off on Friday and the plant closes Friday evenings. This is due, it is said, to the scarcity of orders and this schedule will be maintained until further notice.

DISTRIBUTION OF VICTORY MEDALS

In regard to the distribution of victory medals, Sergt. A. C. MacLeod of the local army recruiting station stated today that all details are in charge of an officer and corps of field clerks at the army base, South Boston, and that all service or ex-service men must make application for the medals there.

The blanks to be filled out are being distributed at that base and men may secure them either in person or by written application to the Boston recruiting office, 3 Tremont row.

These applications must be filled out with a typewriter, and together with the discharge papers must be sworn to before a civil officer and returned to the recruiting office to be forwarded to the supply depot at Philadelphia.

The medals and clasps and the papers forwarded will then be sent directly to the applicant from Philadelphia.

France and Allies on Good Terms

PARIS, June 25.—Most cordial relations exist between France and her allies said Premier Millerand in the chamber of deputies today. Questioned regarding "divergencies between France and the allied nations the premier declared amid applause from the entire house: "Never has the union been closer than now between England, Italy and France."

AMERICAN RELIEF AT HIGHWAY IN BILLERICA SMYRNA DISCONTINUED

NEW YORK, June 25.—American relief activities have been discontinued in Smyrna, headquarters for the Greek forces in Turkey, it was announced here today by the Near East relief. Orphan asylums and other institutions maintained in the city by the relief society have been turned over to an Armenian committee. Stabilization of conditions in the vicinity of Smyrna and the organization of Armenians themselves is given as the reason for the dropping of the American efforts there.

HARDING MEETS COL. ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, June 25.—A conference with Col. Theodore Roosevelt, a son of the former president, was the only pre-arranged engagement Senator Warren G. Harding, the republican presidential nominee, had for today.

Colonel Roosevelt is one of the leaders in the progressive wing of the party who were invited to come here by Mr. Harding to discuss policies and campaign plans.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

Pursuant to a license to sell real estate, to me, issued by the Probate Court for the County of Suffolk, dated September 15, 1919, there will be sold at public auction on the premises in Friendship Street near the corner of Lexington Road, Billerica, Mass., on Tuesday, the 13th day of July, 1920, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the following described real estate: Two lots of land situated in Billerica, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, numbered one hundred five (105) and one hundred six (106). Said lots appear on a plan known as Nuttings Lake Park Extension "D," dated November, 1914, and made by C. A. Thayer, C. E., and recorded with Middlesex North District, Registry of Deeds, Book of Plans 32, Plan 49, said lots in all containing four thousand (4000) square feet, more or less.

should take either one or the other precautionary measure above set forth to protect itself.

"The above advice covers the situation where the county commissioners have made no entry and done no construction work.

"In an opinion rendered to your department on January 6, 1920, it was set forth that it had been the practice in the past that when it was desired to relocate a state highway the relocation was made in the first instance by the county commissioners and then taken over as a state highway; this procedure having been employed in order to place the land and grade damages upon the county, city or town primarily benefited. The commonwealth will be doubly protected if the actual entry and some construction work is done in the first instance by the county, city or town and then have the commonwealth take over the relocation and secure a stipulation or indemnification from the county, city or town, as the case may be."

SUCCEEDS IN FORMING GERMAN CABINET

COPENHAGEN, June 25.—Konstantin Fehrenbach, German chancellor succeeded in forming a cabinet of representatives of the centrist, democratic and German peoples party, last night, according to a Berlin dispatch to the National Tidende. Those accepting portfolios in the new government include, Carl Heinze, minister of justice and vice chancellor, Finance, Dr. Wirth, interior, Herr Koch, defense, Herr Gessler, transport, General Groener, commerce, Herr Scholl, postmaster general, Johann Giesberts, labor, Herr Von Braun.

Heinze, Wirth, Koch, Gessler and Giesberts were members of the Fehrenbach cabinet formed on June 21 and which resigned immediately after its formation when the majority socialists refused to support it.

EXPERT CABINET

Poland's New Government Non-Political

WARSAW, June 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Poland's new government, the ministers of which were announced today, is known as an official expert cabinet and is headed by Ladislas Grabski, former minister of finance and a member of one of Poland's best known and wealthiest families. Announcement is made that the cabinet is non political in character and will be directed by resolutions accepted by the diet.

General Joseph Lesniowski, continues as minister of war and five other members of various departments relating to interior affairs continue as chiefs. The socialists, who for months have insisted upon peace and upon being recognized in a new government, have already announced their lack of confidence in the new cabinet, while the national workmen's party is also opposing the ministry. The cabinet crisis lasted 15 days, several leaders, including former Premier

Peterson's Ointment Best for Eczema

Each Changing Distress in Five Minutes
"Live and let live is my motto," says Peterson of Buffalo. "Druggists all over America sell PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents a large box and I say to these druggists, if anyone buys my ointment for any of the diseases or ailments for which I recommend it and are not benefited, give them their money back."

I've got a safe full of thankful letters testifying to the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment for old and running sores, eczema, salt rheum, ulcers, sore nipples, broken breast, itching scalp, chafing, and blood, itching and bleeding piles.
John Scott, 263 Virginia street, Buffalo, writes, "Peterson's Ointment is simply wonderful. It cured me of eczema and also piles, and it did it so quickly that I was astonished." Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Court Rules Boy "Not Toughest Kid in Hell's Kitchen"

NEW YORK, June 25.—A supreme court jury decided yesterday that William McCue was not "the toughest kid in Hell's Kitchen," and awarded him $3500 damages against the Russell Sage foundation and publishers of a book entitled "Boyhood and Lawlessness," in which his picture appeared over this caption.

In asking $30,000 damages, the boy's complaint set forth that in 1914 a photographer appeared in the Hell's Kitchen district where he lived and took his picture on the ground that he wanted "Boy Scout pictures."

McCue, who is now of age, said he was an altarboy in St. Ambrose's church at the time and has never been arrested or charged with delinquency in any form.

DISTINGUISHED JURISTS

Elihu Root Among 12 Noted Men to Plan Court of International Justice

THE HAGUE, June 25.—The twelve distinguished international jurists, among them Elihu Root, of the United States, invited by the executive council of the League of Nations to plan the organization of the new permanent court of international justice, constitute an impressive array of the world's most competent authorities on questions of international legislation. Those who accepted the invitation gathered here in mid June to undertake the task. Those invited were:

Baron Descamps, Belgian minister of state, professor of international law at Louvain university; member of the permanent court of arbitration of the Hague; and secretary-general, formerly president, of the Institute of international law and writer on international questions.

M. Drago, formerly foreign minister of the Argentine republic. While holding that office he sent to the Argentine minister in Washington instructions known as the Drago doctrine (1902). He was formerly judge in the North Atlantic Fisheries Arbitration, The Hague (1910); one of the Argentine delegates to the second peace conference at The Hague and member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague.

Professor Fadda, professor of Roman law at Naples university.

M. Fromageot, legal adviser to the French foreign minister; member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague, and delegate to the second Hague peace conference.

M. Gram, formerly a judge on the mixed tribunals in Egypt; former member of the supreme court of Norway; minister of state at Stockholm before the severance of the union between Norway and Sweden; member of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague and member of the Institute of International Law.

Doctor Loder, member of the Cour de Cassation of the Netherlands.

Lord Phillimore, English privy councillor; a lord justice of appeal (1913-1916); president of the International Law Association (1905-1908); author of publications on ecclesiastical and international law and "Three Centuries of Treaties of Peace and Their Teaching" (1917); president of committee of inquiry appointed by the British government on the subject of the League of Nations.

Elihu Root, former secretary of state, United States; president of the American Society of International Law; member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague, senior counsel for the United States in the North Atlantic Fisheries Arbitration at The Hague (1910); member of the Alaskan boundary tribunal and head of special United States mission to Russia (1917).

M. Vesnitch, ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes at Paris.

Rafael Altamira, professor of law in Madrid university; senator.

MEXICO'S RAILWAY SYSTEM WRECKED

MEXICO CITY, June 25.—Twisted rails, decayed cross-ties and worn-out rolling stock—products of a decade of revolution—militate against the efficiency of Mexico's railroads. No greater problem of reconstruction faces the country than the rehabilitation of her railway lines.

The average speed of a Mexican passenger train is 30 miles an hour. From Juarez to Mexico, a distance of 1235 miles, one has to travel 45 hours, running time, exclusive of lengthy stops at Chihuahua City and Torreon. The shorter trip to Mexico City from Nuevo Laredo, opposite Laredo, Tex., requires ten hours less.

LOCAL ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION LAW

The Lowell police department is giving its full co-operation to federal officers in their enforcement of the prohibition law in this city, despite allegations to the contrary. Supt. Welch maintained today in a statement made to the press that the impression that the local department is not attempting to carry out the regulations of the Volstead act.

Supt. Welch says that there is no law compelling police departments of various cities and towns to enforce federal regulations, such is the duty of federal officers. Nevertheless, the members of the local department have given great assistance to the federal officers merely in a spirit of co-operation and courtesy.

"Our officers," said the superintendent, "have been very successful in their individual efforts and in company with the federal officers, but they have done so simply through courtesy."

The superintendent in this connection quotes the decision given recently by Attorney General Armstrong of Baltimore, Maryland.

"Since the recent decision of the supreme court the Volstead act is now effective and may be enforced in the several states, but the duty of the enforcement lies exclusively with the officials in the act itself and the police men and all other state officials are under no compulsion to render aid therein."

BUBONIC PLAGUE IN LA PAMPA JAIL

ELIOT UNION CHURCH SCHOOL PICNIC

About 200 people took part in the Eliot Union church school picnic at the residence of Herbert Horne at Corbett's pond in Windham yesterday. Two large trucks left the church at 9 o'clock in the morning and thoroughly enjoyed the ride to the pond. Swimming and boating were indulged in by the boys all day and in the afternoon a baseball game was played between the married and single men. At noon everyone sat down to a basket lunch and lemonade was served by a committee under the direction of Mrs. A. D. Morgan, Edwin Shaw, superintendent of the Sabbath school, was in general charge, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Olney, and Rev. William B. Tutbill, new pastor of the church, who found it his first opportunity to take part in an informal gathering of the members of his parish. The church was reached on the return trip about 7 o'clock in the evening.

of Austro-South Slav Plebiscite Region

KLAGENFURT, Austria, June 25.—Along the center of the beautiful valley in which this old capital of Carinthia lies, runs the demarcation line separating zone A and zone B of the Austro-South Slav plebiscite region. Its population of some 125,000 are still waiting to know to what government they shall belong, whether they are to be part of Austria or subjects of the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes.

The treaty of St. Germain provides that within three months of the final ratification of peace the ballot shall be held and it is believed here that the plebiscite will take place in August.

Meanwhile, Jugo-Slav troops, who moved north last May, hold the south side of the demarcation line between the two zones as tightly as a war-time frontier. They stand guard with rifle shot Klagenfurt and in only exceptional cases can the line be passed by the inhabitants of the valley.

Several persons have been killed by Serb guards. One was the naturalized American citizen, Ernest Jaklitsch, of Jackson, Kans., shot dead, the Austrians claim, without challenge while passing the frontier. The Jugo-Slav authorities say he was a notorious smuggler.

Fifteen-year-old Betty Fide, shot by a South Slav guard while crossing the little stream that indicates the frontier, was buried with great ceremony by the city of Klagenfurt.

Citizens of the villages and towns along the zone have petitioned the Vienna government to seek relief through the entente from the alleged oppression of the Jugo-Slav soldiery and authorities. The following is an extract from a letter addressed to the correspondent of The Associated Press, reciting the killings mentioned and certain other specific attacks on citizens:

"From the vicinity of Lavamund and Ruden are recently reported numerous cases of violation of girls and women by Serbian soldiers. The peaceful population of voting district A is constantly exposed to all kinds of vexations. Crimes of every description are committed daily and those who live near the frontier are risking their lives every hour."

It is difficult even by the personal investigation just concluded to establish the truth of the charges freely made by the Austrian authorities, but that the inhabitants of the zones are having a rough time of it is easily apparent. The Jugo-Slav occupation of the whole zone A on the south, with the tightly closed frontier works great hardship.

Passing east and west through the fertile basin of Klagenfurt, and bisecting laterally Lake Werther on whose eastern tip the city lies, it cuts farms in two, often separating farm houses from its fields, leaving others with their woodland on the other side, and as the Jugo-Slav authorities grant permits to pass only in certain cases, much hardship has resulted.

Farmers with stock on the other side have been compelled to kill or sacrifice, and in several instances the correspondent was shown piled firewood across the line, sometimes but a few hundred yards from the house, which the owner was not permitted to bring home.

No food can cross to the north. It is all diverted to Laibach and other Slav cities. Thus while milk from cows that pasture within sight of Klagenfurt goes to Laibach, the American relief is feeding the city's children with milk shipped from America. They have just been requested to try and feed an additional thousand.

The Jugo-Slav authorities in this region deny that permits are refused to land owners or others who have legitimate business to cross the line. They admit the complete embargo on food, but claim they exclude only political agitators and propagandists. They meet the Austrian charges with counter-charges of the same character and point to the fact that through the intervention of the entente mission here, composed of British, French and Italians, all but about 1200 of the refugees who fled north when the Jugo-Slav troops moved in have been permitted to return to their homes. Also they allege that among them are hundreds of agitators and electioneers well supplied with money, who are abusing their privilege in proselyting the population against the impending vote. Then, too, they charge that the Austrian officials refuse passage to persons of Slav sympathy. They do not, however, accuse the Austrian guards of killing.

Austrian figures place the population of zone A, the southern region, at 23,000 Germans and 50,000 Slovenes and zone B at 49,000 Germans and 5000 Slovenes. The Jugo-Slavs do not admit this, claiming that the Austrians list as German everyone who speaks the tongue, while the population is largely bilingual.

Neutral observers point out that if the southern zone votes Jugo-Slav, Klagenfurt will be forced to do likewise for economic reasons. Should it remain Austrian, with a political frontier drawn across the edge of the city, cutting it off from the agricultural and village population that means its life, it would perish.

One of the Jugo-Slav arguments, however, is that their boundary must be thrown north of the Karawanken mountains for military reasons. They say that this great natural fort dominating the regions to the south, must be the back line to their front in event of a war with German countries.

"HURRICANE-CHASERS" IN GULF OF MEXICO

chasers during the war will be inaugurated on the Gulf of Mexico, where "hurricane-chasers" small crafts of the sub-chaser type, will patrol during storm periods and transport by wireless to the weather bureau stations particulars of storms and hurricanes encountered, according to H. Scott, local observer, who recently returned from a conference at Washington with the chief of the weather bureau, C. M. Marvin.

Instead of fleeing from the storms, Mr. Scott said, the little vessels will risk destruction by either riding before them or hovering off the outskirts in order that they may obtain the fullest information to the land stations of the weather bureau.

At present, Mr. Scott declared, warnings of approaching storms are wireless landward to weather bureau stations by passing liners and freighters, but often these reports are incomplete because vessels sending them are making all haste to get away from the storm area.

With the chasers patrolling the gulf storm areas, he said, more accurate and full information of hurricanes headed northward will be available. The new service is expected to reduce losses of coastwise shipping and lowland property considerably, by giving warnings of approaching menaces from the sea.

BRIDAL SUPERSTITIONS IN FOLK-LORE

Many superstitions have been woven around the bride.

A bride should never mark her linen with the initials of her fiancé, folk-lore says, or she will never have occasion to use it.

Satin Gown Brings Luck

A young woman should never let her future husband see her in anything of her wedding trousseau until the day set for the ceremony, as it portends bad luck. Nor should she make her own wedding dress, if she desires good luck to attend her. It is said to be unlucky to begin making the wedding dress before the wedding day is set. A wedding dress of velvet signifies poverty, while one of satin brings good luck. If a wedding dress is held in the hand for five minutes and a wish made, it will come true.

Groom's Tie Significant

If the bridegroom's tie is askew, his heart is in another place and with another girl. A raveling on his suit shows that another woman clings to him with her heart.

Folk-lore says that if the first flower a bride sees on her wedding day is white she will lead a happy life, if red, she will know sorrows and care.

To Forget Bouquet

If the bride leaves her bouquet in the church and turns back to get it, it signifies an unhappy wedded life. To wear flowers in the hair without a veil will cause the bride to regret her wedding day.

To find a flower from the bride's bouquet signifies an early marriage. Whoever puts on a bridal veil or wreath for play, will never marry.

123rd BIRTHDAY

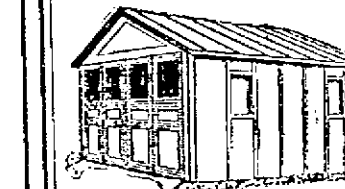

Cherokee Bill Veteran of War of 1812 Celebrates

Cherokee Bill is the only name he knows. In the early days of the country he fought with bow and arrow with the aborigines and even used that primitive weapon, he says, when he fought the British in 1812, enlisting in the army when he was 15 years old. He was born June 6, 1797, and was twice listed in the United States census as the oldest native of America.

The aged Indian recently made a cap for himself out of the down of cat-tails and wears this proudly when he hobbles along the streets occasionally with the aid of a cane he has owned since the Civil war. He is getting feeble, though he still has a good appetite.

REPORT STATES CHINESE AND KOREANS HAVE JOINED

ean, in considerable numbers have joined the Bolshevik forces at Nikolajevsk, against which Japanese troops now are operating, according to a Tokyo cable to the Nippon Jiji, Japanese language paper here. The despatch added that the Chinese and Koreans fought with the Bolsheviks against the Japanese in the two-day battle that raged there several weeks ago and that Chinese warships supplied the soviet forces with ammunition.

"MATS" AND SO. ENDS CLASH TOMORROW

Everything is in readiness for the clash between the South Ends and the Mats at Spalding park tomorrow afternoon and, judging by the interest which is being displayed by local fans, the attendance will be a record-breaker. Both teams have large followings, who are constantly arming the relative merits of their favorites, and this game is the culmination of the district. Last Saturday's victory over the Knights of Columbus, who have to their credit a win over the boys from the South common, has given the Mats an unbounded confidence, while the South End roots are convinced that the team which has so often justified their allegiance in the past is still worthy of their support.

Both teams have exceptionally strong lineups. The South Ends have always been remarkably strong in the field and while not a heavy hitting aggregation, they are always waiting for the psychological moment to bring disaster to the opposing pitcher. The Mats, on the other hand, are recognized as heavy hitters, and at the same time are well able to hold up their end on the defense. Both teams are well stocked with slab artists, with Devlin, Bridgeford and McCarthy on the South End roster and Wheeler, Hubert and Quinby in Mats uniforms. In the receiving department, the South Ends will choose between Liston and Freeman, while the Mats will rely on W. White.

The C.Y.M.L. will clash with the fast American Legion baseball team Saturday on the South common and a good game is expected. Green, who has been hitting good ball all season, will work for the Lyceum boys while Houston will do the receiving. All C.Y.M.L. players are asked to report on the South common at 2 o'clock. The C.Y.M.L. are without a game for Saturday, July 3, and any fast teams desiring spots can find Manager Dady at night at Liberty square between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock.

The Lawrence A.A. will play the Dixwells Saturday at 11:30 a.m. and the Glendies Sunday on the North common. The Lawrence A.A. would like to play the T.H. & T's. or Bellevue on July 3. Managers can be arranged by calling $766 any evening between 8 and 11.

Scouting Editor:

Will you kindly allow me a few lines in your valuable paper to answer the article in Wednesday's papers regarding the Mats-K. of C. and South Ends going to settle the question of the city championship. We decisively defeated the Mats, 8 to 3, Memorial day and also the T.H. & T's. a feat the K. of C. could not accomplish. The Bellevues were beaten by us, 3 to 1, and later we fell to their prowess in an overtime game. But has any other team in the city got a clean slate? We stand ready to play any of the three teams in a game or a series of games for $100 a side and the city championship thrown in. Thanking you for your space, I remain,

JAMES GANNON.

The Elson grammar school baseball team journeyed to Graniteville Wednesday and played a twilight game with the team of that town. It was one of the fastest games seen there in many a day. The Elsons won by a score of 4 to 2.

The first and second teams of Saunders' market in the Mercantile league clashed yesterday with the former getting a 12 to 8 verdict. Poudy and Downing were in the points for the winners and Joyce and Morvill performed for the second team. The Saunders team will play the Hobson & Lawlor nine on the South common next Thursday evening at 8:30. Manager Deslauriers of the Saunders' market aggregation would like to arrange a game with the Lowell police team for some Sunday afternoon.

The Gillespie Mfg. Co. nine will meet the Gas Light West Ends tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 on the Princeton street grounds. Williams and Bird will be the battery for the Gillespie outfit. Harry Moran will umpire.

VANITIE WINS

Score Now 7 to 4 in Favor of Resolute

NEWPORT, R. I., June 25.—The stoop Vanitie defeated the Resolute yesterday in their fifth race in the elimination series for the honor of defending the America's cup against the Shamrock IV, leading at the finish by 12 seconds, corrected time, and by one minute, 20 seconds, elapsed time.

The race was over a 20-mile windward and leeward course in a seven-knot south-southwest breeze. The first leg was to windward for 10 miles and the return was to leeward over the same distance. The Vanitie has now won four of the five races in the series.

The race was close from start to finish, although Vanitie, which got a windward berth and the advantage over the Resolute at the start, maintained her lead throughout. On the windward stretch, after two lengthy beats, one inshore and one offshore, Vanitie came about 40 minutes after the start and showed her superior position by crossing the Resolute's bow to windward. Both yachts at the time were on different tacks. In rounding the offshore mark Vanitie led Resolute by one minute, 20 seconds.

Both passed up straight spinnaker runs on the return and setting their balloons, tacked to leeward the whole distance to the finish. When within one mile of the finish line both jibed their mainsails and in tacking for the finish line, were practically on a reach with the wind over the quarters.

NEW BASEBALL RULE GOES INTO EFFECT

CHICAGO, June 25.—A change in the baseball rules governing balls hit out of the playing field, will go into effect today. It was announced last night by American league headquarters. The rule in question is covered by paragraph 45 of the rule book and at present provides that a ball shall be judged fair or foul according to where it passes over the boundary line of the usual playing field.

The new wording will be the same as in 1915, which says that when a "batted ball passes outside ground or into the stands the umpire shall judge it fair or foul according to where it disappears from the umpire's view." The latter interpretation of the rule would have robbed "Babe" Ruth of at least two home runs this year, baseball officials said, because there are two instances on record where he hit balls into the stands which landed in foul territory but were called fair because they passed over the fence fair and curved into foul ground.

Under the new ruling, if an umpire sees a ball land foul it must be called foul regardless of whether it passes over the boundary fence fair. The change applies to both major leagues.

SALMON CAUGHT IN MERRIMACK RIVER

A salmon weighing seven pounds was taken from the Merrimack river above Pawtucket falls about two weeks ago. The lucky fisherman was Leonard Cummings, son of E. N. Cummings of 125 Fifth avenue.

It was the first salmon to be taken above the falls since the olden days and inasmuch as it was taken at the mouth of a brook it is believed that the salmon came down from one of the nearby ponds that were stocked a few years ago. The writer has it from those who participated in the feast that the salmon made excellent eating.

There has been an occasional salmon taken at or near the foot of the falls within the last few years and it was also stated that a salmon was caught near Tyngs island some few weeks ago, but nothing authentic could be learned as to the latter report.

The fact remains, however, that young Cummings got a salmon in the Merrimack river and this is an interesting fact, especially for those who have stubbornly maintained that a salmon would not and could not live in the Merrimack river because of its pollution.

CIRRUS WINS AQUEDUCT RACE

NEW YORK, June 25.—At the Aqueduct race track yesterday Samuel C. Hildreth's four-year-old bay colt, Cirrus, by Tracery-Morningglade, won the 32nd running of the historic Brooklyn handicap. The distance, one and one-

eighth miles, was covered in 1:50, just three-fifths of a second slower than the record made by Barrow in this event three years ago. Boniface, owned by Commander J. K. L. Ross of Canada, was second and the winner's stable companion, Mad Hatter, finished third. The handicap had a value of $5850 to the winner, $1000 to Boniface and $500 to Mad Hatter.

LAST WARNING TO AUTO LAW BREAKERS

In order to acquaint drivers of motor vehicles with the glaring headlight law so that there will be no excuse for violations, Supt. Redmond Welch has given out the following, saying that violators in the future will not meet with recommendations for leniency made by him:

"Whenever there is not sufficient light within the limits of the highway, location to make all vehicles, persons or substantial objects clearly visible within said limits for a distance of at least 150 feet, two white lights which motor vehicles are required to display when in motion, must throw sufficient light ahead to show any person, vehicle or substantial object upon the roadway straight ahead of 150 feet. Any light throws directly ahead or sideways shall be so arranged that no dazzling rays from it or from any reflector shall be at any time more than three and one-half feet above the ground on a level road at a distance of 50 feet or more ahead of said vehicle, and said lights shall be sufficient to enable the operator of the motor car to see any person, vehicle or substantial object upon the roadway or side thereof for 10 feet on each side of said motor vehicle and 150 feet ahead of said motor vehicle. This regulation took effect on and after January 1 in the year 1916."

This law provides penalties from $5 to $20 but Judge Enright has issued a warning from the bench that the maximum would be imposed in the future.

TO EXTERMINATE RATS

Surgeon General Urges Campaigns—One Rat for Every Person in U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Calling attention to the discovery of bubonic plague in several American and Mexican Gulf ports and renewing his warning regarding the introduction of the plague from Mediterranean ports which are known to be infected, Surgeon General Cummings today urged communities throughout the country and especially along the coast to inaugurate rat extermination campaigns. According to estimates of the public health service there is at least one rat for every person in the United States. The annual upkeep per rodent is computed as $1.50 in Great Britain, $1.20 in Denmark, and $1 in France. The depredations of rats in the United States will very probably exceed the estimate for Great Britain. One-half a cent a day is considered conservative, but even on this computation it costs the United States $150,000,000 a year to support its rat population.

COLLEGE EXTENSION WORK EXPLAINED

Before the Knights of Columbus last night Mr. D. A. Dooley, field secretary of the College Extension department of the state department of education, gave a very illuminating talk on the opportunities for training along certain educational lines, afforded by the extension courses. He outlined the scope of the work, the plan under which it is conducted in different cities with the co-operation of the school authorities.

Where a group of 20 persons enrol for a certain course and find a suitable place for conducting the class, the department will send an instructor from Boston or find one locally to do the work. There are in all, over 100 courses and as Mr. Dooley described them, they offer splendid opportunities for young men who have any ambition to prepare for better positions than they now hold. This work does not duplicate any of the classes conducted in the evening schools, either grammar or high. Before September the department will make its appeal for the formation of classes and it wishes to interest as many young people as possible in the work.

Mr. Dooley felt that Lowell is a good field for the extension work, judging from the large number of young men who go to Boston to take up courses of the same character as given by the department. He instanced the great success of the course in accounting conducted at the Textile school last season, showing the eagerness of the young men for opportunities to study. There was little evidence of this disposition at the meeting last night if one were to judge by the size of the attendance.

IPSWICH MILLS CLOSE

Yesterday afternoon notices were posted in the plant of the Ipswich mills in Warren street announcing an immediate shut down for two or three weeks, the reason given being "business conditions." The storing facilities of the mills, it is understood, are sorely taxed with manufactured goods for which there is no immediate market. The plant employs between 700 and 800 hands.

HELD LAWN PARTY

With ideal weather prevailing the members of Team B in the recent drive for funds for the erection of a new rectory in St. Louis parish, conducted a lawn party on the grounds adjoining the church last evening. There was a large attendance and great enjoyment was provided for all present. Sales tables of all descriptions had been placed at various points on the grounds and during the evening a thriving business was conducted. Music was given by an orchestra and entertainment numbers were given under the direction of Alberic W. Branchaud, captain of the team. The affair was a success in every way.

ANNUAL LAWN PARTY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Rarely has the annual lawn party of St. Margaret's parish, in the 10 years in which such affairs have been held equaled in social and financial success last evening's party held at the Casino in Thorndike street. Practically the entire parish membership attended the affair and in addition there were hundreds from other sections of the city, eager for an opportunity to taste of the splendid entertainment features always characteristic of St. Margaret's affairs.

Rev. Charles J. Galligan, the pastor, and Rev. Stephen G. Murray were present to welcome visitors and their general supervision of the party added materially to its success. A midway entertainment, general dancing and a series of exceptionally beautiful and well executed folk dances by the children of the parish under the direction of Miss Catherine Whelan Cooney were features that proved delightfully enjoyable to the large number present. The Sunday school boys and girls reflected the expert training given them by Miss Cooney as well as their own natural ability.

ANNUAL MILITARY MASS

The O.M.I. Cadets completed plans at a meeting last evening for their annual military mass to be held Sunday at the Immaculate Conception church at 9 o'clock. From present indications this year's affair will be more impressive and elaborate than ever. The cadets will appear in three divisions, one wearing overseas, khaki, another naval uniforms and the third cadet full dress. A special musical program will be carried out and the altar will be beautifully decorated. Members and former members of the organization who served in the world war will be guests of honor at a breakfast to be held immediately after the mass in the cadet armory.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 25.—The usual regular price changes were recorded by leading issues at the outset of today's stock market session. Gains outnumbered losses, however, short covering being again indicated by more substantial gains of gold imports, Crucible Steel and Mexican Petroleum, and advances of a point with fractional gains for several foods, chemical and motor specialties. Hides and leather of last one point, and Trans-Continental, Pullman, Royal Dutch and Middle States Oil reacted sharply.

Prices steadied before the noon hour, although a new record for extreme bullishness was established during the morning. Barely seventy thousand shares changed hands in the first hour. The only stock to show marked heavy selling was Trans-Continental, which continued to decline, low prices continued to be sold on yesterday's dividend reduction. Indications of another money string were seen in the $ per cent bond rate for call loans. Call money's rise to 11 per cent at midday occasioned little surprise and had no effect except among speculators which continued to decline. Low prices, especially St. Paul, of Missouri Pacific, Western Pacific, Rock Island and Illinois Central, and St. Louis developed moderate activity at rates of 1 to 1 1/2 points.

Shorts were driven to cover again in the last hour when the rate for call loans fell back to 9 per cent. Steels, equipments and shipyards were foremost in the rally. The closing was firm.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

NORWOOD, June 25.—The engine and baggage car of a New York bound express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad overturned near here today when the train left the rails. Early reports were that no one was seriously injured and that the passenger cars were not overturned.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Dun's weekly compilation of bank clearings shows an aggregate of $7,941,503,109, an increase of 11.7 per cent over last year.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 25.—County Attorney Carroll L. Beedy of Portland won the republican nomination for representative to congress over Mayor Charles

B. Clark of that city by 30 votes at Monday's primaries, according to unofficial returns from town and city clerks which had been received at the state department today.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war, has resigned, effective July 1. He plans to enter private business.

PROVIDENCE, June 25.—City Solicitor Elmore S. Chase will appear in court in behalf of tenants in this city who have been imposed upon by landlords in the matter of unfair rentals, according to an announcement by Mayor Joseph H. Gairnor this morning. He will do so at the instigation of the Providence fair price commission and Mayor Gairnor.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25.—Loss of seniority rights will be the penalty for those striking employees of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, who do not register for their old places by tomorrow, according to a notice given by divisional superintendents this afternoon.

PARIS, June 25.—The council of ambassadors today approved a communication to the governments of Poland and Czechoslovakia purporting to substitute arbitration for the plebiscite in settlement of the Teschen question.

HAVERHILL, June 25.—The Shoe Workers' Protective union failed today to make a formal reply to the manufacturers' proposal for a new working schedule effective July 11, although the manufacturers requested an answer on this date.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Damages asked by owners of motor vehicles in collision with government mail trucks cannot be paid because of absence of any funds for reimbursement, James S. Blakesley, fourth assistant postmaster-general, declared today in a letter to H. B. Leary, Jr., of this city, following a claim by the latter for damages.

Only an appropriation by a special act of congress could meet the situation, the assistant postmaster general said.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25.—John Rowe, chairman of the Brotherhood of Trainmen here, notified General Manager Harbo of the New Haven road this afternoon that he had been informed that at a meeting of the striking trainmen held during the forenoon it had been voted to return to work.

WARSAW, June 24.—Sharp artillery activity along the rivers Ina and Bresina is reported in the Polish commune today, which says the severe losses of the Bolshevik south of the Pripiet forced them to discontinue their attacks yesterday. The statement reports that fierce attacks made by the soviet forces on Zwiap were repelled with severe losses to the attacking

"Right! Let Her Come!"

It gives real satisfaction to park a car smoothly, without having the engine stall as you creep forward and back, fitting her into narrow quarters.

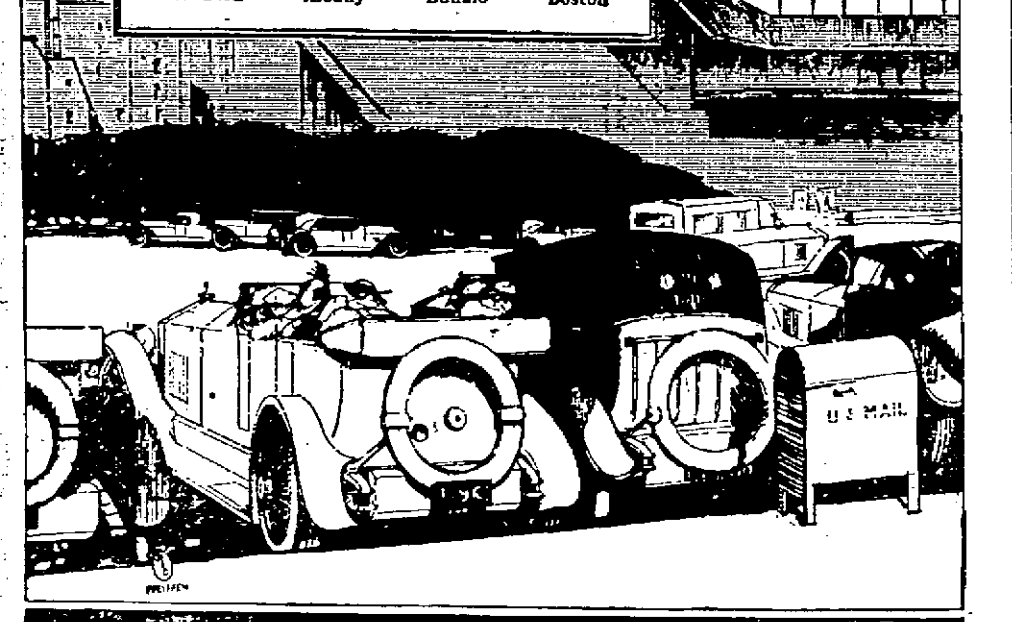

Polarine makes this easy. It assures both power and control. This standard oil for all motors locks the explosive force of the fuel in the cylinders till it has done its work. This enables you to maneuver with ease and accuracy.

gives you a responsive, spry, powerful motor that runs quietly and with little vibration. Using Polarine you'll have fewer fouled spark plugs or other carbon troubles. For transmissions and differentials use Polarine Gear Oil.

QUEBEC WOMAN VISITS HER MOTHER

Mrs. Henri Bellisle, a former resident of this city and now of Amos, Quebec, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Ferdinand Frechette, 128 Danell street, and other local relatives. Mrs. Bellisle had not been in Lowell for 17 years and was amazed at the many changes that have taken place in this city during that time.

For several years Mrs. Bellisle, her husband and her nine children made their home at St. Marc de Carriere, a small town near Quebec, but about three years ago they removed to Fisherville, in the province of Quebec, about 50 miles from the Ontario line. Now they are living at Amos, about 17 miles north of their former home.

Speaking about Fisherville, Mrs. Bellisle said it is a very quiet place, for there is only one house there; the one occupied by them for over a year. This house also serves as a railroad station as there are two trains a day in that locality. "Our nearest neighbor," she said, "was six miles on one side, while on the other side we had to travel 11 miles before reaching a house. In front of our place was a forest 50 miles long."

Mrs. Bellisle said during the time they lived in Fisherville they never bought a pound of meat, for the railroad men supplied them with moose meat. She said every week the train would kill two or three moose, which were very numerous in that district and the carcasses of the animals were always left at the railroad station. "While there," she said, "we kept a cow and hens and we cultivated a big tract of land. My husband was employed as a section hand on the railroad and I and the children looked after the railroad station, and that was about all we had to do was to look after it, for we did not sell two tickets a week. Once a month a priest came to our house and celebrated mass in the parlor, and on this occasion our six and eleven miles neighbors gathered at our home."

"We enjoyed life at Fisherville, but we had to make a change in order to give the children an opportunity to go to school, so we went to Amos, a village with a population of several hundred families, where there was a good school and a church."

When asked if she would like to come back to live in Lowell, Mrs. Bellisle replied in the negative, saying life in the city is too expensive and she feels sure that her nine children could not get in Lowell all the comfort they are getting in the Canadian town.

The arrival of the big wagon at the circus grounds to get wagons, horses and animals ready for the parade. A number of conferences were held by the circus officials and it was finally decided that it would be necessary to have the parade with one of its most interesting features—the caged animals—left out.

It was about 1:45 o'clock when the head of the parade started.

A performance was given this afternoon and this thousand-sided miracle of the amusement world entertained an audience limited only by the capacity of the tent. The performance in its entirety will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock. Three rings, five stages and the track are in constant action. The tent is 150 feet long and pulsates with performers, human and animal. It is the crowd-pleasing day, for one must indeed be Argus-eyed to enjoy all of the good things provided by the circus men of this year.

DEATHS

CAHILL—John J. Cahill, a resident of Lowell for over 60 years, died last evening at his home, 47 Bellevue street. Mr. Cahill was a brother of the late Sarah Cahill, who conducted a millinery business in this city for many years. Upon her death the business was taken over by Mr. Cahill and his wife, Mary (Short) Cahill, who had been associated with the late Miss Cahill. Deceased was well known in musical circles and was organist at the old St. Peter's and St. Michael's churches for some time. He was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Peter's church. He leaves two sisters-in-law, Miss Catherine T. Short and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Enwright.

LAROSE—William, aged 11 months and 29 days, infant son of William and Delma Larose, died last night at the home of his parents, 53 Austin street. Burial took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon in St. Joseph's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers Amodeo Archambault & Sons.

GILLEN—Bridget GilLEN, an esteemed member of St. Patrick's parish, died Thursday night at St. John's hospital. She leaves a son, Mrs. Margaret GilLEN. The body was taken to the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

MALONE—John J. Malone, an esteemed resident of North Chelmsford and a devout attendant of St. John's church, died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John H. Harrington, Princeton street, North Chelmsford. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. William E. Harrington and Mrs. William Mayhew; the latter of Lowell; one son, John J. Malone of this city, a brother, Patrick, in Ireland; two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Curley of Ireland and Miss Mary A. Malone of Lowell, and one brother, Peter Malone, of this city.

FUNERALS

RAPONE—The funeral of Mary Rapone took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, Mauro and Serafin Rapone, 48 Auburn street, at St. Anthony's church. Services were held, the prayers being read by Rev. Fr. Perry. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

HARDING—The funeral of Mary E. Harding took place this morning from her late home, 260 Western street, at 9:15 o'clock and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. John J. McElroy, D.D., the sanctuary choir under the direction of Mr. John Kelly sang the Gregorian mass. Mr. Kelly presiding at the organ. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets. The bearers were Frederick W. Abate, James McManus, John McManus and John Brock. The funeral cortege proceeded by automobile to St. Patrick's church, where interment will take place in Holy Cross cemetery. Undertaker Peter H. Savas was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

BECHARD—The funeral of Remi Bechard took place this morning from his home, 8 Read street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Louis church at 9 o'clock by Rev. J. L. J. Bossiere. The choir under the direction of Mr. J. David rendered the Gregorian chant. Miss Ida Mougain presiding at the organ. The bearers were William Bechard, Aurel Nadeau, Hermonide Blain, Edgar Laplante, William Emmond and Eustache Pelletier. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Larceny of a live valued at $13.72, the property of Joseph McGarrigle, and attempt at larceny of a live valued at $20 from the Fisk Rubber company, were the charges against Bernice Jones, who was arraigned in police court today. She was found guilty. On the direct larceny charge she was fined $20. The other complaint was placed on file.

Other Offenders

Maurice Belkin pleaded guilty to setting up a lottery and was fined $25. Belkin was arrested for visiting homes with the well known punch board which awarded fine prizes to the lucky persons. One of his schemes was to secure the aid of little girls to go to some of the houses. The occasion of his visit to Officer Murphy's house was the cause of his arrest.

John J. McLaughlin pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was ordered to pay a fine of $10 within one month.

George Johnson, who was found guilty of the larceny of a watch and chain from Arthur O'Keefe on Wednesday and ordered to the house of correction for three months from which sentence he appealed with reduced his appeal today. Judge Bright reduced the sentence to one month.

Turnhout, Belgium, has a school for lacemaking which is attended by 1500 children.

LABOR PARTY DECLINES ESTIMATES POPULATION OF U. S. AT 105,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The population of Continental United States is estimated at 105,000,000 by J. A. Hill, chief statistician of the census bureau. His calculation is based on the combined populations of 1406 cities and towns for which statistics have been announced.

The increase over 1910 is placed at about 13,000,000, showing that the growth of the country has not kept pace with that in the previous decade. Almost complete cessation of immigration during the war is the chief reason assigned for the falling off in growth. Other suggestions were the two influenza epidemics, return of aliens to their native lands, and deaths of soldiers abroad and at home during the war.

The aggregate population of the cities and towns on which the estimate was made is 41,000,354. This is an average gain of 25 per cent. compared with 35 per cent. in the previous decades.

BOARD OF SINKING FUND COMMISSIONERS

The board of sinking fund commissioners of this city including A. K. Chadwick, Frank P. McGilley and Chas. L. Knapp, in company with Mayor Perry D. Thompson will confer with Theodore N. Waddell, state director of accounts, at the latter's office in the state house next Tuesday afternoon to ascertain what steps the city can take to avoid appropriating some $75,000 or more to make up losses in the value of its sinking fund securities due to the low money market of the past year or so.

Early in the present year the city was confronted with the necessity of meeting such a deficit and at the suggestion of the sinking fund commissioners, the sum of $75,000 was included in the regular tax levy. It was hoped at that time that the money market would improve before it came time for the city to liquidate its sinking fund holdings, but instead of getting better, the situation has become worse.

Now, instead of needing $75,000 to meet its indebtedness caused by a depreciation in its sinking fund holdings, the city will need much more than that amount. The mayor is adverse to spending any money for this purpose, if some financial stratagem can be conceived whereby the city can pledge its notes for whatever amount is needed by the sinking fund commissioners and make good the deficit when the sinking fund securities regain their value.

City Solicitor William D. Regan is of the opinion that a recently created board of state finance officials has the power to determine whether a city may issue its notes and bonds for such an emergency in the nature of a loan within the debt limit and to be paid within a year. This phase of the situation will be brought to Mr. Waddell's attention Tuesday, and it is hoped that a satisfactory adjustment of the situation will be realized.
